

Has To Have Bicycle - So He Swaps Steam Roller!

It was a sample of steam roller tactics in one regard, but a good example of perseverance in another sense. Donald Johnston, 11, of Albany, Ore., wanted a bicycle. He had no money, no job. He espied a steam roller that stood idle for years, and approached its owner to see about working to acquire it. The owner gave the steam roller to Donald. The lad then visited all stores in town until he found a bicycle that suited him—then he swapped his steam roller for it. Which proves boys will be boys.

CLEVER PROPAGANDA FROM NEW DEAL HEADQUARTERS

It is increasingly becoming apparent that there has been studied effort on the part of the New Deal planners to keep from the public any appreciation of the almost unlimited powers which various bills originating from that group, would give Federal agencies to regulate, control and in essential aspects even manage all sorts of projects without any direct responsibility to the taxpayers. A moments glance will disclose how cleverly these New Deal managers bid for support of their plans. Just at the present time when communities everywhere are exerting efforts to secure their share of the billions which the Government is distributing for various projects; news announcements from Washington quite casually carry the statement that the securing of the money for the projects is "dependent upon the passage of legislation pending in the General Assembly (at Harrisburg), enabling the county to participate in the Federal Work Relief Fund."

Travel Economies Threatened By Upward Trend Of Taxation

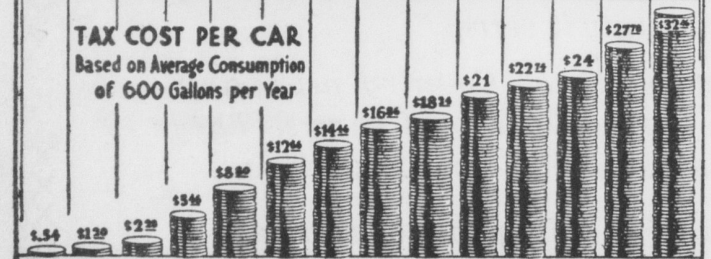

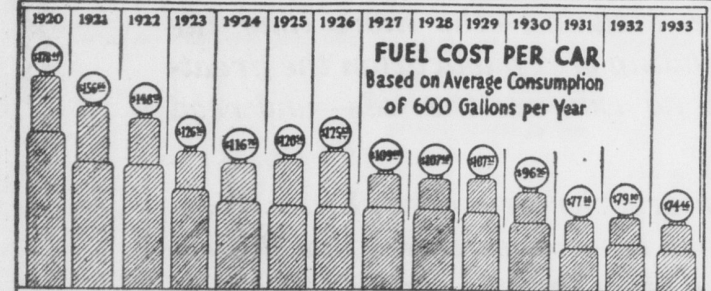

Chart shows how average motorist, consuming 600 gallons of motor fuel yearly in travelling the highways, pays less than half as much for the gasoline as he did in 1920, but 80 times as much in taxes!

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A recent survey of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, revealing that the average motorist consumes 600 gallons of gasoline yearly, has led to the disclosure that fuel costs of about $75 a year are increased more than $32 by federal and state gasoline taxes!

Studies of fuel and tax costs, made by the American Petroleum Industries Committee, clearly show that since 1920 the average price of motor fuel has been reduced 60 per cent, while taxes on that fuel have increased about 6,000 per cent. In other words, taxation is tending to eliminate one of the greatest assets of highway travel, economy. The studies show that in 1920 the average motorist paid $178.44 for the entire year's supply of gasoline. In 1933 the supply cost him only $74.46. However, while gasoline taxes cost him only $46 for the year 1920, in 1933 they cost him $32.46! The findings are supported by a recent report of the Federal Trade Commission stating that: "The combined rate of state and federal sales tax on gasoline, ranging from 3c per gallon in some states to 8c in others, amounts to an average of about 5.15c per gallon and costs the consumers of gasoline approximately $700,000,000 a year." Federal and state levies upon gasoline now constitute an average sales tax of more than 40 per cent.

Moon-shaped slices of Honey Dew melon set in lime-flavored gelatin, and spiced with mint is just about a perfect combination for any of these occasions. I serve Minted Honey Dew with small, lightly frosted, cakes and tall glasses of iced, minted tea. It makes a Hottentot feel as cool as an Esquimau.

Minted Honey Dew
1 package lime-flavored gelatin; 1 cup warm water; 1 teaspoon chopped mint leaves; 1 cup minced honey dew melon.
Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Add mint leaves. Prepare melon and add. Strain mixture through very fine sieve. Turn into individual molds. Chill. Serve as a dessert, or as salad on crisp lettuce, with mayonnaise. Serves 4.

TEETH and HEALTH

By Dr. J. M. WISAN
Chairman, Council on Mouth Hygiene
New Jersey State Dental Society

CHILDREN'S TEETH

THROUGH the combined efforts of the Relief Administration, the State Department of Public Instruction and the State Dental Society, it has been possible to provide dental treatment for approximately 60,000 indigent school children in New Jersey and at the same time study dental conditions among children.

The examination of these children, as they applied for treatment, indicated that 74 per cent of them had never had a tooth filled. It may be taken for granted that a great number of these children had never obtained proper dental treatment because their parents could not pay for it. But dentists operating on this project state that a considerable number of these children came from families who, before the depression, were in good financial circumstances.

It may therefore be frankly stated that a considerable number of the parents did not realize the value of filling children's teeth. Certainly they did not make a strenuous effort to provide for it.

This is too bad—for a filling inserted during the early stages of decay offers the most practicable solution for many dental ailments. "The small hole of today is the abscess of tomorrow."

Declare freedom from tooth ailments, advises Dr. Wisan in a Fourth of July message next week.

Now.. Choose the back seat for a real treat

Riding in the back seat of the 1935 Ford V-8 is one of the most enjoyable experiences you can have in an automobile today. Your weight rests in front of the rear axle instead of over it. You are cradled on a 123-inch springbase, between softer, more flexible springs. You sit on deeper, softer cushions. Road shocks are erased. Sidesway is reduced to almost nothing.

But comfort is not confined to the rear seat. The compact V-8 engine has been moved forward making still more leg room for every one. A new clutch and new brakes, requiring less pedal pressure, make driving easier.

Say the word and we'll send this car around for you to ride in and drive. Just drop in or telephone.
