Corn Husking
Eighteen corn-huskers, who are champions and runners-up in nine counties of the state, met at the farm of John D. Roland, near Donegal Springs, on Wednesday afternoon to compete in the first official Pennsylvania state corn-husking contest. The winner is eligible to enter the national contest on November 3 at Dell's Rapids, South Dakota.

Lancaster county was represented by the Van Cleve brothers of Lancaster R. D. 4.

George Van Cleve, twenty-seven, won the county crown Friday at the second annual contest at the Elias Lindemuth farm, near town. His brother, Paul, twenty-five, was runner-up.

The county contest was held in connection with the annual Local Farm show which opened Thursday and closed Saturday.

Judges To Be Named
Both the Van Cleve brothers competed in the state contest on Wednesday. Among their competitors were the Yeager brothers, York county champions, and A. M. Lynn, of Fayette county. Also county champions from Lebanon, Perry, Lehigh, Allegheny, Northampton, and Schuylkill counties.

The state contest was in charge of George Weber, of York, as grand marshal. Judges included representatives from Penn State college.

The state committee for the contest met Monday morning at Roland's home, Mt. Joy. Other members were George Heilman, York, secretary; Miles Horst, Lebanon, treasurer; Cyrus Nissy, Dauphin county, and J. A. Bucher, Lebanon county.

The contest was staged under national rules with eighty minutes of husking.

Preliminaries
The contest Friday morning started at 11 o'clock with the first twenty huskers, each followed by a gleaner, working their way down two rows at a time. They were required to take all the corn on those two rows even though some of the stalks leaned over into adjoining rows. The gleaners, usually friends of the huskers, gleaned the two rows being husked, picking up the ears and put them in bags.

The preliminaries began with eight-minute trials when each contestant was given an opportunity to demonstrate his ability by the number of ears he was capable of husking.

The fifteen contestants scoring highest in the preliminary trials entered the finals Friday afternoon. A special prize awarded the husker who husks the largest number of ears in the official periods in the elimination trials.

Contestants Friday included the following:
James Rouch, Elizabethtown R. D. 2; Ezra Heisey and Jacob Martin, Elizabethtown R. D. 1; Walter Brandt, Mt. Joy R. D. 1; Michael Morrer, Columbia R. D. 1; D. L. Lenox, Washington Boro R. The corn-husking contest was the main event on Mount Joy's three-day farm show program which opened last Thursday and closed Saturday.

2500 See County Contest
The county finals Friday afternoon were staged in the 25-acre field on the Lindemuth farm with a gallery of approximately 2500 spectators.

The winner shucked 1755 pounds of standing ear corn in 80 minutes but was penalized 135 pounds for gleanings leaving a net of 23.14 bushels. Of the other fourteen competing in the contest Paul Van Cleve topped the group with a record of 1,700 pounds, a deduction of 159 pounds for gleanings, and a net of 22.01 bushels.

The local champions are sons of John H. Van Cleve, who came from Iowa several years ago and bought a farm near Lampeter. George at present is working on the highways while Paul is employed on his father's farm. A third son, John, finished in eighth place. The boys said they learned to husk out in Iowa "where the tall corn grows."

Lewis Bixler, Marietta R. D. 1, finished in third place, with a score of 21.34 bushels.
Demas Roland, Elizabethtown R. D. 1, the runner-up at last year's contest, finished fourth, with a score of 20.41 bushels.

Stanley Stauffer, Quarryville R. D. 1, the 1937 Lancaster champion, was fifth, his score being 19.82 bushels.
Cash prizes of $15, $7 $5 and $4 for the first four places, respectively, $3 for fifth and sixth, and $2 each for the remaining placings, were awarded.

The remaining order of placing was: 6, Clarence Doupe, Florin, 19.10 bushels; 7, Homer Ginder, Elizabethtown R. D. 3, 18.82 bushels; 8, John Van Cleve, Lancaster R. D. 4, 18.67 bushels; 9, Harold Frey, Elizabethtown R. D. 3, 17.92 bushels; 10, Carl Stonesifer, Elizabethtown RD1, 17.88 bushels; 11, Park M. Kreider, Mount Joy RD2, 17.41 bushels; 12, D. L. Lenox, Washington Boro, R. D. 1, 17.20 bushels; 13, Jacob Bixler, Elizabethtown RD2, 7.10 bushels; 14, A. G. Spade, Marietta RD1, 16.21 bushels; 15, Joe Bixler, Marietta RD1, 15.50 bushels.

Forty-one huskers took part in the trial elimination contest which was held Friday morning on the Lindemuth farm. They consisted of a five-minute test for husking the most ears from corn already cut. The fifteen high scorers were qualified to participate in the afternoon finals, which lasted for 80 minutes. A bushel was considered 70 pounds of ears.

York County Agent George Weber was timekeeper and other officials were County Agent F. S. Bucher and assistant, M.M. Smith, and J. B. R. Dickey, of State College.

John Roland is chairman of both the state and county husking committees. He was aided by Harry Hauenstein, Charles Riccedorf, Curwin Martin and C. Emerson Rohrer.

The old timers' shock corn husking contest, scheduled for Saturday evening was abandoned because of lack of entries. The age limit for the contestants was set at sixty years or over and only four of those eligible entered.

The show closed Saturday night at 10 o'clock with an auction sale of all goods not removed from the buildings.

Saturday evening the St. Mary's Harmonica Band and Vaudeville troupe entertained at various places throughout the town moving in turn to each of the nine exhibition buildings.

Dr. E. W. Garber, president of the exhibit committee, announced Saturday that there would be no banquet held this year by the committee and that the reorganization meeting of the board of directors would not be held until January.

Prize winners in the 4-H dramatic club contest Thursday evening were as follows: Red Rose Baby Beef, first, $10, Black Barren Flower, second, $7; Landisville Girls, third, and Red Rose Lamb and Pig, fourth. Other groups competing were Black Barren Pig, East Lampeter Cooking and Northern End Corn and Tobacco clubs. Members in the first prize-winning play were Miriam Neff, Mildred Bomberger, Richard Lefever, Patricia Swords, Samuel Ranck and John Hauenstein, with Mary Strickler, director. The cast of the second winner included Anna Mae Weaver, Rebecca Galbreath, Margaret Galbreath and Bernard Pownall, with Doris Jamison, director.

Had Fine Display
The Mount Joy Sportsmen's Association displayed one of the most attractive exhibits of wild game ever seen in this section, during the Farm Show.

The entire space was very attractively decorated in tree limbs with colorful leaves representing the great outdoors. The floor was carpeted by huge piles of leaves and the "game preserve" was protected from the public by a rail fence, commonly seen in this section.

The "game" was exhibited in wire pens and were most interesting. Ringneck pheasants, raised by the Sportsmen, were on display. They raised 400 pheasants, receiving them when they were one day old. Over 200 were liberated, and the remaining ones will be set free after the season closes for fresh stock next year.

Wild fowl, rabbits, a raccoon, red foxes, golden pheasants, silver pheasants and mallard ducks were also included in the display.

Mount Joy Sportsmen Association offered valuable prizes to the holders of lucky tickets during the Community Exhibit.

A. B. Greiner, Manheim, R. D. 3, won the valuable over and under gun.

Karl "Dutch" Germer, West Main Street, won the Winchester rifle.

Thomas C. Jones 137 South Fourth Street, Columbia, won the hunting boots.

over a period of years; butterflies and sample boxes, the latter neatly arranged on shelves and representing almost any article of packed or tinned merchandise that can be purchased at a store.

Hobbies of paintings, woodwork, pencil sketches, wood carving and many other novel pastimes were represented.

The hobby show proved such a big success that we feel sure it will be quite a feature next year.

The Booth Prizes
Booth prizes, awarded the local farm show, for the best arranged booth expressing commercial salesmanship, were as follows: 1st prize, Herr the Pump Man, Lancaster. This booth consisted of a miniature farm with barn and house electrically lighted, running water in barn yard, trough and a fountain in the front yard of the home. Blooming "rambler" roses enclosed one end of the house porch and several small gardens containing real flowers graced the lawn.

Second prize was awarded to the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

Third prize was won by Henry S. Small, tire dealer, of Lancaster.

The Life of the Party now Looks it!
WHEN you've got something mighty good and know it, it's not easy to pass it up even for something better!
There's a whole of a temptation to play it safe, to coast along a while, when you're riding such a vote of confidence as we've had this year.
We had ample evidence from the start that our past season's good Buick was the life of the 1938 party.
Right through the darkest months it paced the industry in sales, setting a bright example that shone like a sudden sun smiling through the rain.
But itching in our heads and on our drawing boards were ideas.
