EDITORIAL

The citizens of Christiana are to be complimented. Every personal property and county tax levy for 1938 was paid before the deadline.

Rightfully They Should

A number of aliens have been dropped from the WPA projects in this and adjoining counties. A careful checkup showed that Pennsylvania was the dumping ground for many, many foreigners when it came to dishing out relief.

The Loaf Instead Of Crumb

Every so often some "expert" comes forth with the details of how some particular person has been bamboozled into buying the wrong kind of insurance, or spent his money for a contract in the expectation of getting something he didn't receive.

Scattered abuses of insurance can undoubtedly be found. But, and here's the real point—insurance has given the average policyholder unrivaled service. It's made it possible for him to adequately provide for his old age and protection of his dependents at a low monthly or annual cost. It isn't perfect—even as human beings aren't perfect—but, by and large, it's an institution in which every American can take pride. It stands as the loaf of bread for the average man, instead of the crumb.

Independents Favor Independence

The progressive independent merchant in this country is an excellent business man.

He has come a long way since the cross-roads day of merchandising—and he's given his customers an unexcelled standard of service. He's met every form of competition with success. He's been prompt to adopt methods and equipment that marked an improvement over the old. He's realized that the best way to get new business and to keep it is to give the public a better deal.

The progressive independent doesn't want special favors, legislative or otherwise. He doesn't want the law to step in and burden his competitors—he's perfectly willing to take his chances, betting on his qualities of energy, efficiency and ability to pull him through. He knows too that you can't flaunt natural law by trying to prevent progress.

Are You Incompetent?

How would you like a group of officeholders to tell you who can and who cannot act as administrator or executor of your estate?

You wouldn't like it—but under legislative measures proposed in Oregon, that is exactly what would happen to Oregon citizens.

The proposals in Oregon illustrate the political trend to restrict freedom of action of private citizens. Growing political control of the individual is like an epidemic—it spreads from state to state, and from nation to nation.

If the public (you and I) were fully awake to this insidious undermining of personal rights in our own country, we would boot elected troublemakers high, wide and handsome.

The Oregon situation is just an incident in the growing trend. The public must awaken to the danger it faces, if it wishes to retain even a semblance of the liberty and individual choice of action that our citizens have enjoyed in the past.

Centenarian Wisdom

In 1922 the late Senator Cornelius Cole was 100 years old, and Los Angeles gave him a banquet, at which, his mind as alert as ever, he spoke.

He said, according to the Saturday Evening Post, that he had only one message for those present, and that it had been impressed on him through long experience: namely, that human liberties were won in this country at heavy sacrifice of blood and fortune; that liberty is easily lost; that we must be ready to fight again if necessary to keep it; that we must never suffer any man to arrogate to himself the powers of a king, emperor or dictator.

At the banquet was Paul G. Hoffman, now head of the Studebaker company. Speaking in New York recently, Mr. Hoffman recalled Senator Cole's statement, and said:

"We listened tolerantly because he was an old man, but privately most of us thought he was living in a world of ideas belonging wholly to the past... What did an old man's warning have to do with us? We had just finished making the world safe for democracy.

"I have thought of that address a thousand times. The old senator was not in his dotage. It was we who were blind. Do I need to ask you to think of the countries where in recent years civil and religious liberty has vanished? Do I need to ask you to think of how seriously at this moment those liberties are in jeopardy in democratic countries?"

"Why are they in jeopardy? Because of pressures operating against free enterprise. Those pressures come from two sources: First, those who are wrongly called economic planners, but who have something in mind quite different

What to do when the honeymoon is over will be explained in a course on marriage and its problems to be offered at the Pennsylvania State College in the next academic year.

The course will be administered by Dr. Kingsley Davis, in charge of the division of sociology at Penn State. It will be open to juniors and seniors and will present material which will be of use to students in later years in the practical conduct of family life.

Instruction will range from family budgeting and management of household finance to the emotional aspects of marital adjustment. Instructors will attempt to point out, among other things, the bases on which mates are selected, the difficulties and problems associated with courtship, the relation between courtship adjustment and adjustment after marriage, the cost of children, and the role of family members in rearing children.

Your best friend should have told you: You can buy a Buick for—

$894 and up

The model illustrated is the Buick Street, model 41 four-door touring sedan $990 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

WE'RE talking about that friend of yours who owns a 1939 Buick— You've heard plenty from him, naturally, about the fresh-as-the-morning-breeze styling of his taut and trim new Buick—and the way it perks abody up just to look it over! You've listened while he sang the praise of a ride that's like a lullaby—soft and gentle as a tender touch, but sure, unwavering, steady, in cross-wind or at speed. No doubt you've sensed his joy at those eight eager Dynafash cylinders, that need only the gentlest sort of hint to hike you straight to the forefront—and the snug and reassuring steadiness of this low-swung, stable stepper's gait! All of which is well and good, and not to be disputed. But has your good friend told you this: ... That Buick's prices are easily the lowest prices for the value you'll find anywhere on automobile row? ... That this far-ranging great-hearted eight—with all the sky-larking life those extra cylinders give it—still costs less than some sixes? ... That factory list figures run anywhere from $51 to $102 less than a year ago—and that they buy worlds more in self-banking Knee-Action, Handshift transmission, 15% softer BuicCoil Springing, visibility stepped up as much as 412 square inches, any number of so-called "extras" such as the Flash-Way direction signal?

If he hasn't told you this, it's plainly time to do this:

Get dollars-and-cents figures on what the model of your choice will cost delivered in your driveway!

That will prove, we think, that Buick's the car and the value of the year. And we're certain—sure it will tell you what your best friend may have forgotten—this shining star is in your reach, so why should you be without it?
