passed the two vehicles at the Woodjan.16-1t-p side Stock Farm. The first witness for the defense was Samuel J. Studenroth, civil engineer, Keller, G..... who made a survey of the highway near the underpass. Samuel Whittle, Jr., one of the defendants, said his home is in Philadelphia and he is plant manager of the Ready Mixed Concrete Company, Lancaster. He said the truck involved in the accident was rented from the York Concrete Company to haul concrete to a Joy and Milton Grove.

He said the truck, driven by Fryberer, broke down and after being repaired started for Lancaster. He said he saw the truck at the "Posev Patch" near Salunga about 4:30 o'clock and he told Fryberger to start for Lancaster believing that the truck could reach there before dark.

The acetylene tank of the truck was dry and he did not know where to get new supply for the lights, he stated. Fryberger and Whittle were both equitted of involuntary manslaughter harges by the jury in a verdict handed in yesterday, but they were ordered to pay the costs.

camped near Bainbridge during the Civil war. These soldiers, however, never saw active service. His father, Daniel Schroll, later moved from Bainbridge to near Richfield, Juniata Co., where the family resided for a number of years. Later Jacob Schroll moved to Lancaster County, living in one of the late J. D. Cameron properties, at Donegal

Springs. Here he was engaged in farming when he moved Mount Joy. Next he was employed by the late Jno. E. Longenecker, was then extensively engaged in lumber business. Mr. Schroll ssisted in razing a number of well nown tracts of woodland thruout his section namely, Detwiler's woods ear town, in which colored campeetings were very popular; the late Peter Nissley woods along the Donegal road, and others. When M. A. Rollman started the ollman Manufacturing Co. here Mr. Schroll was one of his first employes end later when Mr. Rollman organzed the New Standard Hardware Works he was again in his employ until he retired from strenuous ac-ivities some years ago. When his health permits, and it is sually good, he spends his time as aretaker at "The Springs" at the outheastern boro limits.

Mr. Schroll is at present the oldes ale resident in town. Unfortunately e has been indisposed since the day receding his birthday.
