Bainbridge Is Proud of Record

NINETY-ONE "BOYS" ANSWERED THE CALL DURING THE SIXTIES NAMES OF ALL ARE APPENDED—MANY WELL KNOWN

The village of Bainbridge, the home of County Treasurer Scott Smith, the place of Bernard J. Myers, one of the state's foremost attorneys, located on the Susquehanna River, can boast of its record during the '60s when 91 boys were officially listed as answering the call of Father Abraham, although the town itself at that time had a population of only 810.

Of these volunteers a goodly percentage are listed as battle casualties. After the cessation of hostilities and the firing of the last shot in 1865, those who survived the conflict returned to their quiet homes to follow the pursuit of peace and assist in the painful task of reconstruction.

During the month of May, 1863 the veterans organized the John Hipple Post No. 353, G. A. R. Sergeant John Hipple, the first casualty from Bainbridge, fell mortally wounded in the Battle of Spotsylvania Courthouse, Virginia in the early part of the war, pierced by enemy grape-shot through the left shoulder.

His heroism in that bloody encounter is recalled by his nephew, Ralph E. Hipple, of Elizabethtown, who holds the citation stating that under heavy fire of grape and cannister from the enemy, Sergeant Hipple led an advance penetrating the embankment. He was felled by grape-shot, mortally wounded.

At the present time not a single man survives this Post. All have taken their places in the Eternal camping ground. The last survivor was Comrade Harry Snyder, who died several years ago.

The last active member was Comrade Ross Ashton who attended the National Reunions regularly and represented the Post. He later affiliated himself with the Lancaster Post G. A. R.

At present Mr. George W. Nein, of Bainbridge, member of the S. of V., is the custodian of the Post and National Flag of the Post. These colors are

THAT SPECIAL SESSION COST THE TAXPAYERS $204,513.80

A study in figures today revealed that the special session of the Legislature which ended last Thursday after a six weeks' existence really was "short and inexpensive."

It cost, exclusive of the printing bill, more than 50 per cent less than either of the two previous extraordinary sessions during the present administration.

The total as it stands today is $204,513.80. Expenses for printing, an appropriation of $35,000 has been made, must be added to this figure. The 1931 special session cost $325,000 and the 1932 special accumulated bills totaling $313,000.

A total of $401,053 was appropriated for the expenses of the session. The biggest item was salaries and traveling expenses for members—$139,617.20.

Coaster Killed At Bainbridge

WILLIAM R. BACHMAN, 16, MET DEATH WHEN HE COASTED INTO A TRAIN AT A GRADE CROSSING LAST WEDNESDAY

Lancaster county's first coasting fatality of the season occurred at 11:30 A. M. Wednesday when William R. Bachman, sixteen, of Bainbridge, was instantly killed as his sled crashed into the wheel of a Pennsylvania railroad locomotive on a grade crossing in Bainbridge.

The fatal accident occurred at the crossing of the railroad at Front and Race Sts., Bainbridge, while three of Bachman's coasting companions, Willis Panton, seventeen, his brother, Donald, ten, and Raymond Groff, 12, all of Bainbridge, watched, helpless to aid their companion.

The boys had been coasting down the hill, crossing the railroad tracks and following a path along the Susquehanna river for some distance.

As Bachman descended the hill on the fatal trip, he apparently saw the approaching westbound locomotive and made a desperate effort to stop his sled by dragging his feet on the snow. Deputy Coroner Mundorf said the sled crashed against a wheel of the locomotive and Bachman's body was thrown a distance of thirty feet, the deputy coroner stated. Mr. Mundorf and Dr. J. A. Blasser, of Elizabethtown, were summoned and said the boy's death was instantaneous and was caused by a crushed skull.

Hempfield CWA Work Approved

PROVIDE JOBS FOR THIRTY MEN ON THE ROAD PROGRAM—SUPERVISORS STILL HAVE 41 MILES OF ROAD TO CARE FOR

Civil Works Administration projects for West Hempfield township, including mainly road work, have been approved. Lester V. Gram, in charge of the Columbia registry branch, received the approvals and with Road Supervisors B. H. Seigrist and Jacob Kline assigned thirty men to begin work as soon as weather will permit.

West Hempfield supervisors have a total of 41 miles of road still under their jurisdiction. The total was reduced recently when the state took over 21 miles. Projects listed for CWA work will be on 15 miles of the 41-mile net work. Roads listed for scraping, leveling, straightening and resurfacing are one at Norwood running back of the Mifflin Memorial, the toll-gate road leading from the Lincoln Highway to Ironville, the ore bank road leading from the Silver Spring road to Lake Grubb, the Ironville road to Siegrist's mill, the back road from Ironville to Kinderhook and Klinesville and a back road from Ironville to Silver Spring. If the work is completed before February 15, the time limit set by the CWA, other projects will be undertaken.

C. C. Greider is the new member of the Board of Road Supervisors of the township. He will be installed at this meeting to replace M. L. Weaver, deceased. John H. Siegrist has been appointed time-keeper for the work.

PENNA. RURAL ROADS TAKEN OVER BY STATE

Pennsylvania's highways and byways came under state maintenance Monday.

Thousands of miles of rural roads, heretofore maintained by townships, were taken over by the state for maintenance for two years as an experience and, in many counties, road tax will be eliminated.

A survey of several counties indicates that but one in twenty townships is in debt, but that the ratio is reversed in the more populous districts of the state.
