eaped death when his car scraped the foliage in passing, throwing up a shower of sparks. Traffic was held up for some time until a Pennsylvania Power and Light crew repaired the damage.

A Barn Destroyed
The barn of Clayton Gibble, Milton Grove blacksmith and farmer, was destroyed by fire started when lightning struck the roof at 5:30 p. m. Martin Heisey, chief of the Rheems Fire Company, estimated damage at about $2,500.

Consumed in the barn were two hogs and about 150 chickens, wheat from three and one-half acres, hay, barley and a number of farm implements. Gibble's horse was led to safety.

Rheems firemen were first on the scene, followed by Elizabethtown and Mount Joy companies. Too late to save the barn, they sprinkled water on the dwelling house upon which embers were falling.

Gibble, who has been ill recently, suffered shock and was treated by a physician. He said the loss was partly covered by insurance.
