EDITORIAL

WHAT IS HE AFRAID OF?

There must be something radically wrong or Governor Geo. H. Earle would not try to "turn heaven and earth" in an effort to prevent that grand jury investigation. When all previous efforts failed he indirectly threatened to call out the state militia to prevent its progress.

It is beginning to appear, not only to us but hundreds of others, that there must be something the Governor and "13 others" do not care to have made public.

Our impression is, if they are guilty they should be punished and if not they should be vindicated.

OUR FIRE LADDIES

Our Firemen deserve a lot of credit for the manner in which they do things. This was demonstrated at Middletown Saturday.

In competition with twenty-two of the leading fire companies throughout that section, they not only won first honors for the most men in line but in addition copped third prize for the best appearance.

It is quite a credit to any town for having such an able and ever willing corps of volunteer firemen.

May they succeed in winning future laurels.

PRESIDENT TAKES A HAND

The Administration's "purge" is definitely underway. The President has stated that he feels himself at liberty, being head of the Democratic Party, to take a hand in state primaries if he so desires. And according to all of the Washington correspondents, the purpose of his swing around the country was to endorse candidates he wants to see sent to Congress, and defeat those who have opposed his major policies.

The acid test seems to be the Judicial Reorganization proposal. Those who voted for it are considered good New Dealers by the Administration. Those who voted against it, irrespective of their records with respect to other legislation, are mostly in the dog house.

FOREIGNERS SHOW THE WAY

According to some of the experts, the upturn in the stock market was the result of a heavy, sudden influx of foreign money into American securities. Foreign capital, so the story goes, took the view that values were at extremely low levels, and that the market was a real bargain counter. The foreign financial invasion gave a surge of confidence to American investors, who began buying. Then the investment trusts, which had generally been out of the market for some time, waiting for what seemed the low point, stepped in and the major rise resulted. The gains have been generally held, with only minor reactions, on the basis of the latest quotations at the time this is written.

It will be six months before another Congress meets. During that time, the American people must make it known to their elected representatives that the much-talked-about revision of the government's tax system has been too long deferred.

What about those business-killing levies—the capital gains and the undistributed profits tax? What about broadening the tax base—perhaps the greatest need of all? What about our excessively high corporate and income taxes that discourage investors, depress industry, and create more and more unemployment?

These are examples of great questions which must be answered at the next session of Congress, if we are to escape economic chaos. That Congress will have many vital issues on its calendar—but none will be more vital than tax revision and reform.

SAVED BY A THREAD!

It sounds incredible—but at least once in recent years a good-sized American city was saved by a thread!

The thread in this case was that of fire-hydrant coupling. A great fire started in the city, and soon grew beyond control of the local department. Help was summoned from another city a few miles away. The needed equipment arrived, attached its hoses to the hydrants, and the city was saved.

Here is where the thread comes in. A comparatively short time before, the city struck by fire had changed its couplings to the standard size. Had it not done this, the out-of-town equipment could not have used its hydrants, would have had no water supply, and so would have been worthless. And the probability is that the city would have been destroyed.

A city was saved by a thread! It's the little things that start fires—and it's the little things that make it possible to successfully prevent and control them. And those little things can be the means of saving tens of thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars.

20 Years Ago

AutoClubMet At Marietta Friday Nite

since April was presented to Elmer G. Strickler, of Elizabethtown. Similar awards, it was announced, have also been presented to Alvin G. Hertzog, Ephrata, and A. K. Harnish, Lancaster.

The club decided to conduct a campaign to acquaint the motoring public of Lancaster county with the provisions of the State vehicle code. Newspaper articles, a page in the club's magazine each month and other channels will be used to bring the motor laws to the attention of the public. These will be prepared by the club's legal department.

Attention of motorists was called to the fact that the compulsory inspection of motor vehicles that began May 1 ends the last day of July. It was pointed out 375,000,000 provided under the new lending-spending bill for projects which compete in any way with private industry.

The purpose of the appropriation is to stimulate business and employment. And it is certainly reasonable to presume that the money should be used for projects which will give business orders—and which will not take orders and customers away from it.

There is no lack of projects which are properly a concern of government, which create a vast demand for labor and materials, and which compete in no way with private enterprise. The country needs more and safer roads, for instance. It needs grade crossing elimination. In some cases it probably needs river and harbor improvement. It needs stream purification in many areas. It can doubtless use more public buildings.

All such projects as these give a very large part of each dollar spent to labor, both on the job and in the plants supplying necessary materials. These are the kind of projects for which the lending-spending money should be used exclusively.
