The World's At Your Door

IMMORTALIZED in story and song, the old "corner store" has passed—along with the free potato on the kerosene can, and the customers' access to the cracker-box. It was picturesque, but you never quite knew what you would find there.

Today, when you enter your grocery store—or any store—you know what you want, how much you want of it, and the price you are going to pay. Advertising has rendered you this service.

The modern way to be certain of quality and value is to read the advertisements. Representing almost every field of opportunity, the advertising columns of The Bulletin bring you the fascinating story of the whole world's market-place!

Read the advertisements! They are weekly messages of opportunity for you.

"Where's the boss?" a customer asked.

"He's out attending to legal business," the clerk replied.

"Legal business?" exclaimed the customer, irritably. "That's the same thing you told me yesterday, and later I saw him in a restaurant drinking beer."

"Well," replied the clerk, "drinking beer is now legal, isn't it?"
