Florin Trust Depositors Will Be Paid

(From Page 1)
The Union National Mount Joy Bank thereupon agreed to assume the liabilities of the Florin Trust Company to its depositors and to liquidate the assets transferred to it. From that time until July 1936, the Union National Mount Joy Bank, with the assistance of the liquidating trustees of the Florin Trust Company, has liquidated the assets transferred to it by The Florin Trust Company and liquidated them with such success that the Union National Mount Joy Bank has been repaid all the deposit liabilities which it assumed in July 1932, and has on hand approximately $80,000 of assets to be returned to liquidating trustees chosen by the stockholders of The Florin Trust Company, the stockholders will be paid a substantial dividend on account of their stock. This sets a record for the liquidation of the assets of a closed bank and reflects great credit upon the Union National Mount Joy Bank and the liquidating trustees of the Florin Trust Company. It also confirms the good judgment of the directors of The Florin Trust Company in transferring the assets of the Florin Trust Company to the Union National Mount Joy Bank in order to protect its depositors and to pay those depositors one hundred cents on the dollar, and also pay a substantial dividend to stockholders. John A. Coyle, Esq., represented the Union National Mount Joy Bank in the liquidation, and Bernard J. Myers, Esq., represented the trustees of the Florin Trust Company.

INDIANA DEATH TRAP TAKES YEARLY TOLL

EAST CHICAGO, Ind.—A death trap on the Sinclair Fly Farm here takes a yearly toll of thousands of insect lives. This death trap is a large, room-like structure in which Sinclair P. D. Insect Spray is tested for killing power on live insects. Here a measured sample from a given batch of P. D. must kill 1,000 insects before that batch is officially passed. When you buy Sinclair P. D. Insect Spray you know before hand that it has real killing power. These Fly Farm tests prove that.
