

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME

Enlargements of long distance shots will often bring out the "action" detail of a football play (left). A shot from the side lines (right).

HOLD that line! Hold that line! Yes, football season is with us again with its excited, yelling crowds, rascally coats and joyous celebrations by supporters of the winning team.

What a paradise for the snapshot-shooter! He who goes to the game without his camera is missing a golden opportunity. Pictures of the game, the crowds in the grandstands and informal shots of his classmates and friends will furnish him many hours of pleasure year after year as he looks back through his snapshot album.

There are countless opportunities for interesting, story-telling pictures at football games. All you have to do is use a little imagination. When you are blocked in the grandstand and remark to the girl friend, "Gee, look at that line-up of cars and the crowd at the gate," don't stop with that—take a snapshot. Don't be satisfied with stepping out of the car and just snapping a straight line of cars standing on the bumper and shooting on the traffic and crowds. The results will be much more pleasing than the ordinary, conventional view.

The period before the start of the game offers further opportunities for unusual snapshots. For instance, take a picture from the top of the grandstand steps showing the crowds coming up the steps to their seats. A shutter speed of 1/50 of a second will stop the motion of the people as they walk directly toward your camera.

Stand on your seat and take a full view picture of the crowds in the grandstand and as you do this you may see some of your friends seated nearby. Attract their attention and as they wave with a cheer, "Hey, Bill," you can snap another interesting, story-telling picture. Even a chance, "blind" shot over your shoulder may bring unusual and pleasing results.

See today that your camera is ready for action, load it with film and leave for the game determined to get the kind of pictures you will be proud to show your friends.

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester, S.A.E. Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania

THE modern automobile battery is seldom a source of trouble to the careful motorist who gives it a little attention now and then. To the indifferent car owner, however, the battery may give troubles, which are all the more to be regretted, because they can be so easily avoided. The most important thing to remember about the battery merits repetition here. That is: keep the water level in the battery about one-half inch above the plates, and use only approved battery water. Insufficient water will cause the plates to buckle and will lead to the rapid ruin of the battery. Any service station will gladly supply the proper water, gratis.

You should also bear in mind that battery terminal connections should be tight and clean. Corrosion around the terminals is easily prevented by smearing around them a light coat of petroleum jelly. Service stations also provide this service. This should be done every month or two. The corrosion can be washed off with ordinary hot water. If you do it yourself, be careful not to get the deposit on your clothing.

From now on your battery will be forced to do more work, as starting will be more difficult in the cold weather, and you will have more use for your lights. So, make up your mind to give the little attention necessary to get maximum service from your battery.

20 Residents Appear About 20 residents of Florin appeared to protest the abolition plan. The commission barred introduction by the railroad of a petition which Hurlock said several hundred townspeople signed, advocating the crossing be closed. Cohen contended the railroad might have had its employees sign the plea.

James Eschbach of East Donegal township, in which Florin is situated, testified he signed the petition, but reconsidered. He agreed with Harry Whittle, a Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Francis Frank, A. G. Walters, George Shuman and W. H. Meyers that the crossing should be kept open.

E. L. Hoopes of Harrisburg, railroad division engineer, testified the crossing was dangerous. Its closing would not seriously inconvenience anyone, he said, because nearby is the Market street crossing, protected 24 hours a day by watchmen, and carrying most of the traffic.

Harry Heunstein, East Donegal township road supervisor, testified the Angle Street crossing was unsafe. Cohen sought to bring out, in cross-examination, that there were no fatalities at Angle Street in the past ten years, while a watchman was killed at Market Street.

W. S. T. Hurlock of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania railroad counsel, objected. Commissioner P. S. Stahlnecker sustained Hurlock's objection, and Cohen admitted the fact that no one was killed at Angle street did not indicate it was safer than Market street.

Our Farm Calendar

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Prevent Fire Losses—This is officially designated as Fire Prevention Week. Unofficially, every week should be just that. Exercising proper precautions will help to reduce the tremendous losses of life and property caused by blazes, large and small.

Breed Good Lamb Crop—Use of a good ram with well-conditioned ewes is a step in the right direction toward lamb crop profits. If the ram is handled properly he can be used safely with 40 to 50 ewes. The sheepman cannot afford to use an inferior sire.

Store Dahlias Carefully—After the dahlias tops are killed by frost they should be cut at the ground. A few days later the tubers can be dug. A cellar having a temperature of 40 to 45 degrees Fahrenheit is the most practical place for storage.

Avoid Cattle Poisoning—A number of plants poison cattle every year in Pennsylvania. Among these are poison hemlock, water hemlock, cow parsnip, wild black cherry, jimson weed, pokeweed, poison sumac, poison ivy, mountain laurel, black nightshade, and common horsetail.

Use Lights on Pullets—Commonly, the practice followed allows the early pullets to reach peak of production naturally and then when laying starts to drop the lights are used. The lights are used to check a drop in production rather than to stimulate abnormally high egg laying.

Control Storage Conditions—Properly controlled temperature, ventilation, and humidity are still considered the three main factors in producing satisfactory conditions for apple storage.
