

You Can Depend On The Man Who Advertises

NINE times out of ten you will find that the man who advertises is the man who most willingly returns your money if you are not satisfied.

He has too much at stake to risk losing your trade or your confidence. You can depend on him.

He is not in business for today or tomorrow only—but for next year and ten years from next year. He knows the value of good will.

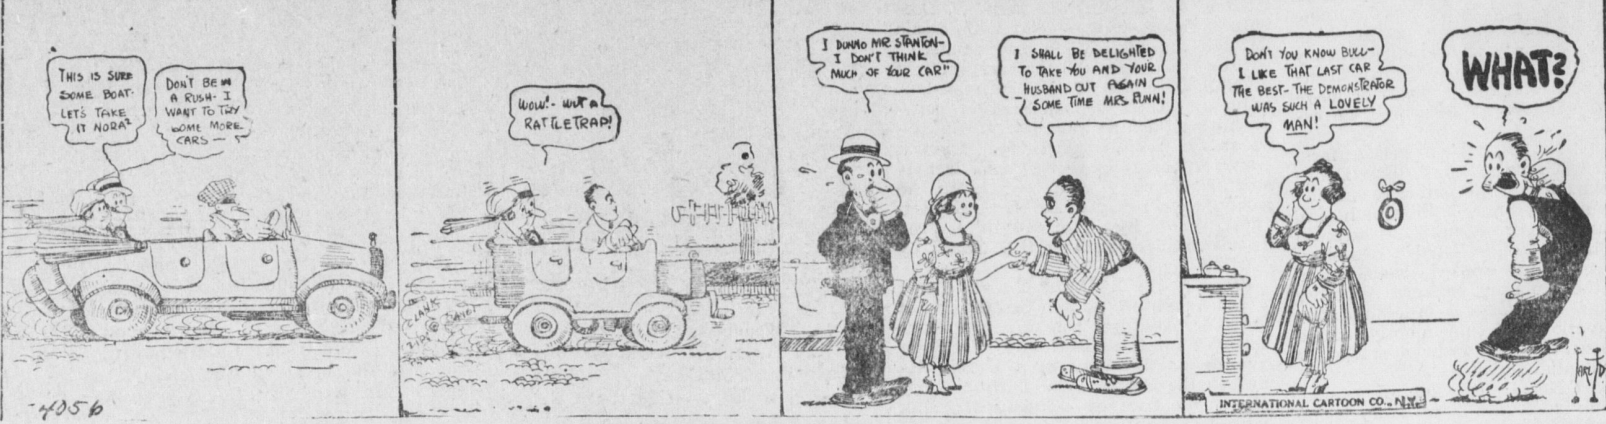

You get better merchandise at a fairer price than he could ever hope to sell it if he did not have the larger volume of business that comes from legitimate advertising and goods that bear out the promise of the printed word.

Don't miss the advertisements. This very day they call your attention to values that tomorrow you will be sorry you overlooked.

OWL LAFFS

Two old maids were talking and one asked the other what she was giving up for Lent. She admitted: "Hope, my dear, hope!"

Sunday night my girl asked me if I am able to light a cigarette when there's a lot of wind. So I replied: No, don't talk till I get this one lit. Since then she won't even look at me.

The average woman shows her age on her face long before she shows it on her birthday cake.

Tuesday night when one of the firemen arrived at home from the spread George Brown's Sons gave them at Ben Groff's, his wife was waiting up for him. She greeted him with this: "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, coming home at this hour of the morning!" But the fireman, trained to be ready and meet emergencies quickly, replied: "I am, dear, but there wasn't any place else to go!"

When a game warden tells of the illegal fishermen he catches in a day, he usually adds, "But you should have seen the big one that got away."

Here's a new one on our local Dumb Dora. She said: "My boy friend said he couldn't meet me last night because his car broke down." Trying to put her wise to the fact that her boy friend was through with her, I said: "That sounds like an old dodge to me." And dumber than dumb she replied: "O, no, it's a new Buick."

"There's one drink that makes me drunk everytime," admitted a young chap from downtown. "Rum?" I asked him. And the lad smiled and said: "No, the twelfth."

There was a wife whose husband was an accounting expert.....no matter where he'd been he always gave a good account of himself.

Met a lady from Barbara Street coming out of the doctor's last night and to me she said: "My husband is the cause of all my indignation." "Why?" I asked. She replied: "Because he doesn't agree with me."

Pedestrians will admit that the female of the speedie is more deadly than the male.

Some one told a certain lady from Florin that they've found a red-headed gorilla in Africa. She suddenly replied: "So that's what's become of my husband!"

And then there was the wife who watched her husband like a hawk, ready to pounce on any chicken that came along.

Well, it looks like we'll be having weather whether or not, so I'll be seeing you in March.

Raise Good Calves

Calf raising is an essential part of the herd improvement and replacement program for the dairyman. The chief points of a good program are: use of only a well-bred sire, raising of heifer calves from only the best cows in the herd, and keeping the calves growing from birth to maturity.

Soybeans are High-Priced

The higher price of soybeans this year is due to continued wet weather last spring which reduced the acreage planted in the corn belt, while the coastal storm last August did great damage to the crop on the Eastern shore.

Plant Healthy Berries

Virus diseases of raspberries can not be controlled by spraying. Only healthy plants should be set out and the plantation should be 500 to 1,000 feet away from wild berry bushes.
