

Feed Grain to Cows
When the cows are first turned on pasture, grain should be fed at the same rate as when they are on dry feed. Grass is a bulky feed containing about 70 to 90 per cent water, depending upon its maturity.

Makes Weeds Grow
The more a lawn is disturbed in the spring by raking, the better will be the chances for a good crop of weeds, especially crabgrass.

Primitive Eskimo Races
Greatest of Toy Makers
While toys apparently are common to the human race in all climes and all ages, it is among the Eskimos and the nomad peoples of northern Siberia that the greatest profusion of playthings is found associated with primitive peoples, according to the Smithsonian Institution.

One of the Institution's choicest toy collections is from the desolate St. Lawrence island in Bering sea, from the lowest habitation level supposedly occupied by early migrants of the Eskimo race from Asia. Even in this remote antiquity there are plenty of playthings—miniature sleds, kayaks, harpoon heads, etc., illustrative of the activities of the elders.

With the successive habitation layers the profusion of toys increases and delicately carved ivory replaces wood. There are great numbers of ivory dogs, bears, foxes, and especially, different varieties of swimming birds. Numerous human figures also are found. These ivory pieces were used in a curious sort of dice game which still survives and apparently has been played by the children for many generations.

An even greater profusion of toys is found among the eastern Eskimo of Greenland and the Hudson bay region, both contemporaneously and in archeological deposits.—Boston Globe.

ETOWN COLLEGE OFFERS 5 $800 FREE SCHOLARSHIPS

The Board of Trustees of Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pa., recently voted to award five free scholarships of eight hundred dollars each to high school seniors. These scholarships will be awarded to the successful entrants in a competitive examination to be held in the auditorium-gymnasium, Elizabethtown College, on Saturday, May 11, at nine o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

All graduates of first-class high schools are eligible for the scholarships provided they have done no additional work in a higher institution of learning. The examination will consist of a general intelligence test and achievement test. Only those are expected to take the examination who desire to attend Elizabethtown College in case they win scholarships. Admission blanks for entrance to the examination may be secured by writing to President R. W. Schlosser, Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania. Within a week after the examination the successful entrants will be notified by letter and their names published in the local newspapers.

These scholarships will give free tuition throughout the four years in college. By this means Elizabethtown College will make it possible for a small group of talented young people to secure a college education at little cost.

Ancient Dura or Syria Ruins Date to 280 B. C.

The ancient ruins of Dura in what is now Syria was the outlying post of Graeco-Roman civilization and existed from about 280 B. C. to about 256 A. D. It was first a Macedonian colony of Alexander's general, Nicanor, and received its Greek culture on a basis of Semitic population attracted from the desert to the security of its walls. It was the connecting link in the caravan trade that wound up the Euphrates valley from Babylonia and the east to the Mediterranean. For 1 1/2 centuries as a Macedonian city, Dura was taken over by the Parthians, the powerful rivals of the Romans; was later seized by the Romans and incorporated in the Roman empire by Marcus Aurelius. It finally fell under the advance of the New Persia of the Sassanians, and then was abandoned to the sands of the desert. It had already endured nearly 600 years, and when Julian the Apostate passed its ruins, beneath them lay records of five civilizations.

Dura was a melting pot of religions. Babylonian, Syrian, Persian, Arabian, Greek, Roman and Christian religious edifices were built in the city and each season of excavation brings to light many valuable additions to the knowledge of these ancient religions and civilization.—New York Herald Tribune.

Heat Lizards

The idea regarding heat lizards, which are seen living in ovens and running around inside the oven when the oven door is open, is a myth which is due to a misunderstanding regarding the nature and habits of the salamander, plus an optical illusion. The salamander was formerly supposed to be impervious to fire and actually live in ovens. This idea was undoubtedly caused by the fact that these amphibians occasionally crawl into houses in the winter time in search of warmth and seek refuge in hearths. The misconception was further heightened by the brilliant orange or scarlet color of some species. As a matter of fact, neither the salamander nor any other animal is impervious to fire, and the so-called heat lizards are entirely an optical illusion.—Washington Star.

Porcelain Tower of Nanking

The Porcelain Tower of Nanking was designed by the Emperor Yung-lo (1403-28) on a previously sacred site to commemorate the virtues of his mother. It was begun in 1413 and destroyed during the Taping rebellion. The tower was 148 feet high, its outer walls about 260 feet high, its outer walls faced with the finest white porcelain bricks. Each of the nine stories in which the building was divided was marked by overhanging eaves of green glazed tiles.

Gypsum

Gypsum, a white, rock-like mineral, on heating gives plaster of paris, which is easily converted back into gypsum by the addition of water. This process makes possible the manufacture of relatively thin sheets of gypsum of any size which, because of their lightness and insulating properties, are quite useful for wallboards and roofing. Mixed with suitable binding materials, gypsum is a competitor of concrete for certain kinds of flooring.

A General Ship

A general ship is one which has been advertised by the owners to take goods from a particular port at a particular time, and which is not under any special contract to particular merchants. If the owners of a general ship have advertised her as bound for a particular port, they must give notice to every person who may ship goods on board, of any alteration in her destination, and they will be liable for the consequences of neglecting to do so.

Circular Rainbows

Rainbows appear as complete circles only to observers at a considerable elevation above the earth, from the top of a mountain or from an airplane or balloon, and most usually when the sun is near the horizon. A circular rainbow produced by mist or spray may be seen by an observer at ordinary elevations. Darwin describing in his "Voyage of the Beagle" such a spray rainbow seen during a storm off the coast of Chile.

Ford's 35 Million In Sight

SALES WILL REACH 500,000 UNITS BY END OF APRIL ALL-TIME RECORD SET IN THE MATERIAL PURCHASES DURING MARCH

Detroit, April 19—Figures released today by the Ford Motor Co. tend to prove that the projection of the founder of the company made last year—1,000,000 cars and trucks in 1935—wasn't a wild guess on his part. Providing demand holds up as anticipated, it is expected at Dearborn that the goal will be reached as predicted.

This anticipation is based on returns made by W. C. Cowling, general sales manager, which show that in the first quarter of this year and up to April 10, Ford sales had totaled 334,437 cars and trucks. By the end of the month, Dearborn does not hesitate to say, the company will have produced better than 500,000—four months' production.

One can better appreciate the pace at which Ford has been going this year by comparing the sales from Jan. 1 to April 10 with what was done in entire year of 1932, when the count was 328,807 for the entire month. This count includes both cars and trucks, of course.

As demonstrating the activity at Dearborn this spring, the Ford Co. also announces that an all-time record in the purchase of materials and supplies was set in March when bills totaled $181,000,000. The best previous high mark was reached in April 1930 when the company's purchases totaled $78,000,000. And in this same month the Ford payroll totaled $16,500,000.

Some idea of the physical proportions of these purchases may be obtained from the fact that during March a railroad freight movement through the Rouge plant yards totaled 34,955 freight cars. This was 11 per cent greater than the all-time record set in the previous month of 31,500 freight cars.

The last previous high for freight movement was in April, 1930, when 29,500 cars passed through the Rouge yards. The records during the past five years show that approximately 80 per cent of all freight movement in and out of the Ford plants throughout the United States is by rail.

St. Augustine, Oldest City in United States

St. Augustine is the oldest city in the United States. It has preserved relics of its antiquity with impressive dignity. Don Pedro Menendez landed there at the mouth of the Matanzas river on September 8, 1565. Life in the little colony consisted of a series of battles with Indians and with corsairs. Sir Francis Drake and his English fleet of 26 vessels attacked, sacked, and burned the settlement in 1586.

Standing and in good state of preservation in that ancient city is Fort Marion, built in 1750 and said to be the oldest fortress in the United States, notes a writer in the Chicago Tribune. It is maintained as a national monument operated by the St. Augustine Historical society.

The structure is of coquina, a dark gray rock peculiar to this vicinity. The walls, rising 25 feet from a moat, are rectangular with a bastion at each corner. On the northeast bastion is a watch tower 25 feet high.

Guides take visitors through case-ments, chambers, off a courtyard 103 feet by 100 feet. One of these, not much bigger than a clothes closet and devoid of any source of ventilation when the door is closed, was described as an execution chamber—execution by suffocation. "Doctors have estimated that a man can live here for only 12 hours before exhausting the air," said the guide.

Hypnotism Used by Fish

Something very like hypnotism is employed by the strange tropical zebra fish in attracting victims for its dinner, says Popular Mechanics. It is equipped with many feelers which wave gracefully to and fro in the water but prey. So the striped fish approaches its victims slowly, waving its streamers to attract attention. Apparently smaller fish are fascinated by the feelers and allow the zebra fish to come close. Then there is a gulp and the little fish is gone.

World's Longest Fence

The boundary line between Norway and Finland, for the most part imaginary except for stone markers, is to be fenced as a means of keeping flocks of domesticated reindeer from wandering back and forth over the line, causing trouble between adjoining landowners. Longest fence ever built, unless the Chinese wall could be called a fence, it will be about 250 miles in length. It is to be built of iron poles and barbed wire.—Capper's Weekly.

No Brakes Needed

The confidence expressed by inventors of perpetual motion machines has always been pathetic. Up to a few years ago, writes E. T. Smith, Huntington, West Virginia, in Collier's Weekly, many of these impossible devices which were received in the patent offices of both the United States and Great Britain were equipped with brakes so that they could, at need, be stopped.

Development of Parachute

The first serious development of an American parachute took place at Mead's field under the engineering division of the United States army in 1910. Dummies were used until a satisfactory type of parachute, an improvement on those used from balloons, was evolved.

Friend to Jeweler—Aren't you afraid to leave a lot of diamonds in your window unprotected?
Jeweler—No, not with my scheme. Before I go home at night I put a sign on them which says: Nothing in the window over 10 cents.

Particular Diner (after altering his choice several times): Yes, waiter, I'll have mutton chops and chip potatoes.
Fed-up Waiter—Yes sir. Which tastes. And make the chops lean, way, sir?

There is no better way to boost your business than by local newspaper advertising.
