

Ancient Tree Sheltered Patriots

The famous "Witness Tree" in the yard of the Donegal Presbyterian Church, Lancaster County, still stands there today 160 years after the incident responsible for its name.

Donegal's Witness Tree Heard Vows Of Patriots

Harrisburg—Under the "Witness Tree" of Pennsylvania, tourists gather today where 150 years ago pioneer patriots assembled to swear loyalty to the new United States.

services were interrupted by a messenger who rode to the door and announced that the British would soon invade Pennsylvania.

Author Urges Parents To Help Children Marry

McEvoy Says "Yes" To Age-Old Question In Current Article; Rose Wilder Takes Negative Side Arguments.

The old but ever new question of whether parents should help their children marry before the children are financially able to support a home is the subject of a lively argument between two famous authors—J. P. McEvoy and Rose Wilder Lane—in the current issue of woman's day magazine.

in years but a child in experience. He has never done a man's work, and he is not equipped to take a man's place—but yet he is a man.

EYES JUMP 5 TIMES PER LINE

If your eyes jump more than five times as you read a line of ordinary newspaper type, then it is highly probable that you have a reading fault, Dr. Emmett A. Betts, research professor of education and head of the reading clinic at the Pennsylvania State College, maintains.
