What Will Answer Be

Testing children with tuberculin is one of the important modern methods of fighting tuberculosis.

The boy is shown receiving the harmless skin test which tells whether the germs of tuberculosis are lodged in the body. If the answer is "Yes" the boy will be x-rayed to discover if any damage is apparent in the lungs. If so, steps will be taken to prevent any further development and to learn if he is living with someone who has the disease.

This protection of children is an important preventive measure and is one of the chief responsibilities of tuberculosis societies whose work is financed by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Turkeys Dressed Two Ways
Turkeys are dressed in two ways on Pennsylvania farms. In blood and feather dressing, the turkeys are bled and their feathers removed. In full dressing the feathers, head, feet, and entrails are removed and the giblets are cleaned and placed with the giblets.

The Lutheran Christmas services will begin at 6:30 A. M. Christmas morning, Dec. 25th, with an early morning matin service. At 2:30 the Primary department will present their entertainment, and in the evening a splendid program has been prepared.

When the Types Go Wrong
An editor probably gets more blame for a mistake than anyone on earth. A little typographical error can cause more fuss than a jackass in a tin barn.

ADVERTISEMENTS Must Be Seen and Read

Every advertiser likes to believe that his advertising will be seen—will be read.

But how many readers of a given medium actually read the ads? How many, for that matter, even so much as see them?

Circulation figures, milline rate computations, however, impressive, do not provide the answers.

The clue is in time. Meaning—the more time the reader gives to the reading of a publication the greater the certainty that he will see the ads—and read them.

Recently, O. B. Winters, vice-president, Erwin Washey & Co., said: "I know from experience that a good country weekly is read from cover to cover by literally every one in the community it serves."

Why? The answer is—time. Country newspaper readers find the time to read their local papers. They can be depended upon to see ads—and read them.

People never read a large daily paper as carefully or as thoroughly as they do a good weekly.

Let us serve you in placing your advertising where it is read.
