FALLING BEHIND

Will there be a Farm Show, Community Exhibit or call it what you will, in Mount Joy this Fall?

We have been asked this question many times and to date have been unable to answer authentically.

Manheim, Ephrata, Columbia and other surrounding towns are going ahead with their shows and we sincerely hope Mount Joy will not fall behind.

It isn't too late. Let's get together, hold a show, get people to town and show them just what we can do. We feel certain everybody will greatly benefit thereby.

A TIME OF OPPORTUNITY

The present is a time of very fine opportunity. Business is reviving, and people are buying more freely. It is necessary for family and business welfare for people to buy now, because prices are steadily rising.

The people should be shown by advertising that prices are now lower than they will be this fall. With advanced prices on raw materials and labor make substantial advances in the prices of goods inevitable within a very short time.

By advertising, they can be shown that if they buy now, they get the advantage of present prices, which cannot last.

COUNTRY HAS FAITH

How President Roosevelt's Recovery Program will work out we do not pretend to say. What may be confidently said is that the powers granted the President will not be invidiously used. Along with the extraordinary powers vested in the President went a proportionate responsibility. The qualities exhibited by Mr. Roosevelt in the brief four months really epic incumbency of the Presidential office are a courage, a confidence, a buoyancy of decision, a mastery of events, that almost instantly transformed our national psychology.

Emergency is not the word for the present moment. This is a crisis. It demands a major operation. The surgeon is ready. The country has faith in his skill and resolution. It has no sympathies with the outcries of those who insist that the President and his party will "ruin the country." That is always the alarm of prejudiced few. The great thing is that America is moving out of the depression.

Co-operation and patience are the keywords.

BLUE EAGLE HAS CLAWS

The Blue Eagle has claws. That is the intimation in recent utterances of Administrator Johnson, aggressive head of national recovery drive. Businesses which display the blue eagle insignia without having signed agreements are in for trouble. So are businesses which fail to keep to the intent, written and implied, of the code. So, according to General Johnson, is anyone withdrawing the blue eagle from his place of business.

The flood of signed agreements continues. Even though there must be a good deal of readjustment before certain businesses will be able to make NRA principles work, either under the blue eagle or in a trade code, there is almost unanimous sentiment in favor of Administration procedure, with promises to do everything possible to help.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute, in a recent bulletin, offers the interesting possibility that greatest stumbling block in the way of a blanket code may be excessive taxation. High taxes, according to the Institute, are now causing the abnormal and dangerous spread between wages and prices. No matter how patriotic a business man is, he cannot raise wages and increase operating costs without sufficient additional revenue coming in. Hope of the government is that increased revenue will immediately follow the blanket code's operation.

A. F. of L. is conducting one of the greatest organization drives in its history; many employers are attempting to stick with the open shop or company union plan. Strikes and lockouts if they spread, will be a tremendous blow to NRA success; official pleas to labor to co-operate have been made by the government.

WHAT SHAKESPEARE SAID

The man that hath no music in himself,
Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sound,
Is fit for treason, stratagem, and spoils;
And his affections dark as Erebus
Let no such man be trusted.—Merchant of Venice, Act 5, Scene 1.

FALMOUTH

Rev. A. L. B. Martin, of Baltimore, formerly of the Hillsdale county section was welcomed in the Geyer United Brethren church on Sunday morning when Rev. Martin joined the Sunday School services and delivered the message. Members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Sunday School rendered song selections. A special offering was lifted for the purpose of developing the budget system to its required standing. Rev. Martin is a brother to Prof. J. B. Martin, of Middletown, and S. B. Martin of near the church.

George W. Walton, registrar, will sit at the polling place in the Bainbridge firehouse today, September 6, from 9 A. M. until 7:00 P. M. for those to register who have moved into the district since the last census was taken in order to be eligible to vote at the coming election.

After visiting relatives in Lancaster county and at Philadelphia, John Dibeler and Miss Fanny Dibeler have returned to the home of Harry Dibeler, this place.

Mrs. Harry Davis and daughter, Shirley, of Cleveland, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Effie Floyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gephart and daughter, Helen, of this place and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Shellenberger, of Oakland Mills, Juniata Co. have returned from a visit to Freeport, Ill.

SHRINKAGE OF KEGS CUTS BEER CONTENT

Pre-prohibition kegs and barrels have been causing Pennsylvania brewers considerable trouble and reports have reached the bureau of standards weights and measures in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs that some purchasers of the 32 beverage have been given short measure.

A barrel of beer should contain 31 gallons and a half barrel should carry 15½ gallons. Various keg types should contain proportionate amounts. Reports reached Secretary of Internal Affairs Philip H. Dewey that some barrels and kegs, all of the wooden variety, were one and two gallons short. He instructed inspectors to make inquiries as when complaints on shortages in other commodities are received.

Inspections showed that during the long years of prohibition the wooden kegs dried out to such an extent that before they could be put into use again the hoops had to be drawn up. The result was reduction of the cubical contents.

Brewers themselves are now realizing the space reduction in the wooden containers and many of them are stamping the kegs to show the exact amount of beer they contain. Others have turned to metal kegs. Inspectors of weights and measures believe that a state of normalcy will soon exist in the matter of correct beer measure.

Grow Raspberry Plants

Farmers who have raspberry patches that are free from disease may grow their own plants for renewal. Shoots grown long and bent over can be used to propagate the new plants. Tips touching the ground can be covered with soil and induced to take the root. Next spring these plants can be cut loose from the parent cane about 8 to 10 inches from the ground.

STREAMS ATTRACT FEMALE ANGLERS

Milady goes a-fishing. Many feminine anglers are taking up the sport of Izaak Walton, according to the Fish Commission. And not only are they entering into the spirit of this type of recreation enthusiastically, but some of the finest fish landed in Pennsylvania this year may be credited to the fair sex.

In Lycoming county, for instance, Warden H. J. Bressler, of Williamsport, reports a definite increase in number of license issued to feminine anglers this year. The Loyalsock is a favorite stream in that section of the State, and it has yielded two exceptional game fish to Mrs. H. M. Browning of Williamsport.

During the trout season, Mrs. Browning caught a 6-inch brown trout weighing 4 pounds 10 ounces. Recently, while fishing in the same pool, she landed a 19-inch small-mouth black bass.

Increasing popularity of artificial bait, particularly the flies and spinners, in fishing for game fish, may be a factor in trend toward angling by fair Waltonians, officials believe.
