Prevent Milk Souring
Bacteria cause milk to sour. They can be controlled by thoroughly sterilizing milk utensils, removing loose dirt from the cow's udder with a clean, damp cloth before milking, and cooling the milk as quickly as possible to 50 degrees Fahrenheit or less.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

WEEKLY LETTER WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE BULLETIN BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER

GINGIVITIS: This is one of the chief affections of the gums, especially of children. The importance of prompt treatment, either in children or adults, is not properly recognized by the medical profession, and not held of sufficient importance by dentists.

Gingivitis is an acute inflammation of the gums, a sponginess with a tendency to bleed. It is quite common in those cases of neglected teeth that so frequently come to the doctor for medicine. It is also frequently found in those suffering from a weakened or rundown condition or feeble health. Sometimes it is to be found in nursing mothers, especially those who are not strong and vigorous, and upon whom is the strain of increased labor in the care of the infant, and the drawing from her body the nourishment for its life. To neglect gingivitis will probably result later on in pyorrhea: neglected pyorrhea means not only the loss of the teeth, but a possible crippling of the entire body. Pyorrhea is the principal source or cause from which comes the cripples that are twisted into all sorts of shapes, enlarged knuckles, twisted fingers and other joints or disease of the heart called endocarditis.

There are so few that realize the fact that the mouth is the one place above all others that should be kept clean and free from disease or irritation of any kind. Every particle of your body, from the topmost hairs upon your head to the very point of your toe nails, has passed into you through the three little openings in your face, that you call your mouth and nostrils. All of your food and drink must pass through your mouth while the breath of life should pass in only through your nose.

Now, how can you expect clean, wholesome food to stay clean and wholesome if it is ground up by a lot of decayed, broken and dirty teeth, especially when you can easily squeeze pus from the gums, and then you stop to think that with every bite of food you are mixing a little pus? Now, that sounds very disgusting, doesn't it? Some of you, no doubt, will scold me for stating the facts in such plain, blunt language, but I assure you that it is the only way that I can penetrate the do-nothing to help themselves, and when the suffering gets unbearable they run to the doctor for drugs and then complain most bitterly because they are not instantly cured. I have so often told you that it is practically useless to take drugs for such conditions, unless you remove the cause.

Relief from Gingivitis can quickly be secured by securing from your local druggist, one ounce each of tincture of arnica, tincture of myrrh and witch hazel extract. Mix these together in a 4-oz. bottle and if it is unpleasantly strong, fill the bottle with water. Use this as a mouth and tooth wash at least three times daily, and use your tooth brush freely after every meal and before retiring. The effect of the mouth wash will be to harden the gums and heal them, but that is not sufficient.

Go to a dentist that realizes the importance of preventive dentistry, and have the teeth properly treated, cleaned and repaired. Then you can confidently expect a cure. I will be glad to answer all inquiries for information on health subjects from readers of this publication if same are addressed to Dr. David H. Reeder, 31st & Main St., Kansas City, Mo. giving full name and address and at least six cents in postage.

Larger Return From Wheat Likely
Though this season's wheat crop is considerably smaller than that of 1928, it may return the growers a larger income. Wheat prices have been substantially higher so far this season than they were during the corresponding period of the 1928-29 season. A reduction in our wheat output is offset by an increase in the carryover from the previous season. Stocks on July 1 totaled 245,000,000 bushels compared with 128,000,000 bushels on the same date in 1928. Income from wheat depends, however, on the world wheat situation as well as on the situation in the United States. The world's production of wheat outside Russia and China in 1929, according to the reports now available, is about 3,400,000,000 bushels, or 500,000,000 less than the record crop of 1928. As the carryover was larger than that of the previous crop year, the total world supply for 1929-30 is only about 360,000,000 bushels less than the supply available in 1928-29. Nevertheless, the indicated reduction has raised the world price level.
