America's

(From page 1) evening and Saturday afternoon and evening.

Mr. LeTourneau who is appearing in more than four hundred speaking engagements this year, is president of one of America's large industrial concerns. His time, however, is for the most part devoted to Christian work to which he also devotes nine-tenths of his total income. His amazing rise from bankruptcy to millions has been acclaimed throughout the country and has been given much attention by the public press. One of the leading magazines recently printed a complete story of Mr. LeTourneau's "Partnership With God" and his increasing wealth despite his large contribution to Christian work. Amplification is being provided in the Convention church in order to make it possible for an overflow attendance to hear his message.

Rev. Vere Abbey, Christian Endeavor Field Secretary in India will be the speaker at the Friday evening service. Rev. Abbey is spending a furlough in America in preparation for returning to India to resume his duties there. The Christian Endeavor Societies of Lancaster County have been contributing to the support of the work which has been in his charge for the past several years. Rev. Abbey will also assist in the conference periods on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday afternoon sessions will begin at 1:45 P. M., with separate convention programs for Juniors, Intermediates and Adults. Miss Mildred Brackbill of Paradise, will preside over the Junior Session and Clarence J. Nelson of New Holland will be in charge of the Adult Program. The Intermediate will meet in the nearby Brethren Church under the leadership of Mabel Lynch and Mary Smith, both of Lancaster.

Don't Make Beds Immediately During sleep there is an increased rate of breakdown of the fats in the surface of the body, and also considerable insensible perspiration which clings to the bedclothes, and which may penetrate the mattress. The bed needs a good airing for an hour or so each morning after it has been occupied, in order to keep it sweet. The first thing to do after getting out of bed is to throw the clothes completely off the mattress, and open the bedroom windows for a couple of hours. More fresh air is needed by the bed in the morning than by the sleeper the night before. The mattress needs a weekly bath in the direct sunlight.

Acid and Oranges University of California scientists find that acid soils are essential for citrus trees. A long-continued satisfactory growth of orange trees was found to be unlikely in soils which are on the alkaline side. It has been pointed out by other scientists that the alkaline soil content is likely to increase with irrigation, some alkali settling out of the water as the latter evaporates. Iron sulphate, it is said, is now being used in place of aluminum sulphate for acidifying soils. The acidity of California soils has been proved to be higher than previously was believed—a cheering bit of news for our orange industry.
