RUMOR FORD TESTING DIESEL ENGINE IN AUTO
Edgewater, N. J., Persistent reports that a new Ford automobile with a four-cylinder diesel engine was undergoing secret tests at the local plant of the Ford Motor Company circulated through this town today.
Local Ford officials refused to discuss the reports.
The car, it was reported, is being developed to meet competition of a new and cheap Japanese car scheduled to be marketed next January. The competition, it was said, was anticipated in foreign and not domestic trade.
The car, according to the reports, will attain a speed of seventy miles an hour, and will yield thirty miles on a gallon of fuel oil which sells for six cents a gallon. It will be marketed, it was said, at approximately $300.

ELABORATE PROGRAM PLANNED FOR AUTOMOBILE CLUB PICNIC

Plans for the annual picnic of the Lancaster Automobile Club, to be held at Hershey Park, Hershey, on Thursday, July 25, are nearing completion. An all-day program, with features of interest to young and old is being arranged.

Band concerts will be held at the open-air theatre of the park both morning and afternoon. A baseball game, a get-together meeting with talks by State and National leaders of organized motordom, and the awarding of 100 prizes will be among the features of the afternoon program.

For children up to 12 years there will be free strip tickets, entitling them to souvenirs, admission to the zoo and rides on various park amusements. In the evening the electric fountains will be displayed and there will be a free dance in the spacious ballroom of the park, with music by Ira Bowman's orchestra.

Lancaster city and county dealers will co-operate in staging a big summer show of latest automobiles as a feature of the Club picnic. This show, which promises to be larger and better than the one at the 1934 picnic, will be held in the center of the park near the bandstand. More than fifty models, representing practically every line of automobile sold in Lancaster county, will be on display.

Among the other features will be the park zoo, the swimming pool, the golf course, and the numerous amusements. The public is cordially invited to attend the picnic.

LIKE FROG LEGS? WAIT FOR JULY 2

Frog legs, perhaps the greatest delicacy afforded by the inland waters, should grace many family tables this year in Pennsylvania following opening of the season on July 2, according to Fish Commission officials. The season closes on October 31, both dates inclusive. Twenty-five is the catch limit for one day, and fifty for the season.

Bullfrogs are to be found on most warm water and some trout streams. While much of their food consists of insect life along the streams a big frog will strike and swallow any moving creature of not too great a size. Like certain species of game fishes, the black bass for instance, frogs are cannibalistic by nature, gorging themselves on their own young at every opportunity.

They may be legally taken in the daytime by shooting, fishing with a treble hook draped with red flannel or similar methods. Use of an artificial light or spearing is forbidden.

People Think Nation Has Been On Detour Long Enough

The recently handed down decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the NRA case has focused attention on the fact that the Federal Constitution gives the Federal Government only certain clearly defined powers. The entry of Government into the business of generating and distributing electricity, either directly or in the TVA project or indirectly through loans and grants through the PWA does not appear to be included in those powers.

The apparent unconstitutionality of these and other Government-fostered projects in which the money of the taxpayers was to be used (and has already been used to the tune of many millions of dollars) in competition with private industry, has resulted in a cessation of activities in Administration circles and right now there is much scurrying around to set what steps are to be taken to untangle the mess.

Meanwhile public sentiment is increasingly growing in opposition to the further hampering of private business by the Government. More and more the people are demanding that privately-owned and privately-managed industry be freed from Government bureau restraint and given the opportunity to speed the day of recovery. The people want to get back on the road along which the nation marched to its position as a world leader. The detour has been long and rough enough.

LANDISVILLE

Mrs. Morris Kauffman entertained her Sunday School class Saturday. Those present were: Mrs. Benj. Bender, Mrs. Eli Mumma, Mrs. Annie Mourer, Mrs. Amos Breneman, Mrs. Abram Breneman, Mrs. Henry Gamber, Mrs. Frank Eshleman, Mrs. Jacob Habecker, Mrs. Laura Longenecker, Miss Mayme Bala, Mrs. Miss Susie Nissley, Mrs. Elmer Lehman, and daughter, Janet and Mrs. Morris Kauffman.

Cut Lawn Grass High
The lawn mower should be set to cut the grass one and one-half inches or higher. The clippings should be allowed to remain. Lawns managed this way will have better color, thicker turf, and will retain more moisture.

Enjoy Family Picnics
The picnic can be made a family affair with the various members sharing the work as well as the fun. Picnics can be planned with or without a fire for cooking the food at the site.

Fertilize Strawberries
A large number of plants developed during the first growing season have a direct bearing on possible profitable yields the next season. Plenty of fertilizer will help to grow these desired plants.

Middle-West Not Yet a Wilderness
IN spite of the warning by H. H. Bennett, director of soil erosion for the United States Department of the Interior, that great areas in the dust storm belt of the west may be turned into deserts, and the prediction of Rexford G. Tugwell, Under-Secretary of Agriculture, that unless the Administration's land program was carried out the Middle West would become as barren as the interior of China, the middle western farmers do not seem to have taken alarm.

When the latter made his meaning clear by telling an imaginary story of an explorer of 2235 A.D. who finds the Mississippi Valley a dusty, uninhabited desert, William Allen White, the Kansas philosopher, expressed the farmers' state of mind when he said: "Prophecy is always a major blunder in politics and it is even a greater blunder to match futurity with folly. So let Tugwell have it his own way—for neither of us will be here to laugh at the other's blunders."

Corn in Great Demand
Because of its importance as an energy food, and the danger of a repetition of the damage wrought by drought to last year's crops, corn is now in great demand. Last year's plentiful pack of corn will make it possible, however, for housewives to stock up so that they will have an adequate supply on hand.

Canned corn can be used in a variety of ways besides being served as a vegetable. It makes very delicious corn fritters and the cream-style corn is well adapted to corn puddings, to soups and to many kinds of corn breads. Try these:

Corn Cakes: Beat two eggs well, add one-half cup sour milk, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one cup canned corn. Sift together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, and add. Add one tablespoon melted butter. Fry in small cakes on a hot griddle. Serve with pork sausage and gravy or with maple syrup.

Alaska Breaks Its Own Record Cans More Salmon Than In The Peak Year 1926

HOUSEWIVES will be glad to hear that the largest annual amount of canned salmon ever produced in Alaska has just been reported to the Bureau of Fisheries, Department of Commerce. The total pack of 7,481,830 cases of all species of salmon, shows an increase of 2,256,226 cases over the 1933 pack and exceeds the largest previous pack, that of 1926, by over 800,000 cases.

The following sentence from the report will also be of interest to housewives who have a preference for a particular species of salmon: "With the exception of kings, which declined 10 per cent, all species showed increases over the 5-year average, as follows: cohoes, about 20 per cent; chums, 6 per cent; pinks, 47 per cent; and reds, 54 per cent."

Substitute for High-Priced Meat
Added importance is given to this news item, because of the fact that with the present shortage of two and a half billion pounds of meat in America, the price of meat has risen 41.5% since February 1933, according to a report of the United States Department of Commerce. Owing to its high protein content, the alternative to high-priced meat is fish, so the present abundance of salmon is expected to reduce household food budgets to a considerable extent.

Fish has been found of vital importance in the diet, not only for its protein content but also for its tendency to ward off anemia, goitre, rickets and other ills. Salmon is the richest fish consumed in the greatest quantity. After it come tuna, sardines, mackerel, clams and oysters.

Fish is the easiest of all flesh foods to digest because it contains no gristle, tough muscle or connective tissue, which are difficult to masticate and resistant to digestive juices. Fish flesh is tender because fish do not have to support their body weight, but, instead, are buoyed up by the water in which they swim. They require no heavy bony framework or tough sinews and strong muscles to support them. At this season of the year, when easily digestible foods are in demand, this fact is of particular importance.

This unusually large pack of salmon, at low prices, affords an opportunity for housewives to cut their food costs and at the same time serve a variety of delicious dishes, for salmon has a wide variety of uses.

Smart New Ways With Salmon
Salads and sandwiches, particularly in demand at this season, are attractive as well as delicious when made with salmon. The current use of cream, instead of lettuce, gives a pleasing color contrast with salmon and also enhances its taste in salads, sandwiches and canapés.

Smart ways of preparing baked and scalloped salmon for the main dish of the meal are constantly being devised by dietitians, owing to the demand of modern hostesses for these healthful and delicious dishes. Most of these require only the addition of a savory sauce, such as Hollandaise, Bechamel or Maitre d'Hotel sauce, and a few minutes in the oven.

Tuna fish is also delectable prepared with these sauces, baked in the oven and topped with grated cheese to add color and distinctive flavor. Many housewives are now stocking up with a plentiful supply of salmon, while the prices are low, and also adding sufficient tuna to vary the fish menus.

FORCING POTTED PLANTS
Those mysterious plants, such as the tulip, hyacinth, lily and narcissus which refuse so persistently to be forced into early bloom, are ever a puzzle to the housewife who tries so hard to reproduce natural conditions. But the truth is that natural conditions are not usually reproduced. When bulbs are planted in pots and put immediately into hot, sunny rooms they have had no time to form the necessary root systems. In nature's process this is done during the early spring months when the weather is still fairly cold. To imitate this spring season it is necessary to plant the bulbs in their containers and after watering place them in a dark, damp cellar where the temperature stays at about 32 to 40 degrees. After from three to six weeks the pots should be placed near a cellar window where they will get some sun before exposing them to the full glare and heat of the living room. If there is no cellar or other similar place of storage, in which such conditions exist, the attempts to force any of the plants are pretty apt to fail.
