EDITORIAL

DON'T SUPPRESS NEWS
No one has a right to demand that a newspaper suppress a story, alter facts, or change the emphasis given to a story. Especially is this true where a matter vital to the public interest is involved. And yet the man who would keenly resent interference of another party in the conduct of his own professional affairs, often has no hesitancy in dictating to the journalist just how he shall proceed in the conduct of his newspaper.

PATRONIZE LOCAL STORES INSTEAD OF PEDDLERS
There are stores in town where anything can be purchased in the knowledge that anything found unsuitable will be cheerfully exchanged. This is not the case with the peddler, who works perhaps a town a day and is far away before poor workmanship or inferior quality have been discovered. Buying in local stores is not only safer but cheaper. Selling from door to door because of the high number of the calls which must be made for each sale, is costly. Play safe by buying at home.

THE FAMILY REUNION
Again the season for family reunions and home-comings approaches. It is to be hoped that our people will not let present strenuous economic conditions result in any diminution in the number or size of such events this summer. On the other hand there should be more of them. They strengthen family ties and other friendships. They are creators of a sentiment that needs strengthening in the present day—the home-loving sentiment that exerts a great influence on our lives.

DROWNING SEASON HERE
The swimming season is here. We again call attention to the dangers that lurk in unknown streams and lakes, and urge parents to prohibit their children from swimming or wading in unfamiliar water, or going to lakes and streams unattended. Children who cannot swim should not be allowed to go wading in streams alone, because of the possibility of stepping into a deep hole and drowning, and even those who can swim are not immune from the danger.

There is perhaps no more lamentable death than one that comes from drowning. They are so easily preventable. Let's be more careful this year than ever before.

THE BATTLE OF WORDS
The average voter must be disgusted with the silly arguments between Speaker John N. Garner of the House and President Hoover. The citizens of the country, regardless of party, are not seriously concerned about their petty arguments. It looks as if they could lay aside personalities, differences and political enmity long enough to co-operate in cleaning house at Washington. The country does not want higher taxes, but does want and demands economy in government. Millions of taxpayers' dollars could be saved by consolidations, elimination of bureaus which are overflowing with parasites, and economy with government funds.

LET'S DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT
It is certain that we can have the expenses of the government brought down; if we will try. We must take enough interest in matters political to go to the polls and vote on election day and we must keep a watch on affairs in Washington. We have allowed things in Washington to drift along to suit selfish politicians.

This country is ours. The government is ours. Members of congress are our servants. We elect our public officials. They are bound to listen to majorities. Majorities rule. The great mass of people who ought to be interested have been asleep. That is the reason that the costs of government have soared to dizzy heights.

What can we do? We can write our congressmen and senators. We can draw up petitions. They are effective. They show that we are watching our public servants.

Economy is necessary if prosperity is to be restored. Indifference begets selfishness. Selfishness soon begets politics. Politics begets all manner of evils. Write to your senators and congressmen today. Now is the time for all of us to rise up and say: "This orgy of spending has gone far enough."

G. Yerker and daughter Marie.

Miss Mildred Ely and John Buller of Maytown spent several days visiting Rev. and Mrs. Edward Butler at New York.

Ray Brandt and Bernard Sechrist, students at State College are spending their summer vacation with their parents.

LANDISVILLE

The Ladies Aid of the Church of God held a strawberry festival on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Minnich on Saturday evening.

Evelyn Hesseman, who is attending West Chester State Teachers College, has returned to her mother, Mrs. O. Rost and grandmother, Mrs. Annie Garrecht on Broad street, Landisville for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Faush and granddaughter, Loretta Stermer of Glen Rock, York Co., are visiting at the home of Mrs. L. M. Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tobias and family of Williamsport, spent the weekend with Mrs. Tobias' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rev. A. E. Cooper.

The Missionary Society of the Zion's Lutheran church met on Monday evening at the home of Miss Edwards at Landisville. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Benjamin Long.

The Church of God Landisville held its children's day exercises on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoffman, Jr., spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Hoffman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kinard, of Birdsboro. Returning they brought with him their two daughters, Jean and Bernice, who spent two weeks with the grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper of Penn State College, spent a week at the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Cooper, of Landisville.

Fertilize Pastures
Manure on pasture will often give as great return as anywhere. Late spring and summer manure must be moved away from the barn and often there is no crop land available on which to pasture. Fifty pounds of superphosphate on each spreader load of manure will help to bring in clover and increase quality, quantity, and palatability of the grazing.

Sow Cover Crops
Orchard cover crops should be sown immediately. Legumes are considered best in most cases. Where legumes cannot be grown to advantage, millet, sudan grass, oats, and rye are better than no cover crop at all. By seeding cover crops in the peach and apple orchard now, the cost of cultivating for the remainder of the season is eliminated.

Few Drivers Fit For Fast Speeds

STATE COMMISSIONER OF MOTOR VEHICLES CLAIMS FEW DRIVERS ARE CAPABLE OF SAFE DRIVING AT 70 MILES PER HOUR

Few automobile drivers are capable of safe driving at 70 miles an hour or more, according to Benjamin G. Eymon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. "The Pennsylvania Vehicle Code fixes 40 miles an hour as the legal speed limit on the highways," Eymon says. "But motor car manufacturers," he adds, "are constantly calling the public's attention to the fact that their cars will do 75 miles or 80 miles an hour. Indirectly, they are urging Pennsylvania motorists to break the law every time they take to the road. Few drivers can safely handle a car at these excessive speeds."

In addition to cautioning motorists against excessive speed, the Commissioner today gave a few safety suggestions that may be of value to the veteran driver as well as the beginner. Here they are:

Safety Suggestions
"At intersections, the automobile approaching from the right has the right of way. Pedestrians crossing within a crosswalk have the right of way, except at intersections where the movement of traffic is regulated by a traffic officer or traffic signal."

"When about to overtake and pass a car traveling in the same direction you are going, make certain of an assured clear distance ahead; signal following driver, if any, pass to the left without crowding. Do not 'cut in' too closely ahead of the overtaken vehicle."

"When being overtaken and passed by another car approaching from the rear give way to the right. Do not increase speed until passing has been completed by the approaching car."

"The Vehicle Code forbids following another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard to the speed of the vehicle ahead and the traffic upon and condition of the highway. Buses and trucks must not follow within 500 feet, except in city traffic."

Danger Points
"It is dangerous to park near the crest of a hill, on curves, at private driveways, fire hydrants, no parking areas or any other place where a clear view of your car may not be obtained for a distance of 200 feet in each direction. The law forbids a motor vehicle to stand on any highway unattended without first setting the brakes and stopping the motor."

"Should you be unfortunate enough to injure the person or property of another on the highways, the law requires you to stop and render assistance, disclose your identity and also report the accident to the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue Harrisburg, within twenty-four hours of the accident."

"It is unlawful to pass or attempt to pass any other vehicle proceeding in the same direction between any points indicated by temporary warning or caution signs showing that men are at work."

"In driving on mountain highways, the driver should hold his car under control and drive as near the right-hand side of the highway as is reasonably possible. At no time should he coast with the gears in neutral or clutch disengaged."

INQUIRIES SHOW SLOW TREND BACK TO SMALL FARMS

Demand For Cheap Places Increases as Jobs Vanish

Activity in the farm real estate market is slow, according to reports reaching the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, but the number of persons interested has increased.

Inquiries are usually for small, cheap farms from 10 to 60 acres in size, worth not over $2500, well located and suitable for either poultry raising or truck growing. Occasionally there is an inquiry for a dairy farm. Many of the transfers involved changes for city real estate.

City unemployed, most with previous farm experience, or people of foreign extraction with slack work in the mines, constitute the bulk of the inquiries, but farmers are said to be usually the purchasers of the larger acreages. The only credit available, judging from reports, is that which the seller is willing to extend, and the terms are usually arranged to suit the purchaser. In some localities, mortgages at 5 per cent have been offered.

The March 1 reports from both farm land owners and realtors to the Federal State Crop Reporting Service, indicate that farm real estate in Pennsylvania suffered an average decline of 5 per cent. in value during the past year. The price level at the present time is estimated to be 4 per cent. below that prevailing during 1912-1914. Low prices for farm products, high taxes and scarcity of credit are blamed for the situation.

Relatively speaking, Pennsylvania is more fortunate than the mid-western states where the present value of farm real estate has fallen to as much as 40 per cent. below the pre-war level. The average for the United States is 11 per cent. below the 1912-1914 average.

Evergreens Need Sunlight
Weed and bush growth that over tops and shades seedling pines and spruces should be cut or cleared away from the trees during late June or early July. The trees need the sunlight most at that time. Simply tramping back or breaking off the overtopping brush from the individual trees usually will suffice.

SMALL CHILDREN HELP TO SWELL AUTO DEATH TOLL

17.3 Per Cent. of Those Killed Were 14 Years

More than 17 per cent of the persons killed in motor vehicle accidents in Pennsylvania in the first four months of the year were children 14 years old or less. There were 583 persons of all ages killed. Of that number 101, or 17.3 per cent were children.

"This is an appalling loss of child life," Benjamin G. Eymon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, said today in discussing the slaughter of the children. If that many children were killed during the winter months, what can we expect with summer here, school over and more children playing in the streets? Parents ought to be directly interested in the safety of their children. They should forcibly impress on the minds of their little ones the danger of playing on streets and highways.

"Children as well as adults should learn to cross only at street intersections. Children should be taught to avoid darting out into the street or highway from behind parked vehicles. By walking into the street from behind a parked vehicle they are always in danger of being run down by an approaching vehicle. Teach your children to look to the left before they leave the sidewalk even though they are crossing at an intersection. Teach them to look to the right when they are in the middle of the street."

"Children should be old of the danger of stealing rides on trucks, ice wagons and various other horse-drawn vehicles. Hitching rides is against the law but that means nothing to a child in pursuit of a ride for a block or so. Telling them it is against the law won't do much good. Telling them it may mean their being killed or seriously injured may help. Perhaps a little home treatment after a child has been detected stealing a ride may help more than anything else. That depends on the child."

"Conservation of child life, in so far as it relates to the motor vehicle, is a responsibility resting on motorists and parents. Each must bear their share of the burden. No matter how cautious the driver may be, he needs all his wits when nearing a group of children at play. Whether they are playing on the street or sidewalk should make no difference to him. They may run wild any minute."

"Parents should continually instruct their children in the danger from the time it leaves the sidewalk until it is safely back on the sidewalk. Talk safety to them frequently. It's too late after the accident has happened."

HEALTH CARS ARE READY FOR TOUR: TEST CHILD HEALTH

The rural health cars, of the bureau of child health, State Department of Health, have received their final re-fitting, and are now ready for the summer's work in the rural regions of various counties of the Commonwealth, according to Dr. J. Bruce McCreary, Deputy Secretary of Health. Tentative selection of Tioga and Potter counties in the north central group, Westmoreland county in the western group and York county in the eastern end of the State, have been announced, as centers of activity for the health cars during the next few months.

Physicians, dentists, dental hygienists and nurses make up the personnel of each car, and their work is directed by Dr. Mary Riggs Noble, chief of the pre-school division, bureau of child health. The activities of the cars are confined to the rural regions in each county, since the entire purpose of the movement is to bring the benefits of a pre-school examination to those children who are normally out of reach of such service.

Those in charge of a health car prefer to stop at a rural school building and use its facilities in the health conference work conducted. The day and hour of arrival have been announced by the field workers of the pre-school division, and the mothers in the community urged to bring their children who have never attended school to the health car for appraisal.

The doctor, the dentist, the nurse each play their part in the work of examination. A card is filled out bearing the date, child's name, location, and the advice that "your child has been examined and the following conditions found:—"

You are advised to consult your physician at once and secure the necessary treatment." This is signed by the physician in charge of the health car, and given to the parents for their guidance in correcting defects.

No medical advice or treatment is given. The motor units are not traveling dispensaries. They discover health defects. The family doctor must do the rest.

ARE ENTITLED TO ENTRY IN ADVANCED

Two new official records for production have just been completed by cows in the herd of S. N. Root, of Landisville, which entitles them to entry in the Advanced Register of the American Guernsey Cattle Club, Peterboro, N. H. These animals include six year old Glenchester Pride H. 209332 with a record of 9296.9 pounds of milk and 476.6 pounds of fat in class A and two year old Woodside Joyour 324167 with a record of 7615.3 pounds of milk and 344.1 pounds of fat in class G.

Save Berry Quality
Careless handling of strawberries at picking time and hauling to market always decreases the price several cents a quart.

Stimulate your business by advertising in the Bulletin.

FOR YOUR INSPECTION

The merchant and manufacturer who advertise, actually are placing their merchandise before you for inspection. They invite your most critical attention and an uncompromising comparison.

And their advertisements, so to speak, say to their products: "We have introduced you to the public—now stand on your own merits."

If the manufacturer and merchant did not have confidence in their wares, they would hesitate to call attention to them. For advertising rigidly tests the maker, the seller and the merchandise.

Business so tested, and found not wanting, is prosperous.

In the long run, you can depend on the man who advertises, as well as on his product. That is one reason why people have found that it pays to read advertisements.

It is through advertising that the excellent things of the world are brought to the attention of those who are seeking for the best and most economical way to spend their money.

Read the advertisements. They are news.
