Twenty years have passed since the firing of the last gun... but this nation has not forgotten the men who served their country. The twentieth anniversary of the Armistice finds their memory as bright as it was in 1918. Let's keep on remembering the armies of '18, they did immortal deeds in the line of duty. — And twenty years after Twenty years is a long time. It is long enough to forget the names of childhood friends to forget once-familiar faces. But it is not a long enough time to forget the sacrifices of our boys. That memory is eternal.

STEHRMAN & NEUHAUSER MILLS

November 11th, 1918. The Marne, Ypres, Loos, Arras, Somme, Chateau Thierry, Verdun, Argonne, Belleau Wood. . . . all those famous, bloody battles were history, and the men who fought them, living and dead, became an immortal memory. The monstrous armies were slowly sent home to begin the fight of peace. Let's honor those men who fought for a cause and, at the same time, use the memory of those terrible years as an object lesson of the blessings of peace.
