

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

About four weeks ago a fellow on Barbara St. wrote a post card to a friend in York asking him to meet him at the Wrightsville bridge.

Last week the card came back to the writer, he read the message and then he and his wife walked over to the bridge and waited and waited but no one showed up.

Then they came home and discovered he had read his own card and not one from a friend.

The gang at the Fire House were watching the continued thriller at the movies when Smitty asked: "Did I ever tell you how I tried my jujitsu on a burglar?" J. Roy said: "No." "Well, explained Smitty, I got hold of his leg and twisted it over his shoulder. Then I got hold of his arm and twisted it round his neck, and before he knew where he was I was flat on my back."

Last week after the wrestling match at Maple Grove one of the wrestlers went to a restaurant and, fearing his coat might be stolen, attached a ticket which read: "Owned by a famous wrestler, who will be back in five minutes."

When he returned for his coat a little later, all he found was his ticket with the added note: "Taken by a champion sprinter, who is not coming back."

The school children were being examined when the doctor requested: "Now, take a deep breath and say, 'nine' three times." The pupil promptly replied: "Twenty-seven."

A girl from near Sporting Hill by the name of Jessie went to Penn State for her first year. After being there a month she became "high hat" and changed her name to Jessica. She wrote a letter to her brother, signing her new name. But the brother didn't like it and he answered her letter. It follows:

"Dear Jessica: Dadica and Monica have gone to visit Aunt Lizzica. Uncle Samica is buying a new machine, but doesn't know whether to get a Chevicca or a Fordica. The cowica had a callica, and I was going to call it Nellica, but changed it to Jimica because it was a bullicca. Your loving brother, Tomica."--Nice goin'.

Going down to the Reading-William Penn game on Saturday night Minnie, Smitty and Firpy were hurrying so as to get a seat. Traffic was thick and Minnie was making knots when Firpy called: "Hey, you missed that red light."

And Minnie asked: "What do you want me to do, go back and hit it?"--Never mind.

The reason fellows don't like Indian girls is because they have too many reservations.

On Sunday when Heagy was out driving he passed a lady hiker. Chivalry got the best of him and he stopped the car and asked: "Want a lift?" And the lady replied: "No thanks, I'm walking to reduce." Heagy explained: "You're on the wrong road. This one goes to Harrisburg."

A lady at Florin complained to her neighbor: "Do you know, I sometimes wonder if my husband has grown tired of me." Her neighbor asked: "Whatever makes you say that?" And the lady explained: "Well, he ain't been home for seven years."--Well now it wouldn't wonder me.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

I reckon maybe there is a good many folks who figure it don't make any big difference to them what the people in some other state do--like going into some kind of venture.

And I got a neighbor who sure is slick with a pencil and figures, and we were gassin' about the Govt. edging into the electric business in Tennessee and other places. And this neighbor he says, Jo, do you know, he says, that when the Govt. takes over a plant or something down there, that it is costing you plenty. And I says, help, no. And he says, sure as shootin'.

And he showed me how the Federal taxes, they fall equal on everybody, whether you are in Montana or Philadelphia. And if the Govt. takes over something in Tennessee and quits paying taxes on it, somebody has got to make it up--and they just add it onto everybody, wherever you happen to hang out--even-- Stephen on everybody.

And he says maybe you been thinking it is a good joke on the folks down there around Chattanooga and other places, but Jo, he says, you are the guy the joke is on.

Yours, with the low down,

You can get all the news of this locality for less than three cents a week through The Bulletin.
