Dr. J. P. Ziegler

was a charter member of Caspiana Lodge No. 551, F. and A. M. of Mount Joy and was past master of the lodge.

Dr. Ziegler was a member of the executive committee of the Donegal Society and attended the annual meetings regularly until confined by illness. The Donegal society was one of his favorite organizations and he gave it much time. He was an elder in the Donegal Presbyterian church.

He was educated in the schools of Mount Joy and was graduated at Lafayette college in 1871 with the degree of A. B., later receiving an M. A. degree. He took an engineering course at Miami University and was graduated in 1874 with the C. E. degree.

WORKED ON Q & C. R. R.

During the next few years he was engaged in engineering work and helped to locate the route for the Queen and Crescent railroad, from Cincinnati to New Orleans. The engineering corps lacked a physician and Dr. Ziegler, being the son of a physician, was called upon to help men injured during work.

Later he went to Panama, where he expected to secure a new engineering project, but when he discovered that the work would not start for a year, he returned to Lancaster county and decided to study medicine at the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania, thinking that he might be called upon to render medical aid in Panama.

The Panama expedition did not materialize and he returned to Mount Joy, upon completion of his course at the University medical school in 1880 and practiced with his father. From that time on he practiced medicine in Lancaster county. Shortly before he went to the Masonic Homes, he became associated with Dr. Theodore B. Appel, of Lancaster, and practiced in his office while the latter was serving as Pennsylvania secretary of health.

Member of Fraternities

Dr. Ziegler held the unusual distinction of being a member of two college undergraduate fraternities. At Lafayette he was a charter member of Sigma Chi and at Miami a charter member of Alpha Delta Phi. He continued to hold membership in both fraternities during his lifetime. Only a few men in the country have held membership in two fraternities.

He was a member and former president of the Lancaster City and County Medical Societies and held membership in the Medical Society of Pennsylvania and the American Medical Association.

He was a member and former president of the Lincoln Club and was the last surviving member of his family. He was a nephew of the late Judge D. W. Patterson, one-time president judge of the Lancaster county courts.

He was one of the few remaining persons who heard Lincoln speak. According to reminiscences which he wrote and which are now owned by C. E. Martin, of the Litzitz pike, he heard the great war president deliver a short address, when his train, on which he was riding to Washington for his inaugural, stopped at Mount Joy, in 1861.

PRESENT DAY HOUSEWIVES PROUD OF THEIR KITCHENS

Time was, not so very long ago, that few of the women folks were very proud of their kitchens. Callers seldom, if ever, were invited into the kitchens. While efforts were made to beautify other rooms of the house, it was seldom that any great attention in that direction was given to the "kitchens. They were workshops, pure and simple where hours of toil and drudgery were spent—a place from which the homemakers fled at the earliest opportunity.

Quite in contrast with that picture is the modern electric kitchen of today with its cheerful decorations and spick and span ranges, refrigerators and other appliances. So proud are many housewives of their modern kitchens that more often than not, in these days, guests are entertained at night lunches where electric grilles, electric refrigerators, electric mixers and other appliances are all within easy reach saving many a step and many a minute as compared with the old days when entertaining company meant much scurrying around with napery, glassware, cutlery, china, etc., all of which resulted in lots of work cleaning up after the guests of the evening had departed.

For the housewife contemplating the gradual electrification of her kitchen the Home Economics department of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company offers, without charge or other obligation, the services of trained women who may be consulted for suggestions covering an endless variety of details interesting to the home makers.

The 8th Reist Reunion On Saturday

Garber of Mount Joy, who also was in charge of a ladies' chorus which rendered several selections.

The devotional service was in charge of Henry F. Garber of Mount Joy.

The Reist family has become scattered over the United States and some of the members had become lost and were hunted up by Henry Reist Kraybill, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry at Purdue University, who presented an interesting resume of his work in an article, "Hunting up relatives in Indiana."

Warren Reist of Williamsville, N. Y., a descendant of John Reist who was born in Lancaster County about 1800, "When the peach trees were in bloom," and moved in the early part of the century to Western New York, read a paper on their early life in Erie County. He quoted from Homer in "The Race of Man."

"Like leaves on trees the race of man is found;
Now green in youth, now withering to the ground;
Another race the following spring supplies;
They fall successive, and successive rise;
So generations in their course decay,
So flourish these when those are passed—
ad."

"An old chest" was the subject of an interesting paper by Mrs. Henry G. Reist of Schenectady, N. Y. This is one of the painted chests formerly made in Lancaster and adjoining counties, which have become noted for their artistic qualities, and some of which are on exhibition at the Metropolitan Art Museum in New York City. This chest has the name of Christian Reist and the date 1790 painted on the outside in front.

The well known banker and historian of Mount Joy, Harry N. Nissly, wrote an amusing, historical paper on some foibles of members of the Reist family. In absence of the writer this was ably presented by Miss Anna Mae Eby of Mount Joy.

Mr. William R. Pruner of Norwalk, Ohio, gave a talk which was enjoyed by the whole audience, about his grandfather Peter Reist, who emigrated from Lebanon County to Ohio about 10 years ago. Peter Reist brought up a large family of boys and one daughter. The daughter married a college president, and the boys scattered over the United States and Europe. A favorite son, "Uncle Bennie," in his business made frequent trips to Europe and due to his resemblance to president Wilson was frequently mistaken for that noted person and was followed on the streets by crowds in consequence. Another son Jacob went to Honolulu and became a secretary to the last king of the Hawaiian Islands.

Another group of Reists settled in the neighborhood of Schaefferstown, Lebanon County, Irving Reist, Elizabethtown, Pa., is one of the descendants of this branch and a member of a family of teachers, and was able to give an interesting account of their history.

Ann Reist Baird, who formerly lived in this county, and who is serving as a missionary in Chairyung, Korea, since 1926, sent greetings from her distant post, which were read by her cousin, Miss Maribel Reist of Lancaster. At her request Psalms 96 was also read.

"Life in Texas" was written by H. Frank Reist, who has lived there for the past fifteen years. His father, John B. Reist of near Litzitz, Pa., 93 years of age, was the oldest person present at the reunion. He speaks of Texas as the land of sunshine, and a paradise for those who love the outdoor life the whole year through. He bids adieu with the words of the poem "My Texas."

"I'd rather live in Texas than in any other land,
There is no spot on earth so favored by God's hand.
'Twas there I learned that God is good from Nature's open book,
That love is everywhere, in everything, if we but look.
I love the air, I love the soil, I love the mellow breeze.
I love the busy droning of the bees among the trees,

I love the brilliant sunshine with its animating rays,
'The eerie moonlight in the night calls forth the lover's praise.
I love the hills, I love the vales, I love the rolling plains,
The spacious fields of cotton, the fruits, and golden grains
Combined to make a picture for a hungry heart to love.
But, best of all, I love the Texan, noble free and brave,
His 'Howdy, friend, my name is So-and-So, and yours?'
It puts you on good terms at once and confidence assures.
And they never say "Good-by" in Texas when fixing to depart,
'Tis "So Long" and "Hurry back." It flows right from the heart.
I've found that life is sweeter where folks try to understand,
That's why I'd rather live in Texas than in any other land."

H. Frank Eshleman, attorney of Lancaster, Pa., spoke of "The Reist Influence" in Europe on religious history of the people who later became settlers of our state.

A departure from the usual family reunions was made by several historical exhibits which included the Reist chest to which reference was made in the paper, a walnut saw buck table which is said to have been owned by Barbara Reist, who married Martin Nissley, who was mother of the family of Nissleys who recently held a reunion at Elizabethtown. There were also exhibited a number of family crests or coats of arms that belonged to the Swiss Reist family, although probably not with the family that settled in Pennsylvania.

The meeting was brought to a close by the audience singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and the benediction pronounced by Henry F. Garber.

The following were present: Mrs. Clayton N. Adair, Norman P. Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Bomberger, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob R. Carger, Amos E. Eilen and Lizzie Carger; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cassel, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Clay, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Conrad, Mrs. Amos Eby, Rhoda Eby, Mr. and Mrs. David Eby, Anna Mae, Mildred, Ruth and Vivian Eby; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Endors, H.
