EDITORIAL

PROMINENTS AND BUNK

It is reported that Babe Ruth draws down $25,000 a year from his newspaper contracts calling for daily comment on the great game, while the bright reporter who writes the "comment" gets $75.00 a week. It is a form of camouflage very prevalent in this country. Henry Ford enjoys very lucrative retainers from several magazines for his outgivings, which, it is stated, are written and digested by a scholarly writer on Mr. Ford's payroll. The world is eager to pay its money for reputation and prestige and appears to enjoy being "bunked."

METEORS TO COME

Dr. Oliver, of the University of Pennsylvania, says there will be aerial fireworks from now to the close of the year, the meteor swarms which come every thirty-three years being now due. For centuries they have furnished a shower like rain. They kissed the earth in 1899, but astronomers believe the earth is near enough to lodges of the swarm of shooting stars to make them plainly visible this time. They also believe that we may witness some time during the month of November a shower of meteors that will almost turn night into day.

BAIL JUMPERS

Newton D. Baker, member of the president's law enforcement commission and president of the Cleveland Association for Criminal Justice, suggested to the latter group the other day the wisdom of making bail bond jumping a felony.
Forfeiting bail bond has come to be a favorite sport of many individuals waiting trial. As in the case of perjury on the witness stand, however, nothing much seems to be done about it. Prosecutors and judges seem to be helpless to remedy the situation.
Court procedure would be greatly improved and justice more nearly attained if these two faults could be remedied.

HE BET HIS LIFE

He was old. They found him dead in New York City.
The body was thin and wasted. There was no sign of disease. It looked more like starvation.
Then these facts came out: He had $7000. It was deposited in several banks to make sure that all of it would not be lost in case of a bank failure. He held certificates of deposit on which he received 4 per cent interest.
He had apparently tried to live on the interest. It was only $280 a year—$28.33 a month. Refusing to use any of his principal, he tried to do the impossible—and slowly starved to death.

It was a poor money-mad soul. We all get to thinking-money first, the man after. We become idolaters, with gold as our idol.

We all forget that the biggest thing on earth is a human being. We bet our lives against money. The old man did—and lost.

GOODWILL

We cannot have International good will until we have national good will. We can not have national good will until we have community good will and we can not have community good will until we have business good will.
There is an item of good will in each transaction between employer and employee, between buyer and seller and between competitors, wether we realize it or not. There may be, by the same token, the item of illwill. Illwill is not constructive and pays no dividends. Good will does.
How many of us, realizing the homeliness of this argument, strive in our every business transaction to put in our measure of good will?
Now read the heading of this editorial again and reason out with yourself what "Peace on Earth" would mean to us business men, in the light of this argument.

Don't abandon the thought as idealistic or impractical. It is logical and the heading is a divine axiom.

IS IT RIGHT AND FAIR?

The 1929 hunting season is on in earnest and the hunters have been fairly successful to date. Some game that earlier seemed plentiful, is reported scarce, while others is about as abundant as other years.
The writer, who has spent some time afield, finds rabbits, quail and ringnecks rather plentiful, while

ERISMAN'S CHURCH

Earl Witmer purchased a new Farm All tractor.
Christ Brubaker purchased a new car. It's a De Soto.
The corn in our vicinity is all harvested, a very good crop is reported.
Daniel Metzler recently visited John Keady now some ninety years old at Palmyra.
Monroe Metzler has been repairing his property at Manheim which he purchased recently.
Gunnors are busy hunting for game. Allie bagged a pheasant and a blind rabbit this week.
Mr. and Mrs. John Eby have returned from their wedding trip to Canada and Niagara Falls.
Amos Wolf is building a bay window to the east wing of his bungalow at Breezy Hollow.
The supervisors are building a hard road on the Colebrook road from D. Eshlemans to Norman Rohrer's.

Mary Rohrer, a Junior at Penn State College spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rohrer.
Mr. and Mrs. Elias Metzler entertained Mr. and Mrs. Elam Brubaker and family; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shearer and family, of near town, Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Erb and daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erb and family and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Erb visited Elam Peifers near Petersburg on Sunday.
H. B. Erb accompanied D. B. Erb, David Eby, Simon Hertzler to Perry County on Friday for wild turkey. The only thrill they experienced was seeing a large gobbler soaring away from five turkey fever hunters.

Esther and Ruth Rohrer entertained at dinner on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rohrer, Paris Rohrer and Miss Martin, all from Lancaster; Amos Metzler and Irvin Moore; New Holland and Ralph Cassel, of Manheim.
The twenty Junior members of the Lancaster Co. corn growers association, of our vicinity have their corn weighed and are now making notes of the crop ready to report to headquarters, The Lancaster Chamber of Commerce, who will entertain the members at a banquet in the near future.

Rev. and Mrs. Isaac Brubaker gave a dinner in honor of their grand daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, on Sunday.
Those enjoying the repast were: Mr. and Mrs. Amos Snyder and family; Mr. Christ Snyder and son; Mrs. Henry Snyder and Rev. and Mrs. Martin Metzler and daughter, Rachel.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Nissley entertained at dinner on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ebersole and family, Mr. and Mrs. Phares Brandt and daughter, Verna; John Hounstern, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Rohrer and daughter, Catherine; Mr. and Mrs. David Nissley, Sr., and your scribe Mr. and Mrs. John Metzler and daughters, Helen and Ethel.

ROWENNA

Mrs. E. C. Hendrickson, of Rowenna, entertained at a Halloween 500 party. High scores were held by Mrs. Jno. Parker, Mrs. Grace Koser and Mrs. Jos. Young, of Harrisburg. Other guests were: Mrs. Lloyd E. Buley, Steelton; Miss Marie Arnold, Hainlyn; Mrs. Lloyd Collier and Mrs. Walter Hershey, of Harrisburg.

Intelligent Locusts

The locusts are the only living being that "have made the world safe for democracy." They are the only one who have actually learned the secret of co-operation. They have absolutely no overhead charges. They do not have to support a king, nor pay a horde of professional politicians and government officials to manage them, while they themselves do the work.
By some masterly system of "get-together" they perfect an excellent organization without leadership, and without internal dissension. That is more than any collection of human beings has ever been able to accomplish.

It's true that men wear more clothing than women and when we see the average man in a bathing suit we are glad it's true.

In order that a public sale, festival, supper, musical or any like event be a success, it must be thoroughly advertised. Try the Bulletin.

squirrel, which earlier were quite plentiful, have left for parts unknown in search of feed.
This fall we have heard more complaints concerning irregularities than ever. Particularly is this true of squirrel. At this season of the year, feed is scarce and at many places squirrel feed in farmer's corn fields, destroying a portion of the crop.
Farmers, whose fields have been visited, complained to the State Game Commission about the damage incurred and the commission in turn, gave these farmers permission to shoot three squirrel a day. Early in October the farmers began shooting squirrel. The writer spoke to men who shot from forty to sixty to date.

Now a man who owns land can shoot deer and squirrel out of season without a hunting license but the fellow who pays for a hunting license and who is responsible for the game we have at present, may only shoot this game during the open season.
Again we ask the question: "Is that right and fair?"

Left-Handed Children Born With That Trait

From families in which one or both of the parents are left-handed we get a percentage of 17.34 per cent of the children left-handed, while in families in which neither of the parents are left-handed only 2.1 per cent of the children are left-handed. If left-handedness is not inherited we would not find more than 5 per cent of the children left-handed in any of these families, regardless of the handedness of their parents.
It is very evident that there is some sex influence manifested in the inheritance of left-handedness as shown by the larger number of left-handed boys in this population. It is also apparently transmitted differently where the father is left-handed, as note the small number of left-handed girls in these families. There can be no doubt that the trait is inherited.
Siemens presents 21 cases of apparent identical twins in which one was left-handed and the other right-handed, and cites this as evidence that left-handedness is not an hereditary factor. The probable explanation of this is mirror imaging, so often found in identical twins, or it may possibly be the prenatal position of the right-handed twin, which would prevent it from developing into a left-handed one.—Journal of Heredity.

Baked Ham Supper

The Fideles Class and Ladies of the Methodist Church, will hold a baked ham supper in the basement of the church on Friday evening, November 15th from five to nine o'clock P. M. Auspices for the debt of the church.

Feed Fewer Cows More

If feed is scarce, it is better to sell a few cows than to short-feed the entire herd. More milk, and not less, will result and the profits on the remaining cows will be increased.

99,021 AUTOISTS FAIL TO RECEIVE TAG APPLICATIONS

The carelessness of motor vehicle owners, to which can be attributed the failure of many of them to receive renewal applications for registration, is evidenced by the fact that the post-office authorities since 1930 applications were mailed the last week in September has returned to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles fifty-three sacks of undelivered mail. In other words, 99,021 owners of cars out of a total of 1,820,363 did not receive their applications for next year's tags, and have only themselves to blame for that fact, because they neglected notifying the authorities of a change of address. The United States Post office classifies the return mail as follows: "Individuals unknown to post offices, 58,711; address given by post offices, but on account of applications going out third class, can not be forwarded by post offices, 34,702; moved out of state, 4938; deceased, 573; out of business, 93; junked, 4."

"I suggest to these 99,021 individuals that if they wish to drive their cars January 1, it will be well for them to tell the Bureau of Motor Vehicles where they are now getting their mail. The bureau employs no clairvoyants," said Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon to-day.

Study Courses At Home

Using the long winter evenings to learn more about agriculture and homemaking is a profitable practice. The Pennsylvania State College has free correspondence courses on 41 different subjects. Write to the director of correspondence courses in agriculture and home economics at State College for a free catalog.

From The Man Who Pays

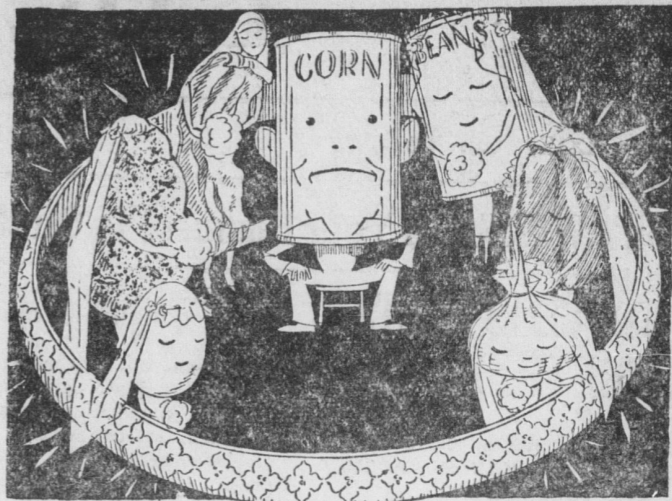

A gentleman who owns property, maintains a steady payroll and pays heavy taxes was asked his opinion on a proposed "special" tax measure. Replying, he said: "My opinion will be considered prejudiced because I am not a guest at the county poor farm. Nevertheless, I am an investor and maintain a payroll which helps keep many families in my state. I still have the right to express myself as the power of speech has not yet been legislated or taxed away. Double taxation and all forms of special taxation get farther and farther away from the basic principle of equal taxation and tend to undermine democracy and the constitutional rights of our citizens.
"Most tax bills today are framed on the theory of expediency; that is, from whom can the most be taken in losing votes, and the likelihood of losing votes, and to camouflage as far as possible the continual increase in per capita tax bills required to cover the cost of new and 'progressive' or 'socialistic' legislation which is constantly forced on the people. Economy with the 'other fellow's money' (the taxpayer) is something that the average legislator and lawmaker is not in favor of. It is promised before elections but consummation of the promise is seldom seen."

Cut Poor Trees First

In cutting the annual supply of firewood, the poor trees in the woodlot should be taken first, foresters at State College recommend. Thinning out the undesirable trees will allow room for the good specimens to develop into more valuable timber.

Much-Mated Corn

If corn were human we would call him a polygamist, for he has a longing for the companionship of many and varied associates. Corn and beans make the world-renowned succotash. Canned corn sautéed in bacon fat and mixed with the chopped, fried bacon makes a delectable dish. Canned corn with sautéed green peppers and onions is another popular way to serve it. And there is no end to the soups in which corn figures.

New Soul-Mates

But not satisfied with his present mates, corn has recently added still others. Some of these combinations are:

Breakfast Corn: Chop two large cold boiled potatoes fine and sauté until brown in two tablespoons of bacon fat. Add one cup of canned corn and brown again. Season well. Break two eggs into the mixture and scramble lightly together. Serve with broiled bacon.

Corn and Corrot Pudding: Mix the contents of an eight-ounce can of corn, an eight-ounce can of diced carrots, two tablespoons of chopped green pepper, and one cup of white sauce. Add two eggs, and pour into a buttered casserole. Bake in a moderate oven, 350° F., until set or a knife comes out clean. It will take about forty-five minutes.

Baked potatoes may be cut in half and the centers scooped out and mashed. Mix with half as much canned corn, season highly, and pile back in the potato shells. Put a dab of butter on the top and brown in the oven.
