Exhibition To Be A Banner Show (From page one) sheep, representing twelve breeds; 84 4-H Club fat lambs of four breeds; 63 draft horses; 105 Berkshire, Chester White, Duroc Jersey and Hampshire sows; and approximately 3,000 chickens, turkeys and water fowls. Entries in the livestock departments are limited to Pennsylvania breeders, while the poultry classes are open to the world. Many states are represented among the entries in the poultry show. Judging in the livestock departments will start at 8 a. m. Monday and will continue throughout the week. Numerous other features of interest to livestock breeders are scheduled during the Show. RABBIT & CAVY BREEDERS MET AT SPORTING HILL The Garden Spot Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' Association met at Adam's Filling Station in Sporting Hill, on Wednesday evening, January 6, 1932. The meeting was well attended and much interest shown. The outlook for the coming year seems very promising. We have at last arranged in securing an outlet for all meat rabbits at regular market prices to all members of our organization. The principal discussion was the importance of Pure Bred Stock. Mr. C. H. Wetzel, of Hummelstown, gave a short but very interesting talk on the above topic, followed by an exceedingly attractive proposition to all members. The association will hold its next regular meeting at Dupler's Filling Station, three miles east of Middletown, on the Harrisburg pike, on Wednesday, February 3rd, 1932. These meetings are open to the public. You are welcome. 4 LANCASTER YOUTHS STOLE MT. JOY MAN'S CAR Four Lancaster youths, arrested in connection with the theft of an automobile owned by Norman L. Warfel, of this borough, were held for hearings before Alderman John F. Burkhardt following their arrest Saturday. They are: Paul Checkley, eighteen, 641 Fourth street; Louis Wilson, nineteen, 607 Manor street; Joseph Metz, seventeen, 19 Rodney street, and John Ackers, of Baltimore. The Lancaster youths are held on charges of larceny, and have been released under bail. Ackers who was arrested with Baltimore, is charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was returned to Lancaster and committed to jail.

Birch Biting a Lost Art Birch biting is now an abandoned art, but 50 or 60 years ago it was one of the ways in which the Indian women of the Chippewa tribe used to express their love of the ornate. They would fold thin pieces of birch bark several times and then bite small pieces out of the folded material. When opened the bark would show geometric patterns of rough likenesses of leaves, flowers or other objects. Specimens of this art have been preserved and are now on display at the National museum at Washington. Must Pay for Everything We enjoy nothing today for which someone in the near or distant past has not paid the price. That truth is the great corrective of pride and selfishness. Men are blind when they swagger and live narrowly and meanly for themselves. They profess to be able to live their own lives without help from others. They grow eloquent about their independence. But all the time they are ignoring a debt which is too great ever to be repaid.—Her. Sidney M. Berry, D. D. Hawaiian Islands Ancient The Hawaiian islands voluntarily joined up with the United States in 1898. But that's a very short time compared with the real age of the islands. One ancient Hawaiian tradition has it that they are "so old that 1,000 generations are but youth." Dr. Arthur Star Eakle, mineralogist of the University of California, estimates them to be at least 1,000,000 years old.
