New Steel Bridge Will Replace Old Wood Structure

ACROSS LITTLE CHICKIES CREEK AT SOUTHEASTERN BOBO LIMITS—SAME WILL BE RELOCATED.

The old wooden bridge across the Little Chickies Creek at the southeastern bobo limits recently carried away by the flood, will be replaced by a modern steel structure. This will be done just as quickly as possible.

Last Thursday Engineer H. W. Crawford, Bridge Commissioner for Lancaster County, met State Highway engineers on the above scene and here's the result of the meeting.

While this bridge is on a State Highway, it is owned by the county and must be rebuilt by the county. The County Commissioners however agreed with the State Highway engineers, to relocate the new bridge in order to eliminate the dangerous curve at the bridge entrance on the south bank of the creek.

On Saturday the location and entire surroundings were surveyed. From this survey the plans are being made and as soon as completed, which will probably be within a week, the County Commissioners will advertise for bids. This advertising according to law, will require twenty-one days.

Upon receipt of the bids, the contract will be awarded and work on same must begin immediately.

The County Commissioners are making every effort to relieve the residents and all others who so frequently use this bridge, of the inconvenience of traveling several miles extra in getting to town.

The Iron Bridge across the stream creek, several miles down stream which was also washed away, is rapidly being replaced and will be open to traffic in the very near future.

Open Post Office Bids

ROHRERSTOWN CONTRACTOR IS LOW ON THE NEW BUILDING TO BE ERRECTED HERE - LANCASTER FIRM NEXT

Last Thursday was the time set for the opening of the bids Washington, D. C., for the erection of a new post office building for Mount Joy.

Robert C. Reitz, Rohrerstown, submitted the lowest bid which was $24,998.

Other bids include Wohlson's Sons, Lancaster, $24,998 and Hadley Company of Philadelphia, $25,200.

A Department representative was in town last week looking for a temporary location for the postoffice until the completion of the new building. He inspected the Harry Nissley property across the street from the park and the vacancy at Harry Thomas' restaurant, on West Main street.

Our Suggestion Why not move the present post office building, contents and all, "as is" to the rear of the park, between the Council Chamber and the Reed property, and do business there until the completion of the new building.

THE THREE MILE STRETCH FROM FALMOUTH TO MIDDLETOWN IS WONDERFUL PIECE OF WORK—DEDICATION NOV. 3

The Falmouth-Middletown link of the river road was thrown open to traffic last Tuesday, following completion of a $100,000 State Highway Department project between the two points.

The three-mile stretch was macadamized and major changes involved the elimination of steep grades and curves, notably the Red Hill grade, and the erection of a modern concrete bridge at Falmouth to replace a one-way structure. The river road now is improved from Middletown to the Maryland state line.

A formal dedication has been set for Saturday, November 3rd, by the Susquehanna River Road Association, an organization formed in 1922 to advocate the river road improvements. William Mundorf, Bainbridge, is the chairman of a dedication committee which meets today at Bainbridge to perfect plans for the ceremony in which Governor Pinchot and other State officials will be invited to participate.

With Harvey Ebersole's Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ebersole entertained the following guests on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Metzler and son Irvin, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Metzler and daughters, Minnie and Martha; Mrs. Amanda Good and daughter Katie and son Clayton, all of town; Mr. and Mrs. John Becker and son Norman of Back Run; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Becker and children, Rhoda and Clarence, of near East Petersburg, and Mrs. Annie Geyer, of Florin.
