What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.

These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstopable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. U. S. FARMER WARNED ON WAR BUYING

Bargains for Cash to Pre-avail After Emergency.

By H. C. M. CASE (Head of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois)

There will be plenty of bargains for those having the cash when the war emergency is over and farmers facing rising prices should keep this in mind.

As improvement costs increase it may be well to postpone some improvements until costs are lower and labor and materials are easier to obtain, rather than pay a high price now. In fact, future construction of this kind will help prevent a post-defense depression.

Farmers will be tempted to over-expand their operations and investments in response to high prices, but nothing is more important to the farmer than careful financial plans, especially to farmers burdened with mortgages and other financial obligations. Farmers free of indebtedness with money to invest may still make some wise investments but should avoid heavy new obligations.

The inflation of land values and of prices of other things farmers bought during the last war, is recalled, which later were paid for with farm products at greatly reduced prices. Many farmers lost title to their property because they were unable to meet their obligations.

Current low interest rates, which are not assured for a long time in the future, may lead some farmers to overpay for land. While low interest rates bring a lower annual payment, usually they have the influence of raising prices of land and other commodities bought. Hence the purchaser in the end has a much larger principal to pay.

A second inspection of the plant in September, 1941, according to Votaw, revealed Norris was continuing to violate the Federal Wage and Hour Law, and that employees were receiving from 10 to 18 cents an hour. Additional money found due employees was computed at $1015.96 for 11.

A third inspection was made in January, 1942, Votaw said, and again continued violations were found, with payments totaling $503.98 due eight employees being determined. The total amount as of January, 1942 amount to $2368.98 for 13 employees according to Votaw.

In order to avoid the ill effects of a post-war depression, farmers were advised to consider seven points: (1) Avoid land inflation by not purchasing at high prices; (2) avoid long term debts or obligations that fall due in large lump sums; (3) pay off current debts; (4) improve land to meet more easily post-war price levels; (5) provide better living conditions in the home; (6) create reserves by prepaying interest and principal on debts, as well as to provide good cash reserves; (7) postpone high-cost purchases until after the emergency, if possible.

Dairy Cow Requires Protein Supplement

Overfeeding farm grains to dairy cattle in the food production program in an attempt to supply sufficient protein and avoid the purchase of a high protein supplement is false economy, explains J. G. Cash, extension dairy specialist of the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

For example, a cow requiring 10 pounds of a 15 per cent protein mixture a day to meet her needs could get the same amount of protein from 15 pounds of a mixture of equal parts of corn and cob meal and ground oats, but the cost would be greater and the cow probably would not produce as well because of the lack of balance between the protein and carbohydrates.

A suitable mixture containing 15 per cent total protein could be made with 600 pounds of corn and cob meal, 400 pounds ground oats and 200 pounds soybean meal, at a cost of $1.47 a hundred pounds (figuring corn at 70 cents a bushel, oats at 45 cents a bushel and soybean meal at $2.50 a hundred pounds, and adding a grinding charge of 10 cents a hundred pounds for corn and oats). Ten pounds of this mixture would supply 1 1/2 pounds of protein and would cost 14.7 cents.

Around the Farm

Farm boys and girls are being encouraged to increase supplies of foods needed in this country by raising pigs, calves and chickens.

Oats, barley, wheat or rye grass pasture is so high in protein that very little protein feed is needed in the grain mixture for dairy cows.

Rubber tires will last longer if rubber-tired machines and implements are blocked up, when not in use, to keep the weight off the tires.

Butter may be successfully stored in sub-zero temperatures for six years, claim Cornell university scientists after taking butter from coolers where it had been stored for that period of time.

Milk production in this country must be expanded to an all-time high. With dairy production already at a high level and farm labor getting scarce, the job of boosting dairy production is a challenge to every farmer and farm leader in the dairy sections of the nation.

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT ACTION FILED AGAINST CIGARMAKER OF RED LION

Frederick V. Follmer, U. S. District Attorney, has asked the U. S. District Court here to hold Charles H. Norris, operator of a hand-rolled cigar factory at 733 West Broadway, Red Lion, in criminal contempt, alleging Norris has repeatedly violated a Federal court injunction issued October 29, 1940. The court has ordered Norris to show cause why he should not be held in contempt on October 19 at Scranton.

The injunction, according to the petition, alleges Norris has failed to obey a court order directing him to refrain from further violations of the Fair Labor Standard Act.

According to Ernest N. Votaw, regional attorney in the Philadelphia office of the Wage and Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, and inspection of the factory at Red Lion in the summer of 1940 revealed Norris had been paying employees from 12 to 16 an hour. The Division determined $849.04 due to six employees as back wages and overtime compensation, but when Norris told the court he was without funds, no order was entered for payment of the amount.

A second inspection of the plant in September, 1941, according to Votaw, revealed Norris was continuing to violate the Federal Wage and Hour Law, and that employees were receiving from 10 to 18 cents an hour. Additional money found due employees was computed at $1015.96 for 11.

A third inspection was made in January, 1942, Votaw said, and again continued violations were found, with payments totaling $503.98 due eight employees being determined. The total amount as of January, 1942 amount to $2368.98 for 13 employees according to Votaw.

This Time It Is the Fish That Got the Bird

OTTAWA, CAN.—Usually it's the bird who catches the fish, but banded birds turn up in strange places. The recovery of a full-grown ring-billed gull from the gullet of a large fish caught off the southern coast of Rhode Island this summer ranks among the most unusual items recorded by the department of mines and resources.

RATE EACH COW TO VALUE HERD

Animal Must Be Checked For Replacements.

By W. T. CRANDALL (Professor of Animal Husbandry, Cornell University.)

Every dairyman should know just how good each of his cows is; lack of knowledge makes for waste in feeding and poor judgment in selecting herd replacements.

The use of milk scales every day for every cow will show the farmer the true value of his cows over a period of months.

With knowledge of daily production, the farmer can vary a cow's ration to meet her needs, and thus avoid any waste of costly concentrates. Often the man who feeds is not the man who does the milking, and the only way he can feed properly is to study the daily production record of each cow.

By feeding grain carefully to each cow according to her needs, it may be possible to increase the total herd production, even though considerably less total grain is fed.

In some herds, where several men do the milking, a daily production chart usually stimulates the men to do a more thorough job of milking. It becomes, in a way, a measure of their efforts.

Check the milk scales periodically for accuracy, and make sure they are hung in enough light to be read easily. Put the daily production chart near the scales, and see that it is kept clean and easily read.

Farm Electrification Still Relatively Low

Although under the government program rural electrification in this country has made striking progress in recent years, the number of farms using electrified agricultural equipment has remained relatively low, according to the department of commerce.

It is estimated that at the present time more than 2,000,000 farms, or approximately 35 per cent of the country's total, have access to electric current. The proportion of farms served by electricity is highest in the northeastern and extreme western states and lowest in the southern and Great Plains states. In Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and California, five out of every six farm homes are now electrically lighted.

A recent survey of families served by Rural Electrification administration systems in 33 states showed that 89.7 per cent had radio receiving sets; 65.3 per cent had irons, 55 per cent washing machines, 41.8 per cent electric refrigerators, and 21 per cent vacuum cleaners. On the other hand, only 18.4 per cent reported electric water pumps, 16.5 per cent utility farm motors, 10.5 per cent poultry lighting, 8.2 per cent cream separators, and 1.1 per cent milk coolers.

The results of this nation-wide survey, are significant of the potential market, not only for household appliances but more particularly for electrical farm equipment.

U. S. Silk Production Has Many Barriers

The current shortage of silk brings to mind the fact that Cortez imported silkworms and mulberry seed into Mexico back in 1522. Nothing much came of that. Attempts have been made to start a silk industry in the United States since the days of the first settlers. The U. S. department of agriculture carried on experiments in silk production for some years but discontinued them in 1908 when the venture failed to show promise.

Brazil has had some success in producing silk but even there the production is far below domestic needs.

The main barriers to silk production in the United States are the large amount of hand labor required in caring for silkworms and the expense of the reeling process by which the cocoons are unwound and the strands blended to form threads.

Increased use of cotton and of the silk substitutes, such as rayon and nylon, are expected to take the place of silk in the domestic field. So far no substitute has been satisfactory for parachutes and powder bags for large caliber guns.

Rat Racketeers

Rats are real racketeers on farms, in the opinion of T. H. Parks, extension specialist, Ohio State university, who says these rodents cost the average farmer $40 annually in damage done besides being a carrier of diseases.

Community campaigns to rid premises of rats are most effective because the rodents travel from farm to farm. Poison baits can be prepared cheaper per unit in large quantities than in smaller amounts.
