Continues Work On Road Safety

BY THE END OF 1932 NEARLY TEN MILLION DOLLARS WILL HAVE BEEN EXPENDED FOR THE ABOVE PURPOSE

Steady progress in the elimination and improvement of the grade crossings to safeguard the motoring public is reflected in a summary of Pennsylvania Department of Highway activities for the past 18 months, which Secretary of the Highways Sam Lewis made public today. By the end of 1932 nearly $10,000,000 will have been expended in this field, the cost being divided between the Department and various agencies as allocated by the Public Service Commission.

In 1931 the Department eliminated 23 railroad grade crossings, altered 21 crossings to improve sight distance, replaced or reconstructed 14 bridges, and eliminated the need for three existing bridges, with the consequent saving in maintenance costs. The work cost approximately $3,970,951.61 of which the Highway Department paid approximately $1,713,248.37.

During the six months of 1932 much work was started, which will be completed within the year, and actual completion was reported on three eliminations, two relocations, two bridges reconstructed and three bridges built where grade crossings formerly existed. Two crossings on the new rural route system were among those eliminated.

Ten projects are in progress which involve bridge construction, reconstruction, elimination of crossings by relocation, and in one instance both the road and the railroad are being moved to eliminate crossings and provide better road conditions. This year's work will cost about $6,000,000.

At present the Department is interested in 18 cases pending before the Public Service Commission.
