OWL-LAFFS

Now that the Great Edison has passed away we are inquisitive to know who'll take his place.

Heard Anna Kramer say that if she ever goes to Perry County again, she'll take a bicycle along to get around the hills, but I really think a tractor would be better and safer.

If times get much worse I don't know what we'll do. They're so hard now that a certain business man tells me the seat of his pants is worn so thin sitting around waiting for business that if he sits on a dime he can tell whether it is head or tail.

Believe me that's nothin. Mine are worn so blamed thin that if I sit on a dime I can tell the date of it.

A certain father here was anxiously waiting the news of the stork's arrival at the hospital when he received this telegram from his wife: "Gave birth to baby girl this morning Stop Baby and I both well and happy."

On the corner of the envelope containing the telegram was this label: "When you want a boy, ring Western Union."

This conversation was overheard between two pupils back at school the other day:

"If 'Minnie' in Indian, means water, what does Minnesota mean?"

"Aw, don't be dumb all your life—it means sota water."

The following conversation was overheard in an East Main street parlor the other night:

He: "Every time I see you my heart beats faster. I feel so strong and virile. Do you know what that means?"

She: "Yes. It means that in about five minutes you and I are going to have a wrestling match."

About the only business that is real prosperous nowadays is monkey business.

Mrs. Lindbergh has flown with her husband thousands of miles so far without ever having to go back for something she forgot; but, my lands—where's the baby?

A certain lady here was about to give her little son a dose of castor oil and asked him how he preferred taking it. He said: "With a fork mom."

"Who broke this china plate?" said a Marietta street woman.

"The cat," came the reply. "You have a cat, don't you?"

I'd certainly like to know how Methusalem lived 969 years and they tell me there were no regular doctors in those days.

Here's one was overheard in a colored school in Steelton:

"Will you boys please stop exchanging notes in the back of the room?"

Reply: "Them ain't notes. Them's dollar bills. We're shootin' craps."

Teacher: "Oh, pardon me."

A certain chap and I from town stopped overnight at Philadelphia. He thought it was a Yiddish hotel because all the waiters went around saying: "Jewish coffee?"

The vacuum cleaner salesman who called on President Hoover's wife and inquired: "Have you a little Hoover in your home?" must have felt most dern cheap when he discovered who he was speaking to.

A certain man told me he got all his money by hard work.

I told him I thought he inherited it and he replied that he did but it required hard work to get it away from the lawyers.

Roy Sheetz tells me the hardest case he ever heard of was the man who shot himself, they found the knife by his side and then the neighbors wanted to know who poisoned him. Roy said he hanged himself.

If that's the kind they tell at Legion Conventions, I think I'll go fishing.

A lad from Florin says his girl only wears three things and two of them are shoes.

Of all the liars, here's the guy who gets the barlow. He was showing us an orchard of large grapefruit when he remarked: "Owing to the dry weather these lemons are not as large as usual."

Shortly thereafter we were standing on the new bridge at Columbia and gazing into the river when he remarked: "I wonder whose radiator is leaking."

We have a chap here who thinks this would be a wonderful time for those Pilgrim Fathers to be alive. They gave thanks for dry land and they sure could get their fill of it now.

Al Laskewitz says that College is mostly a give and take affair. You give them money and take examinations.

A married woman on Mt. Joy street said to her husband: "The man I refused before you, is now rich."

He replied: "Please remember, he didn't marry you." A WISE OWL.

150 Game Killers Field officers of the Game Commission brought 150 prosecutions during September mostly for dogs chasing game illegally and pre-season hunting.
