Water Wheel to Be Connected

plant engineers at Harrisburg relative to the matter. Later they came here, inspected the situation and estimated that the entire cost of making the connection would not exceed $250 and that they would do the work for that amount.

The matter was then discussed and upon motion Council decided to make the connection.

It was also decided that the work will be done by the boro under the supervision of Supervisor Henry Smeltzer. The only work required is to lay a main from the filter plant to the pumping station.

At present all our water is pumped by electric power but as soon as the above work is completed, all the water possible will be pumped by water power. This will be quite a monthly saving to the boro.

Chairman Murphy appointed Burgess Keener and Councilmen Althouse, Hawthorne and Miller as a committee to prepare resolutions on the death of our late Councilman Howard B. Arntz, send a copy to the family, spread same on the minutes and publish them in the Bulletin.

Upon motion the property committee was instructed to look after the sewer at the fire house.

P. P. & L. Cuts Electric Rates

Berks and Lebanon counties now served by the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company. Consumer in this territory received a reduction on May 1st, 1930, as well as participating in the January 1st, 1931, reduction, which saved consumers over the company's entire territory approximately $1,500,000 a year in the cost of electric service.

Substantial rate reductions for the various classes of gas and electric service have been regular occurrences since the formation of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company in 1920. By the end of this year, the result of these reductions during the years they have been in effect, combined with this Miller, C. year's reduction, will be a saving to their consumer of nearly $20,000,000.

The reader's attention is directed to the company's advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg And Why
BY—GIFFORD PINCHOT

There has been a lot of misunderstanding about the amount of money that must be spent in Pennsylvania for unemployment relief. We are now spending at the rate of 70 or 80 million dollars a year, and that figure is steadily going up.

Unless a sharp and sudden upturn should come to help us out, I do not see how, with every economy that can be effected, Pennsylvania can go through the coming twelve months without at least a hundred million dollars for relief.

There is a lot more hope of recovery from the depression today than there was before the new President took hold of it with both hands. If there is no recovery from the depression, a larger sum may easily be required. But since we have strong and increasing hope of general improvement, there is no good reason why Pennsylvania should appropriate more than $20,000,000 or $25,000,000 at this time, especially because on that basis we can get along for the present without new taxation.

Remember that Pennsylvania has had and should continue to have much help from the Federal Government. So far the Nation has provided in all for relief about two dollars for one of State money in this Commonwealth. Of late the Federal Government has been giving two out of three. The new National administration is very much alive to the need for relief.

And this is fair and right, for the Federal funds come mainly from taxation on the rich, and local funds mainly from taxation on the less rich, as I have been pointing out for several years.

When I ask for $20,000,000 for relief from the Legislature, that does not mean, as some people have thought, that $20,000,000 is all we need. On the contrary, as I have said over and over again, that is only what Pennsylvania should provide at this time and does not count what the Nation will give. It does not mean that the $20,000,000 will last for any specified length of time. All it means is that we should provide $20,000,000 now, with the hope that times will improve.

And whatever Pennsylvania does provide should be made available for the State Emergency Relief Board to spend as needed and not be divided up month by month in advance.

I want to say again, vigorously, as I know how that we do not know what is ahead of us, and that Federal help will surely come if we do our part. Therefore it is not necessary that Pennsylvania taxpayers should be asked to give all the money we shall need, and it is not necessary that we should provide now for the whole of the next two years. Let us give ourselves at this time the benefit of the doubt.

But what is absolutely necessary is that the Legislature should get down to business and provide relief—provide what's fairly Pennsylvania's share at this time—and do it at once.

And do it without new taxes on our people, and without sacrificing the interests of the people for political jobs.

Why on earth should the interests of any political organization be put ahead of the interests of the people in a time like this? Why on earth should you pay more taxes than are necessary in a time like this for the sake of jobs for a political organization? Are such jobs more important than you are, or are you more important than the jobs?

I think you and I will agree on the answer.

Trains of Future to Run 100 M. P. H.

With the making of the new era now before us, how shall we picture the future of the transcontinental train? It is mounted on rubber; it runs on a broad 4-track concrete highway, with no steep grades and no dangerous curves. It travels at 100 miles an hour, and can stop within one-fifth or one-sixth of the distance now required by the express train, a writes Robert W. Kelso in the North American Review.

The inside lanes of this highway carry express; its outside lanes an accommodation service similar to the best grade of highway bus service of today. At intervals of every few miles is a concrete area running off at an angle, where airplanes—an integrated part of the system—may land and depart at all directions of the wind.

Instead of a multitude of companies paralleling each other, sinking fabulous sums in ducter tariffs because of the waste, we shall find consolidation into the great American transport system, so that the bus, the transcontinental express, and the high-speed plane are synchronized in a single system.

Court Disposes Of Local Cases

The costs of the case were placed on Constable Abraham Haines, of Newtown, Rapho township, the prosecutor.

Constable Haines testified to having purchased a bottle of wine from Esleman on February 18 for 50 cents. The following Saturday, in company with Constable Hess, Haines said he raided the place, seizing a quantity of beer, wine and whiskey.

Esleman states Haines came to his home accompanied by Albert Atkins, North Mary street and that he treated the men to two bottles of beer and a drink of wine. He said Haines said he wanted to buy a quart of the wine but Esleman said he refused to sell him fifty cents worth of wine. Later, he said fifty cents was found under a table covering Esleman denied selling intoxicants.

Sentence Delayed

Judge Atlee postponed sentence until June 12 in the case of Landis and Lizzie Kupp, of Mount Joy township, who pleaded guilty to breaking the liquor laws.

"The fact that you have five children does not excuse his offense," Judge Atlee said. "It was a foolish thing to do. We will, however, give you another chance by postponing the case until June 12."

Boards Must Fix Tax Rate

is advising school boards to call in the contracts of teachers who are to remain in service, and attach a statement to be signed by the board and teacher to the effect that the salary shall be fixed in accordance with pending legislation. The sixty-day period has expired for most fourth class districts observing an eight-month term. April marks the time limit for schools closing the last of May.

School tax rates, according to existing laws, must be set by boards of the second, third and fourth class school districts during April and May for the following year. Determination of the tax rate is influenced to a great extent by the expected amount of State aid to the district. Faced by a $5,000,000 reduction in total State subsidies from the $58,000,000 held necessary to carry out provisions of the Edmonds Act for the coming biennium, and uncertainty in fixing of teachers' salaries, school boards await final action on possible permissive teacher salary reductions, and determination of subsidy and distribution amounts.

Local Board Acts
The Board of School Directors of the School District of Mount Joy Borough by official action at a recent meeting of the Board instructed the secretary to notify all teachers that the contracts between them and the said Board will terminate on May 29, 1933.

They will be offered new contracts at such a figure as will be commensurate with the retrenchment and economy made necessary by the enforced curtailment of the budget for the 1933-1934 school term.

To Check False Fire Alarms

If a person turns in a false fire alarm on a new alarm box to be tried in St. Louis, he will find a four-pound red steel bracelet locked around his wrist. The bracelet will clamp a person reporting a real fire as well, but officials believe a person sounding a genuine alarm wouldn't mind waiting a few minutes for the firemen to come with keys and release him. The hand of the person ringing the alarm must be thrust through an opening in the box and the bracelet locks on the wrist as soon as the alarm is rung. The object is to discourage the ringing of false fire alarms.
