A WISE OWL

"Purp" Harry Derr has joined the absent minded professors club. He drove to work one day last week and walked home, remembering when he got there that his car was parked in front of the factory. Oh, well, he needed the exercise.

Minnie Hipple's Klondike ancestors are beginning to show in his make-up. Or else it's the old fashioned winter we've been having because now Minnie wears car mufflers to work to keep his itty bitty ears warm. Ain't he the cute little man?

Raymond Cicero went to the hockey game at Hershey on Thursday night and then on Friday went over to the fire house and asked Ray Myers who won. "You explain it. It beats me."

I know I oughtn't to tell this cause it's liable to give some of you guys ideas but we just found out that (anything) you see our neighbor (Harry) come up from the Acme with a bag of peas, you can just bet it's either a peace offering for something he's done or he expects to do which he knows he shouldn't.

If he has an ice cream cone then it's just a teeny-weeny misunderstanding but he's afraid it might get worse if he doesn't do something about it.

I'm going to hire a private detective to find out what Harry has on Ed. Diver. It's a case, the only one those two know and if Bob thought that Harry'd tell any one he'd collapse, cause when Harry kids and says he's going to tell "Divvy" gets all jittery and beseeches him not to. I'll find out what it is or bust.

The boy friend gave his girl friend his cards for the new license plates for the car but this time he didn't put any cash in the envelope (like the last time) cause he knew she wouldn't pay any attention to it any way.

Want a little bed-time story? Once upon a time a Chinese cook was walking through the woods. He turned around to see a grizzly bear following him, smelling of his tracks. "Hm," said the Chinaman, "you like my tracks? Velly good. I make some more." Yellow!

Heard a guy on the radio Sunday night define college life as a four year loaf made out of Dad's dough.

In the Santa Anita handicap on Saturday Bay View, a long shot, won because he's a "Royal Crusader" and a crusader "Can't Wait" for the rest of the field because his "General Manager" sings him a "Fairy Chant" while wearing a "Porters Cap". The horse I bet on was "Beautiful II" but all the other nags gave her a "Rough Pass" and even though I cried "Woof Woof" trying to scare him so he'd run faster he came in last and I got "Hysterical." Wee is me!

Another man who brings 'em back alive is a spirit medium.

Oh, yes, and a young married couple first baby, always brings a lot changes into their life. About fifteen a day. Dy-dee, dy-dee.

A lady on Barbara St., says that a man can still be a mouse even if you never hear a squeak out of him.

Then there was the little boy who got a pop-gun for Christmas but his mother took it from him. Not because it was dangerous but because it made his father thirsty.

It takes lighthouse keeping to keep young couples off the rocks.

1940 License Cost Hunters $1,388,541.

During Pennsylvania's 661,330 sportsmen paid $1,388,541.05 for hunting licenses of various kinds. According to the fish and wildlife service of the Department of the Interior, Pennsylvania stood in second place in the roster of States in the number of hunters, but it outranked all other States in the amount of fees paid by its sportsmen.

Nationally, more than 7,600,000 hunting licenses, and a total of 1,111,501 Federal duck stamps were purchased by sportsmen during 1940. The total paid was more than $14,100,000. Of the 661,330 licenses issued in Pennsylvania, 90,007 were to non-residents and aliens. This number was exceeded only in Michigan where 711,733 licenses were issued. Pennsylvania had the largest number of non-resident and alien licenses.

1400 RINGNECK PHEASANTS WILL BE RELEASED IN COUNTY

The largest shipment of male ringneck pheasants ever consigned to Lancaster County for stocking purposes will arrive today. Five hundred additional birds will be received later, a total of 1900 for this year. Last year 1200 were liberated.

The Mount Joy Sportsmen's Association will release their male pheasants on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock from their pen at Wm. Rehards's, at Florin. All sportsmen are asked to assist the committee in releasing these birds.

In case of inclement weather they will be released the following Saturday, March 15th.

any one of the members. The first morning they got lost and instead of a one-hour hike, it was two or more, but that only helped the cause. The idea of the club is reducing. One of the members found to her amazement that the scales showed a gain of six pounds after the first week. Each morning it has been a farther hike and the distance is up to six miles. Proof of the distance was made by one of the husbands checking the mileage with his automobile speedometer.

There's no date I don't have to worry about and that's March 15th. No sitting at a desk, wrestling with countless figures and writing a big check for the government after I'm all done. No, sirree, they ought to apologize to me for even sending me an income tax form.

AUNT MIN SEZ:

Up at my neighbor's house the other night we got to talkin' about bein' afraid of goin' home on dark streets 'n' stuff. 'n' I sed... I'm not afraid a nuthin'! ...What's it get a person in bein' afraid all the time? ...Why some folks just make their lives miserable bein' afraid 'a stuff that never happens. I kinda made a name fer myself a'bein' brave! ... Well, after I got home I thinks I... it's too early to go to bed, so I'm just gonna read sum 'a these here magazines layin' round the place...so I came across a awful good lookin' story... the pictures was interestin' it looked good all the way through... specially in the last couple verses... Guess a person hadn't ought 'a peep back in a story... but sumhow it's always a little more interestin' that way.

I was gettin' on good with the story 'n' things was happenin' fast 'n' furious... there was a hold-up at the butcher shop 'n' the butcher's wife fainted dead away back 'a the chop-kin' block... 'n' then the thieves was jest gettin' caught up with when bang! — went one 'a my shutters in the back room, slammn' against the window with a terrible noise! I jumps up 'n' fixes it tight again 'n' begins to read sum more... 'a the plot was thicwinen up sumpin' wonderful... Frum that time on the wind was howlin' against my house 'n' the old pear tree in the back yard was boatin' 'n' wallin' in the breeze 'n' it was gettin' kinda spookley all over the place... but kept on finishin' my story even though I was tremblin' a little... Thinks I... Min Buncle... here you was jest braggin' about a hour ago that you was so brave... now look at you... you're showin' a awful white feather in this wind! Wind can't hurt a body... get sum sense! And I don't know what made me do it... but I skipped pretty near a third 'a that thrillin' story 'n' went up the steps to bed... lookin' back over my shoulder pretty near every other step... It gave me the creeps 'n' I reasoned it out with myself next mornin' that I wasn't afraid... I was jest a little nervous... er sumpin'...

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Being in a quandary is our national dish. We would feel lost if there was nothing lurking about their corner—wasn't some superman to fix it. And when one emergency bogs down, they serve up a new one—and tell us how they will fix the new one.

Right now we got our foot in the door in Europe. That keeps us from asking where is the Utopia that is now over due.

One hundred years ago or even 10, everybody was busy and got along pretty good—had plenty to eat and wear—and was happy. Now, nobody is happy. A carpenter, 50 years ago, got 3 dollars a day and today he gets 3 or 4 times as much and he's 3 or 4 times as unhappy.

In old Egypt they had locusts to plague 'em. We are just a jump behind Egypt—we been plagued with rackets, big ones and little ones, in high places and low. And in a few years, when our grandsons says, "Grandpa, tell me the story about when everybody had everything but was still unhappy—and why didn't you fix it?"—we feel sheepish. Your with the low down.

AUTO CLUB PAYS $1,500 TO FAMILY OF MEMBER

Third Motor Death Settlement Since January 15 Goes to Kin of Forrest M. Heidelberg

$1,500 check was presented recently by the Lancaster Automobile Club to the family of Forrest M. Heidelberg, Quarryville R. D. 3, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Harrisburg. It was the third $1,500 paid by the club since January 15 to survivors of members killed in motor crashes, the other two being Clayton B. Keller of Mt. Joy and Aaron C. Geistweit of Elizabethtown.

Mr. Heidelberg figured in the accident enroute to a hunting camp during deer season. His brother Jesse, injured in the same crash, received a $105 check from the club for disability resulting from the injuries.

The $1,500 payment is the maximum for death in a motor accident under insurance the club provides for all its more than 14,000 members. Indemnity is $1,000 the first year of membership, and increases $100 each renewal year to a maximum of $1,500. In addition all policies issued to members since July 1, 1940, pay $17.50 weekly up to thirteen weeks for injury in a motor accident, a $50 increase over the weekly payment previously in effect.

Since January 1, 1940, nearly $11,000 has been paid to members or their families under the club's personal accident insurance.
