THE EDITOR'S VOICE

During the World War the U. S. Housing Corp. erected 634 houses near Phila. and rented them to defense workers. Today $800,000 is due the city for taxes and now they are to be razed. Is the project at Middletown, now in progress, to be something similar? We hope not.

Landisville, one of the finest and most enterprising "little" towns in Lancaster County, will have its own water system ere long and why shouldn't it? Filtered cistern and well water is no longer good enough.

This is a wise move in the right direction and we feel confident the men who are at the head of the project will do their best to give that town and its people the best there is. It will be quite an asset to the town's health in addition to giving them fire protection.

Dr. Geo. A. Harter of Maytown, one of the few country doctors still as active as ever, is being congratulated by his many friends upon having reached a half century of faithful service in his town and vicinity.

May he be spared to enjoy seeing many more of those whom he brought to light, grow into manhood and womanhood as well as to relieve many folks of their pains and aches.

"Doc" is a bright light in this section.

However hardened we are to responding with any sort of thrill to governmental moves, whatever our personal politics, however we cast our vote, there are few of us but who felt awed and impressed when we received the confirmation of our suspicions that Roosevelt and Churchill really had met at sea.

Everyone seemed to suspect it, all along, but we knew not where or when. It makes us pause, this news, as we try to visualize the meeting, the clasping of two famous hands, the words of greeting from two renowned speakers. Roosevelt and Churchill in secret meeting place, talking over the destinies of the millions of souls who plod along their respective ways courageously, tirelessly and prayerfully.

We are proud of the way communities around us have responded to the national call for aluminum. They are answering or have answered, with pleasure, since the request is for only those pieces which are no longer of any use. One finds it isn't so hard to give when you aren't being pinched. From state to state has spread the round-up of aluminum and all sorts of ways have been taken to collect it for the government. All of us have noticed where Girl and Boy Scouts have collected it, where movie theatres gave free tickets with each aluminum contribution, of dance halls admitting couples free if they brought aluminum with them. So towns like ours, from coast to coast, turn an out-moded, dented cooking pan, a sore in the side of the pantry and an article taking up room on the refuse barrel, into a product that goes to fill a desperate need. From disuse into service as proof that we are all for one and that one is our Uncle Sammy!

We recently read an article dealing with a subject dear to our hearts. It was concerning the matter of trees and the conserving of them through a closed season. As we all know, almost every state has a closed season on fish and game. We protect our waters and our wild life. What happens to man's friends the forests of the nation with unchecked waste practiced throughout? Three-fourths of this country's forests lie in the hands of private ownership and although many men in the timber industry take steps to protect forest resources, there is still a wholesale slaughter to our good friends, the majestic woods. By abusing the forests we bring on erosion and floods, cutting down our future for those raw materials necessary in the life of a country. There are owners of large forest tracts who give no thought to the regulation of reforestation and so by exploiting their land for their own personal gain, they give no thought to future generations to come. So why not a closed season on trees?

Comes the first Monday of September dedicated to the laboring class of our country and, since most of us are workers, the celebration will be noted by each of the bread-winners in this community. Whether we are toilers with our hands, or workers with our minds, whether we call into play our muscles or our job depends wholly upon our brain, the wealth of our efforts of a united people is what has improved our community and made us of value to ourselves. The American laborer stands high in the international rating for he has accomplished a superior standard of living for himself compared to other nationalities. Although labor, through internal strife, has engulfed itself in strikes and lost wages through disturbances between it and its employer, still labor is enjoying the rights of free men in a democratic country.

Labor Day in America is participated in by all classes. It has organized itself to serve its members that their living may be more pleasant with wages and hours kept on a standard to insure this mode of pleasant living. We hope that labor in America will work out its difficulties since all classes of Americans are affected by its decisions. Thank heavens, it is honorable in our country to work with your hands, which cannot be said of many a land. Here the employer of today might have been a hired worker yesterday. You may start digging ditches and later occupy the position of doctor or lawyer, tilling the soil yesterday and teaching a classroom of students tomorrow. America is a land of opportunity and so functions our system of democracy that you are recognized for your merits as a laborer, lauded for our contribution in keeping this country for the masses rather than the classes. With ability to solve our labor problems with honorable processes and with mutual understanding and co-operation, we hope to live to participate in the nation's Labor Day for many a September to come.

Not since the boom days of 1918 has there been so much hum and buzz on every side as there is in Marietta, today. Then it was that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company put in the storage yards. But the 1941 boom for the River Borough far surpasses anything yet dreamed of by the most sanguine prognosticators. If the undertaking of 1918 created a boom, the one today will surely outdo it. With a steady influx of mechanics, laborers and tradesmen of every description, the main problem under discussion is "where to live."

It is the common order of the day right now for the rearrangement of Marietta homes, into rooming houses, and many housewives are doing away entirely with the proverbial "guest room," postponing scheduled visits to a later date.

Marietta is lucky. But so are the workers who go there to work, for taking it as a whole, there are not many communities in rural Pennsylvania which boast the genuine hospitality and picturesque situation as offered in Marietta. The higher class workman is bound to be impressed by the adequate facilities offered by churches, schools and recreation center. Marietta has a real community center which has been functioning for years for the benefit of its residents. Its social life is outstanding, and considering the fact that it is going to be the home of many newcomers for the next six months at least, we would say that it is not only a lucky break for Marietta but for those who are fortunate in getting work in the Long Borough.

So Marietta... we're mighty glad for your good fortune... more power to you!
