

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

Well, the young folks sure got a tuff break during the blackout last Wednesday night. It was so dog-gone moonlight it was like sitting under a searchlight. It was moonlight during the first test blackout too. Why don't you guys give the kids a break and call one on some real dark night?

Here's one you might try figuring out in your spare time. I met a fellow from Kinderhook and I noticed a bulge in his pocket so I inquired: "What's that in your pocket?" And he replied: "Dynamite! I'm waiting for that fresh neighbor of mine to show up. Every time he meets me, he slaps me on the chest and breaks my pipe. Next time he does, he'll blow his hand off."—I wonder if that'll break the pipe.

Have you heard about the bald-headed man who used to stand before a mirror and declaim, "Toupee or not toupee, that is the question?"

Two small boys were lying in the grass down along the creek running with nature. Suddenly said: "What's the difference between a snake and a flea?" To which the other immediately replied: "A snake crawls on it's own back, but a flea's not so particular."

One upon a drunk lying on the sidewalk struggling to beat the heat. Hoping to be of some assistance I asked if he needed help. He answered: "No, thanks. I'll climb this wall alone if it takes me all night."—It probably did.

A gorgeous blonde was dating one of our local Lotharios (Jim). He was patiently waiting while she dressed and when she finally made her appearance she asked: "How do you like my new hat?" And Romeo absentmindedly answered: "Fine but you have a run in one."—He'll be a success in life 'cause he believes in starting at the bottom and working up.—Naughty, naughty!

Sometimes I wonder why people have heads, they use them so sparingly. For instance, a group at Sloan's were discussing religion when one girl asked: "Do you believe in Buddha?" And this was the answer: "Why, of course, but I think oleomargarine is just as good."—Can you beat it?

Domestic life was the current topic of discussion when a Marietta St. man remarked: "I am very careful; whenever I quarrel with my wife, I send the children for a walk."—We personally know that his children get plenty of exercise and look very healthy.

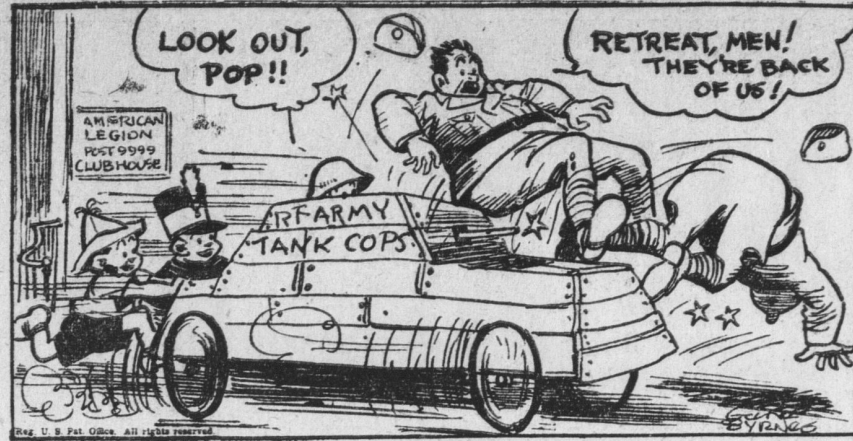

I'm gonna snoop down around the Grey Iron one of these dark nights and scare the dickens out of Heck Mumma, the new night watchman.—If any of you guys have any Orphan Annie comic books or Lone Ranger fannies, you ought to see he gets 'em so the night won't be so long.

That young man up at E'town who is sporting quite an array of bandages, cuts and bruises, explains that he acquired them when he tried to drive round a corner on his motorcycle—but there wasn't any corner.

Two slightly inebriated men met down at the Main and Barbara Street corner and the one asked: "Do you know what time it is?" And the other replied: "Yeah." S. the first one staggered away and said: "Thanks."—Doesn't make much sense, does it?

Mount Joy opened the scoring in the second inning when Zerpey singled. Robert Perzel singled and Zerpey scored on a bad relay from the outfield.

Zerpey brought in the second run in the fourth frame by singling, being sacrificed to second by Raver Miller, stole third and came home on a wild pitch.

The final Mount Joy run came in the fifth when Jack Breneman reached second base on an over-throw at first, was sacrificed to third by Richard Brown, and marked when Marshall Gemberling fled to the outfield.

transformed herself into a fair resemblance of a ghost. She went into the bedroom where her hubby was sleeping off a "gag," shook him and stood there. He murmured: "Wash that?" Wife, in a sepulchral voice answered: "This is the devil." And the toper turned over and said: "Shake hands, old horse; I married your sister."

Now that June is here and you boys get marriage conscience, the thing to remember about feathering your nest is that first you must get a little down.

The surprise blackout on Wednesday night was a benefit to some people, especially the young ladies in Florin who belong to the First Aid. We have been told that one young lady did a little sparring with one of the soldier boys who was home on Furlough. What an item band of his evil ways, and with the aid of a sheet and a flashlight

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

This Holding Company Act, one of the "reforms" stirred up and put on the law books by our Potomac Revellers as just what the doctor ordered to cure everything was well named. Holding Company Act—nothing could describe it better. It has been a 4-wheel brake. It has gummed up and held back progress and effort. It has even discouraged the guy who was not affected at all—he might be the next customer for the chopping block.

You don't take your off-spring, who has maybe been too obstreperous, out behind the barn and shoot him dead. You take him out behind the barn and unlimber a strap. That is all you need—not a 6-shooter.

A half-baked biscuit or a half-baked law is in the same boat and there is only one relief—the ash can.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The giant four-motored Navy Patrol Bombers are the world's most powerful planes. They cost approximately $700,000 each. The Navy also has a lighter Bomber called the Scout Bomber which costs about $143,000 apiece.

The battle for Britain was almost lost because England had none of these giant four-motored planes with which to fight back. We need thousands of them and they are coming off the assembly lines in our production plants at a high rate of speed today. You can help buy these for your Navy by purchasing War Bonds and Stamps every pay day. Put at least ten percent into Bonds or Stamps and help your county go over its quota.
