APPROVES SITES FOR 31 SCHOOLS

The movement for abandonment of one room schools and the transportation of the pupils to modern buildings with wider courses of study continues to grow steadily, officials of the Department of Public Instruction said today. At the February meeting of the State Council of Education, thirty-one additional consolidated schools were approved. Only one of these is in Lancaster county, that being at Reinhold's school, in West Cocalico township.

Breaking Rock by Powder

The bureau of mines says that the amount of powder necessary to break one yard of rock ranges from 2-10 pounds per ton to three to four pounds per ton, depending upon the kind of rock, its hardness and toughness; the number of free faces exposed, and the tightness of the opening from which it is to be blasted. A smaller amount is necessary in proportion for large quantities of rock. The percentage of powder would depend also upon the rock. On some rocks a better breakage is obtained on lower percentages, as some rocks require a slow-acting explosion. From 40 to 60 per cent powder is used for ordinary blasting.

MCCORMICK REAPER CENTENNIAL WILL BE CELEBRATED THURSDAY

The centennial of the invention of the reaper by Cyrus Hall McCormick is being celebrated Thursday, February 26, at J. B. Hostetter and Son, dealers in McCormick-Dwight farm equipment. A replica of the original reaper is on display, and open house is being kept all day. This celebration is in connection with a world-wide commemoration of the reaper invention that is now going on throughout the world. "Romance of the Reaper," a five-reel feature movie, taken on the old McCormick farm in Virginia, will be shown free of charge to local people in the Hostetter show room at 7 o'clock.

The reaper ushered in the most important era in the advancement of mankind. McCormick's invention showed the farming world how to displace monotonous hand labor with machine power. Following in the train of the reaper came seeding machines, harrows, cultivators, and all the farm labor-saving equipment we have today. Before 1931 nine out of ten people in the United States lived on farms. Now the ratio is less than three out of ten. Before 1831 the most grain a man could hope to cut in a day with a cradle, the most efficient harvesting equipment known, was about two acres. It then had to be raked, bound, hauled and threshed. Today the harvester-thresher, the direct descendant of the McCormick reaper, does the whole job in one trip over the field at the rate of 35 to 60 acres a day, two men doing with this machine in one day what would have required 140 to 200 men working by hand.

Agriculture was almost static until the reaper appeared, and the development of industry likewise was static. Little fundamental progress was made until men's minds were relieved from the monotony and the necessity of arduous farm toil. More things have happened, greater progress has been made, in the past 100 years than in all the previous 1831 years. And the courage of a young man who in 1831 clung tenaciously to his resolve to lighten the labor of harvest, ushered in this great century. The people are urged to visit the Hostetter store and see the reaper with which young McCormick, then only 22 years old, solved the problem that had baffled mankind since the beginning of history.

Now, Here's Good Advice: Get That Half Century

In becoming rich, it is the first million that is the hardest. In fact, it is so hard that many are exhausted at $20,000 and stop there. After the first million is hoarded it multiplies itself automatically. A fat million has only to sit down and grow in idleness. It is like a magnet drawing dollars. But $50,000 has to be taken care of like a helpless baby. It is subject to many infantile, juvenile, adolescent, mature and senile ills. "Fifty thousand" is never very well, but is always a pleasant companion. To know it is there, intact and rearing a crop of modest dividends each year, inspires a restful state of mind. You never will be reduced to the extreme of cranking rock. "Fifty thousand" nurtured and cherished will last a lifetime, will last for sons if it doesn't have to be split up among heirs.

It is a pleasure to summon the less ambitious satisfactions of life, and it does not suffer from being overshadowed by the levitation fortunes of multimillionaires. Its revenue is as sure as theirs.

Honor Well Bestowed on Chief Justice Taft

One day, along about midwinter, Joseph Tumulty, former secretary to President Woodrow Wilson, was taking his constitutional across the million-dollar bridge on Connecticut avenue when he saw a well-known and gigantic figure striding ahead of him. Before Mr. Tumulty had a chance to quicken his own stride and catch up, as he usually did, a stranger in a mud-dense, small up bearing an Ohio license drew up beside the huge figure ahead.

Spider's Wonderful Web

The first thing that a spider does in weaving his web is to lay the foundation line. He attaches a line at the point of departure and crawls along spinning it as he goes and holding up the newly spun thread by the claws of one of his hind feet until it reaches a considerable length. He then draws in the slack and makes it fast. The spider then goes over the line several times to strengthen the foundation, after which he spins the other lines of the web. In the case of lines of webs appearing great distances apart the spider emits a thread, which is cut by the air current from its spinnerets until it becomes entangled in the surrounding branches. This power of emitting silk some little distance and allowing the wind to draw it out is frequently exercised in the early life of many spiders.

EDUCATING THE MOTORING PUBLIC

VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR MOTORISTS FURNISHED THE BULLETIN BY LANCASTER AUTOMOBILE CLUB

Officers of the Lancaster Automobile Club are receiving congratulations on the Club's accomplishment in ranking among what is known as the "Big Ten" of the 1,065 American Automobile Association Clubs in the United States and Canada at the close of 1930. Lancaster stood tenth on the list and in so doing took a place along side of the Chicago Motor Club, the Detroit Motor Club and other organizations in cities many times larger than Lancaster. Several of the clubs included in the "Big Ten" have territory covering an entire state.

The Lancaster Automobile Club, with a paid up membership of 13,024 as of December 31, 1930, is considered one of the strongest and best motor clubs in America, both from the standpoint of numbers and from that of the service and protection given its members. The Lancaster Club's annual dues are among the lowest of any of the 1,065 units in the great A. A. A. chain, yet the local organization gives as complete protection and service as any motor club in America.

Despite the general lull in business conditions throughout the nation the Lancaster Automobile Club forged steadily ahead in 1930 and plans now are being made by those in charge for a big increase in membership this year. The local club will join with the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, comprising the eighty-eight A. A. A. clubs in the State, in a celebration next month to mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the state body. Plans for participation in this Silver Jubilee will be announced at the February meeting of the Auto Club to be held in the ballroom of the Stevens House, Lancaster, this Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Welcomed End of Edict Against Highland Dress

A Highland exhibition, illustrative of olden times and life in the Highlands, held in Inverness, Scotland, attracted many hundreds of visitors. There was among the many "revels" of the 35 a rare copy of a Gaelic poem, the author permitting the use of the Highland dress after it was banned. The poem, written by Rev. R. L. Ritchie, Crichton, Sutherland, and the Gaelic spelling is in parts phonetic. The English translation is as follows: "Listen, men! This is bringing before all the sons of the Gael that the king and parliament of Britain have for ever abolished the act against the Highland dress that came down to the clans from the beginning of the world to the year 1746. This must bring great joy to every Highland heart. You are no longer bound to the ordinary dress of the Lowlander. This is declaring to every man, young and old, gentles and commons, that they may after this put on and wear the trews, the little kilt, the dochtie, the small plaid, along with the tartan kilt, without fear of the law of the land or the jealousy of enemies."
