EDITORIAL

That war across the Atlantic shouldn't last very long now—the Germans are now fighting among themselves. That attempt on Hitler's life was certainly a "bomb-shell"

Take His License For Good

In Speeder's Court Thursday, at Lancaster, S. J. Pickel, 24, Ronks Route 1 admitted being prosecuted six times and was in four wrecks in the past six years. This is the same chap we "roasted" editorially last week.

Why a man like that is permitted to be on the highways with a car is beyond us unless the authorities want to give him a good chance to kill a half-dozen innocent ones.

They're Aiming At A Record

You got to hand it to them—the motorists throuth this area are certainly going to town and are near an all time high record. There were 124 motor accidents during October in which five were killed and 91 injured. During the same period the police made 352 arrests. Since January 1, the police made 2,581 arrests.

Will these many violators never come to their senses?

From The Business Front

There is nothing of unusual interest to report from the business front. The early "war boom" has abated to some extent. Foresighted business men are thinking less of possible European orders, and more about increasing their business in the vast markets of this country and Latin America.

The third-quarter corporation reports have been drifting in. And, by comparison with previous periods, they are encouraging. Gross income, net profits and dividends paid are generally up. Some companies voted their first dividends in a lengthy period of time.

A Business Week survey shows that while department store sales (prime index of consumer purchasing power) are running 2 per cent under 1937 levels in terms of dollar volume, they are 5 per cent higher in terms of merchandise moved. In other words, the public is spending a little less but getting more, due to lower prices. And that means more business for manufacturers.

Steel and textiles still lead the manufacturer's race to higher production peaks. Both industries are close to actual maximum production, which is materially less than the theoretical maximum.

"Slow Down" Replaces "Sit Down"

A few months ago, it was General Motors plants which were compelled to the close, because of strikes.

Now it is the Chrysler plants, with more than 50,000 employees idle because of a dispute which apparently occurred in a single plant.

Sixty-four employees, apparently engaged in what they called a "slow-down," their complaint being that the line had been speeded up.

The plant officials refused to reinstate the 64, whereupon the workers on the assembly line deliberately allowed every other car to go by untouched.

They called it a "slow-down," as a successor to the outlawed "sit-down."

With one plant closed by the officials of the company the trouble spread to others, and yesterday more than 55,000 men were idle, just at a time when they had opportunity to enjoy steady employment.

What a tragedy it is that just when the country seems to be on the way back to better times, more than 50,000 men should miss the opportunity to participate in the better times, because of a dispute over a mere handful.

Financial Crazy Quilt

"You can't have your cake and eat it, too," is a homely expression of basic economic law, and it is as true today as it was at the beginning of time.

The only difference is that today we have unconsciously declared a moratorium on reality. How else can the present deficit system and a $10,000,000,000 peace time Federal debt be explained?

Again we are riding an economic crest—according to business indexes—just as we were riding one in 1937. And again no effort has been made to tighten the governmental fiscal belt, such as was promised under the theory of spending in bad times, saving in good.

On the contrary, there is again talk of still greater public spending to "take up the slack" the instant there is indication of a cessation in the upward trend. If we do not have a "war boom" we apparently are to again try to make our own boom by the bootstrap method—the same bootstraps that are already flimsy from stretching.

How long can this crazy quilt of public spending be continued? No man can tell. America is a strong nation, but like a strong man who takes to dope to enjoy fantastic hallucinations, she will meet a nerve shattering end unless her people are willing to swallow the bitter pills of reality and demand a government that "earns" more than it "spends."

Does he paint? He fain would write poems! Does he write? He fain would paint a picture!

I had three chairs in my house: one for solitude, two for friendship, three for society.—Thoreau.

The morning service of the church was most impressive. The old hymns of the church were sung, the choir sang a most impressive anthem of praise, the pastor, the Rev. C. B. Segelken, D.D., made a short historical address, and a most appropriate and impressive message was brought by the Rev. W. M. Cleaveland, D.D., Synodical Executive of the Synod of Pennsylvania. After the benediction, the souvenir history prepared by the pastor was distributed to all present.

In the evening the augmented choir under the leadership of Mr. Ralph F. Eshleman gave a very impressive musical service. The choir was assisted by Mr. Ernest W. Baker, violinist of Lancaster, accompanied by Mrs. Anna Martin Howell, pianist.

Monday evening the service was a Greeting and Home-Coming social. Several selections were sung by the male quartette and greetings were hard from: The Donegal Presbytery, by the Rev. John Harries, the Old Donegal Church by Mr. D. C. Witmer, the churches of Mount Joy by the Rev. W. L. Koder, President of the Mount Joy Minister's Association, from Old Paxton Church, by Elder Harry W. Crouse. Greetings were read from Rev. John C. Corbin in behalf of the Old Derry Church, the Rev. H. B. Strock for the First Presbyterian Church of Lancaster, from Miss Rebecca Hoffer who played the old melodian back in the 1850's.

A beautiful Fluorescent Desk Lamp was presented to the pastor, and a large bouquet of red roses to Mrs. Segelken by Mr. P. L. Stoner, speaking in behalf of the congregation.

The congregation then retired to the Sunday School Room where a great surprise was in store for all. Four of the class rooms were furnished in antique furniture representing the life and the customs of the Presbyterians 100 years ago. A living room, a dining room, a bed room and a kitchen. The walls were decorated with old pictures, and the old family album was found in place on the living room table. Living models dressed in costumes of a century ago occupied these rooms. The most attractive of all being the young bride, and the old man assisting the old lady who was busy at the spinning wheel. On the dining room table there was a large birthday cake with the numerals 100 at the top, and surrounded with 100 lighted candles. Besides the living models with their century old gowns, many of the men and ladies were dressed in the costumes worn by the Presbyterians 100 years ago. It was a picturesque sight to see these people come into the church walking up the aisle by twos and threes and taking their places in the pews even as did the people in those early days.

There were capacity audiences at all the services. Refreshments were served at the Monday evening social. On each tray there was a mark with the following: beautiful favor and a souvenir book 100th Anniversary, First Presbyterian Church, Mount Joy, Pennsylvania.

If it isn't a Pontiac it isn't a "Torpedo"

NO, "Torpedo styling" isn't a term like "four-wheel brakes" or "safety glass." It doesn't denote a development that's industry-wide—as yet! It's the colorful phrase that America adopted to describe the boldly different beauty of the biggest, smartest, most luxurious Pontiac ever built. Without that sparkling jewel-like front-end and its cresting Silver Streak—without those flaring fenders fore and that artful taper aft, it could only be "just another car." But NOT A PONTIAC "TORPEDO"—with its rich interior luxury and the thrilling, thrifty eight-performance for which Pontiac is renowned. So when you can't resist the urge to own an eight with "Torpedo" styling, come in and get the only car that has it—the leader, of Pontiac's 1940 line of 17 sixes and eights... all supremely smart and brilliantly beautiful!

PONTIAC SIX PRICES BEGIN AT... $783
*delivered at Pontiac, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment—white sidewall tires and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.
PONTIAC "TORPEDO" PRICES BEGIN AT $1016
