RURAL SCHOOL IS BULLETIN SUBJECT

The Department of Public Instruction is distributing to the rural schools of the State a bulletin entitled "One-Teacher Elementary Schools, Course of Study and Handbook of Organization."

This bulletin is a revision of a former bulletin issued by the Department and contains a number of new and interesting features, officials said. Special emphasis is placed upon character education, art, school music, health, proper use of equipment for and preparation of the hot lunch, project work in home economics, and adequate rural school libraries.

In addition, this bulletin contains definite instruction as to the laws pertaining to the administration of rural schools, and proper class room organization.

The Department has just received a statement from the State Superintendent of Kansas relative to this bulletin which is as follows: "I should like to say that yours is one of the most complete handbooks of this kind we have ever received. I find much of interest in it."

LOW PRICES HIT FUR CATCH VALUE

Low market prices, and not a scarcity of fur bearing animals, was responsible for a $200,000 decrease in the value of furs taken in Pennsylvania during the past trapping season. Game Commission officials said today.

The number of fur bearing animals taken totaled 949,896, slightly less than during last year. The fur value this year as just compiled from fur dealers' reports throughout the State amounted to $1,207,857.94. Muskrats headed the list, 407,852 being taken. Also there were 287,753 skunks, 127,298 opossums, 84,370 weasels, 29, 528 raccoons, 12,728 mink, 4,336 red squirrels, 7,917 gray squirrels, and 190 wild cats. In addition to this, fur dealers report the sale of 447 bear hides.

Apple Sauce Cheap

ABOUT the cheapest thing a salesman can hand out is "apple sauce," but that's not the kind of apple sauce we mean. New York State has made a big splash of real, tangible apple sauce this year, and it is particularly delicious because apples grown in that State are high in acid and in flavor. Owing to the large crop and the unusually early season, apples have been cheap and the sauce is being sold at a lower price than at any other time within the memory of canners.

There are a lot of things you can do with apple sauce besides just open the can and eat it. You can serve it with meats, make muffins, biscuits, pudding and even salad with it, and here is a recipe for cake made with apple sauce that you will like to try.

It's Delicious Apple Sauce Loaf Cake: Cream one-third cup butter and one cup sugar. Add one teaspoon soda to one and one-quarter cups canned apple sauce (one 11-ounce can), and add to creamed mixture. Sift together two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon clove, one-half teaspoon allspice and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg and add, together with the grated rind of one lemon. Add one-half cup raisins and one-half cup nuts. (Reserve a little of the flour to sift over them.) Bake in a loaf in a 350 degree oven for from forty-five to sixty minutes.

Apple Cheese Biscuits: Mix and sift two cups flour, four teaspoons baking-powder, one-half teaspoon soda and one teaspoon salt. Cut in three tablespoons shortening and add one beaten egg, one-half cup canned apple sauce and one-fourth cup thick sour milk mixed together. Pat out on a floured board, cut into small biscuits and place in pans. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for ten to twelve minutes.

Grow Food Supply Vegetable varieties should be chosen which will give fresh food over as great a part of the growing season as possible. This may be accomplished by planting varieties which will mature at different times, and by making succession plantings.

Pennsylvania Can Be Quite Proud Of Her Wonderful Poultry Industry

STAR PERFORMERS from PENNSYLVANIA

322 Eggs at Vineland, N. J., Contest

314 Eggs at Alabama Contest

240 Eggs—11 Mos. Florida State Contest

261 Eggs—11 Mos. W. Washington State Contest

Highest Egg Value for Entire Contest—Pomona, Calif.

The State of Pennsylvania has more reason than ever to be proud of its poultry industry since official tabulations on 1930 Egg-Laying Contests have been reported.

Far in the lead of any other poultry breeder in America, stands the Poultry Experiment Farm in Morton, Pennsylvania. Many of its pens took top positions in 23 American egg-laying contests, and more birds from this farm exceeded a 200-egg production in official American competitions, than from any other single breeder.

One hundred and seventy-one Pratt bred birds won this official honor listing in 1930 entitling them to listing in the American Poultry Record, the official organ of the American Record of Performance Council.

Never has an individual breeder achieved such a sweep of records from coast to coast, in a single year. An egg laying contest is nearly a full year's affair. Various breeders enter their finest birds in pens of five. All contesting pens are given identical care and feed for twelve months and the daily egg-production of each hen and each pen is carefully tabulated.

Although all the Pratt pens are developed from several generations of breeding on the farm at Morton, they must meet varying conditions of climate, travel, water and feed. These changes are generally considered very upsetting to egg-production so that the records of these Pennsylvania birds are all the more remarkable, since the contests stretched from the Pacific Coast to England, from Canada to Cuba, including states in practically every section of this country.

This great string of records began with the winning of the Delaware International Contest by a pen of Pratt Bred Rocks, which established a new world's record for consecutive laying. The five birds in the pen each laid daily for 21 consecutive days. This was followed the following year by the winning of the Alabama and the Illinois contests, and the winning of the Cuban National Contest. Then came the establishing of a New Jersey State record at Vineland, New Jersey, when a Barred Rock pullet laid 322 eggs in 50 weeks. Following this, came the winning of the Missouri Contest by a pen of Barred Rocks in 1930, together with high pen in number of eggs in the Florida Contest and second pen of all varieties at the Alabama and Illinois Contests, at the Alabama and Illinois contests, together with the establishing of a new contest record for both heavy pens and heavy individuals at the Stephenville, Texas, contest. At this place, a Pratt pullet was the first heavy pen to trap over 300 eggs—laying 313.

In 1930 was also won the high heavy pen at the Southwest Texas Contest, one of the pullets laying 319. Six birds laid over 300 eggs in contests in 1930 as follows: Single Comb White Leghorn at Maryland, 305; Single Comb White Leghorn at Georgia, 302; Barred Rock at Southwest Texas, 319; at Stephenville, Texas, 313, at Missouri, 303; and Vineland, N. J., 317. Others laid 293 eggs at Storrs, Conn., and in 305 days laid 317 eggs.

Still another bird, in 1930, was high second individual at the Ottawa Canadian National Contest with 248 eggs and 284.9 points. In past years, pens from the Pratt Farm at Morton, Pennsylvania, have made wonderful records at contests in Alabama, Georgia, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Connecticut, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Washington, Utah, California, British Columbia, England and Cuba—16 states and four foreign countries.

Few people realize the extent and importance of Pennsylvania's poultry industry or the prominence of its breeders. With a poultry population of over 20,000,000 birds, great hatcheries, big commercial farms and broiler plants, Pennsylvania can truly claim to have breeders whose work has been recognized all over the world. Pennsylvania's poultry ranks second to none and quality fowls from its yards are known wherever better poultry is bred.
