Holland's Waterways
Holland is a water land and the way to see Holland is to go about by water, not by trains as so many hurried tourists do, says a traveler. It is ideal travel to get on one of their many canal boats and leisurely survey from the deck the passing windmills and docked ocean liners and then when away from the city, the lush and watery fields of green, canal-fretted villages, every now and then passing boats loaded with vegetables and hay, for boats are the market carts of the Dutch.

Keeping the Promise
Mrs. Briggs had been attacked by a dog while out with her husband. To her disgust, Mr. Briggs had immediately taken to his heels, leaving his wife to her fate.
"You're a coward!" she told him when she had made her escape.
"Fancy leaving me to be bitten like that? Why didn't you grab its collar?"
"Well, dear," pleaded Mr. Briggs, "when we got married we agreed never to keep anything back from each other, didn't we?"

Danger From Parrots
Parrot fever or psittacosis is an acute infectious disease with symptoms resembling those of typhoid and pneumonia. It has been known to medicine since 1870 and there have been several epidemics traced to the importation of sick members of the parrot family from tropical countries. The disease is transmitted from parrots, love-birds, etc., to human beings handling them and is considered especially dangerous to old persons.
