Doesn't Seem Quite Fair

Recently a Strasburg motorist was routed from bed late at night, arrested and came mighty near being taken to Bradford, Pa., for being implicated in a motor accident there. Judge Atlee and the Lancaster Automobile Club prevented the latter action and in a few days the innocent victim received word he was the "wrong man."

In addition to all this inconvenience there were over $6 Court costs here.

In our estimation there should be a comeback of some sort for a perfectly innocent man who is inconvenienced and embarrassed to such an extent.

Spare The Rod, Spoil The Child

It is just as serious a fault, if not more so, to over indulge children as it is to deny them many of the necessities of life. A coddled, spoiled, over indulged child is a reproach to its parents, a pain to the community and a disappointment to everyone. Hard work, simple fare, discipline, and self-denial are the soil in which character is most wont to grow, but it takes parents of real character and strength of will and purpose to provide this type of training, rather than to follow the line of least resistance and grant every childish wish to the certain detriment of the child.

The Plight of Widows

Most of us have seen, in some individual instance, the tragic problem of men grown old without financial resources, and forced to subsist on the bounty of relatives or public charity.

The plight of thousands of widows is equally grave. According to the U. S. Census Bureau, 32 per cent of all the widows in this country must work for a living.

Many of these women once had fine homes. Their husbands earned good salaries, or owned prosperous businesses. But no bulwark was established against the future, and when death came to the wage-earner, there was little or nothing left for dependents.

It is an encouraging thing that more and more men are making sure that their widows may never be in that unhappy position.

Waste Brings Poverty

Most of our difficulties of an economic nature are self-created. For example most persons with little or nothing today, have, in the past earned sufficient, which if it had been wisely invested would have provided for all of their needs.

Most persons waste and fritter away enough time with foolish and petty trifles to give themselves a good broad education through reading and study. Our soil is run down and depleted in fertility in many sections of the country through wind and water erosion and over cropping until it will not pay to till it until fertility has been restored. Our fine forests have been laid waste with a hand of ruthless, senseless greed and no effort made at reforestation until we have vast areas of waste cut over land that might be producing a valuable resource for which there is such need in this country today—building material.

Even with all our boasted intelligence we still live on the basis of a feast and a famine—live it up while we have it and want for it when we have none.

More Food For Sober Thought

Those economists who are wondering just how much longer the world can go on building up its armaments without entering bankruptcy are getting more and more food for sober thought and argument.

We are the richest country in the world, and our $1,126,000,000 national defense bill for the next fiscal year is the largest in our peace time history. Yet this is hardly a drop in the bucket compared to what Europe and Asia are spending. Great Britain's budget is close to $3,000,000,000. Japan's is over $1,500,000,000. France's is about the same as ours. Italy's is $611,000,000 and will probably be increased. Germany doesn't publish figures of this nature, but her arms expense is huge.

Lastly—hold your breath here—the U. S. S. R. has announced a defense budget running to the almost unbelievable sum of $7,700,000,000. That is creating plenty of headaches among Russia's potential enemies. And it comes as encouraging news to the European democracies, which hope to enlist "the bear that walks like a man" as an ally.

These figures show why the standard of living abroad is steadily dropping. In Germany, it is said, one-fourth of the entire national income goes for arms and public works, neither of which is edible.

Hints to Gardeners

By Gilbert Bentley

Looking Toward Fall

WITH the spring planting season past and the returns already coming in from this year's flower gardens, thoughts turn regretfully to fall.

Let us conclude the summer garden "Hints" with suggestions on fall bulb planting. Save this information on how to plant bulbs.

Bulbs are planted in fall to give them opportunity to develop ample root growth. It is the safer practice to protect bulbs in the ground with a mulch of leaves or straw. Mulch should be put on after the ground is frozen hard. It is intended to protect them from the damage of alternate freezing and thawing, not from the cold.

One of the most important factors in successful bulb flower growing is proper planting. Well-drained loam should be used. Press soil around bulbs well so there are no air spaces.

Depth of planting must be carefully measured. Observe these recommended depths: Anemone, one inch deep; crocus, snowdrop and scilla, 2 inches; jonquil and tulip, 3 inches; hyacinth and narcissus, 4 inches; and lily, 5 inches. When measuring depth, measure from the top of the bulb. For instance, set hyacinth under four inches of soil.

Bulbs should be set the following distances apart: Anemone, 4 to 6 inches; crocus and snowdrop, 2 inches; scilla, 3 inches; jonquil, 6 inches; tulip, 4 inches; hyacinth, 6 inches; narcissus, 6 to 12 inches, and lily, 12 inches or more.

It always pays to buy bulbs of fine quality. Good, healthy bulbs are always firm and comparatively heavy for their size.

Never allow unmixed fertilizer to come in direct contact with bulbs. When fertilizer is used mix very thoroughly with soil before planting bulbs.

Hospital. Private Ralph was the only witness at the hearing. He said Gantz admitted driving the car in which Gingrich and Walter Snyder, thirty-two, Manheim R. D. two were passengers. The trio had been to Lititz to witness the fire at the paper mill and were returning home when the accident occurred. Ralph said tire marks showed that the car swerved to the left side of the road and continued for 112 feet before striking a telephone pole, shattering the pole into three pieces. After striking the pole Gantz's car continued 134 feet across a field and road.
