State Pays Part Of Transportation

(From page 1) are coming to realize that transportation is safer than walking, Rule said. The average cost of transportation to consolidated schools is 18 cents per day. In some districts where conditions are more favorable, the cost is as low as 9 cents per day. Better roads and three year contracts have made a marked improvement in the last three years in the type of conveyances used and the cost has been reduced. Vehicles must be safe, comfortable and provide adequate seating capacity. The driver must observe regular time schedules and must be of good moral character. The contractor must satisfy the school board of his financial responsibility. This includes liability for injury to children.

OWL-LAFFS

One of the little girls here asked her mother why men shoot lions and tigers and she told her, "because they kill lambs and sheep." Then the little girl replied: "Well, then why don't they shoot butchers, too?"

Payment Basis The Commonwealth reimburses the districts for State approved transportation to the amount of 50 per cent of the cost, not to exceed $3000 per year if the true valuation per teacher exceeds $100,000. It pays 60 per cent of the cost if the true valuation per teacher is between $50,000 and $100,000. If the valuation is below $50,000, the State reimburses to the extent of 75 per cent of the cost. The maximum paid by the State is $4000 in the two preferential classes. The amounts received by the several counties in the State for the last school year, 1930-31, were:

The other day I passed the boro dump and saw a certain married man diggin' and scratchin' among the refuse. I asked him what he was doing and he said his wife threw his sweetheart's picture into the waste basket, the contents were brought out there and he was trying to locate it among all the other boro trash.

One of our local stores certainly played a mean trick on a lady from Donegal Springs the other day. This lady, a customer at this particular store, bought a mince pie, took it home, placed it in the oven so as to warm it up nicely before serving. When the family was ready for pie and cut it, the dern pie was apricot.

A man not a million miles from town was asked how his son is getting along at college and he said: "Pretty good. He's taking three courses and I just paid $10 for Latin, $10 for Greek and $100 for Scotch."

Two women met while in town shopping. Said one: "I made an awful mistake this morning. I gave my husband a dish of lux by mistake for corn flakes." The other was properly horrified. "Was he mad?" she asked. "Was he mad?" repeated the first: "I'll say he was mad. He foamed at the mouth."

The melancholy days have come, The saddest of the year, The car skids on the slippery streets And you light on your ear.

Two men who are in partnership in this locality went to Lancaster recently and when they reached there one of them remarked: "Gee whiz, I forgot to lock our safe?" The other fellow said: "Well, why should you worry. Ain't we both here?"

That guy they call "Slim," who lives at the Garden Spot Restaurant, says at last he heard of a job he'd like. Some one asked him what it was and he said he'd like to be a stable boy on a merry-go-round.

A certain chap from town went to Philadelphia recently and although he had only one dollar, he started in business. He used that buck to wire home for more money.

At a certain industry here in town one of the bosses told me he put on several new men and it seems they can't learn anything. I told him not to give up because it takes some circus six years to train a jackass.

I remarked to one of our girls: "Some girls I know are bad but you are an exception." She said: "Oh, thank you." I said: "I mean exceptionally bad." Then I got a dirty look.

If there is a modern mother anywhere, we have one right here in Mt. Joy. She claims the children detest being stripped for bed so she conceived the idea of teaching them to play strip poker. This they greatly enjoy and each evening, instead of being coaxed to get ready for bed, they beg of her to play with them. The other night things didn't break right and it took her over two hours to get her little boy's belt off. I asked her what she'd do if the cards run against her, inasmuch as she too, takes a hand. She said: "Guess I'd have to cheat a little."

An autoist was heard in court for running over a pedestrian when the Judge asked the question: "What did you do when you saw the man?" The defendant replied: "I put on the brakes, blew the horn and then cursed him."

One of our young ladies who works at the Industrial Works told her beau that a little bird told her that he was going to give her a diamond bracelet for her birthday. He said: "That must have been a little cuckoo." A WISE OWL
