

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

Did you folks see the speed race on Main St., last Thursday noon? No? That's too bad. It really was a super-duper. And it happened like this—

"Bill," our Linotype operator, was riding downtown on his bicycle just newly equipped with a motor when our office devil, Dick Mumper, came riding downtown on a bike, sans motor. Dick challenged Bill to a race to the office and they were off in a burst of speed, but in no time at all Dick with his foot power had outdistanced Bill and his motor and just to add insult to injury Dick finished the race without his hands on the handle bars.

We had the world's worst quip pitchers at the Springs recently. And just so you'll be warned I'll tell you who they were. None other than "Unc" and Johnny Miller. They pitch every place but in the boxes and make very few or no points at all in a game.—Phoey!

It's amazing what auto engineers have done to make driving easier.—In 1940 no running boards; in 1941 no gear shift and now in 1942 no car.

A Barbara St. hubby could not understand why their electric bill had increased so tremendously the last two months, and no one in the family could give any reason for it either. Then one day he did not go to work because he was feeling ill and it was very hot and when he went to the kitchen for some ice cubes the puzzle was solved.—It seems the new cook understood she could leave the refrigerator door open, and air-condition the whole first floor.

We know a telephone operator from E'town who dropped fifty dollars at the Maryland races on the last day because she picked the wrong plug.

You guys better enjoy walking while you can because if they take all our tires off the cars it won't be no time at all 'til they'll jack up the pedestrians and take away their rubber heels.

One of our Fersh Air children was out at the playground when several town children started to ask her questions. The first one was the inevitable, "Who are you?" And the child answered: "I don't know who I am. I was left on a doorstep." And a little cut suggested: "Maybe you're a bottle of milk."—Cute?

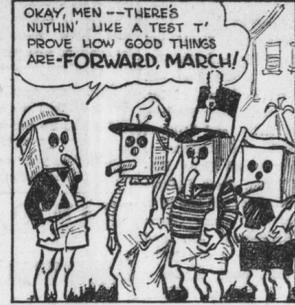

Then there's the little five year old boy on Donegal street who gathered his toy cannon, cap pistols, rubber knives and machine guns and barricaded the foot of the stairs just before his bedtime. When his Dad saw the artillery he asked him the reason and this was the reply: "I'm waiting for the Japanese sandman they sing about."

Then there was the poor but proud family who had a pedigreed wolf at their door.

A rural youth from Conoy Twp. was asking a Rapho father for his daughter's hand but pa was a little hesitant in saying yes, until the youth happened to mention that he had a tractor with new rubber tires and the deal was cinched.

Speaking of rural folks reminds me of a most amusing incident that happened last week. I was at a farm near town when someone called the lady of the house on the phone, a party line. They exchanged bits of gossip for about twenty minutes and then just before she hung up my host said: "Well, that'll be all for this evening, so long everybody, and thanks for listening."—I'll bet there

ROBERT ZINK, OF TOWN ADVANCES IN NET PLAY

Philadelphia—Frank Willett, of Anniston, Ala., runnerup for the U. S. Interscholastic title, led the way to the semi-finals of the Pennsylvania State Junior Tennis Championship tournament Monday.

Robert Zink, Mt. Joy; Morty Stern, Philadelphia; Bob Betson, Lansdowne; Charles Clark, Springfield; Larry Cahall, University of North Carolina; and Frank Haus, Harrisburg, gained the quarter-finals.

Zink won from Ward Chamberlain, Upper Darby, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. Zink was eliminated Tuesday when he was defeated by Cahall, 6-3, 6-2.

There were some awful red ears on that line.—Shame on you.

Special War Bulletin

It is officially announced that the Japs have taken Sal Hapatica. That the U. S. War Bulletin admits it, but doubts their ability to hold it. A late dispatch states that the strain on the rear is tremendous. The U. S. has caught them on the run several times trying to evacuate the lines. Several flank movements have been undertaken while the action at twenty minutes and then just before she hung up my host said: "Well, that'll be all for this evening, so long everybody, and thanks for listening."—I'll bet there

Legion & Aux. Will Collect Scrap Records

The national Organization of the American Legion, together with the American Legion Auxiliary, has agreed to undertake the collection of 37,500,000 old music records throughout the nation.

This scrap record campaign will be handled by "Records for Our Fighting Men," a not-for-profit corporation.

On July 20, the collection will start in each community, for a short and intensive period of two weeks, with the gathering of these records scheduled to end on August 2. Both whole and broken records will be accepted.

It is expected that this two weeks' scrap collection campaign will produce sufficient funds to make possible 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 new records for the men in our fighting forces all over the world for the next eighteen months.

Will you please cooperate with the American Legion, Walter S. Ebersole Post 185, and the American Legion Auxiliary in the collection of these records. The time and places of collection will be published later. Or you may bring your whole and broken records to the American Legion Home, on Marietta street.

LIMITED MOTOR VACATION O. K. AUTO CLUB ADVISES

Limited use of the automobile for a vacation trip is neither unpatriotic nor inconsistent with the government's conservation program, according to a statement received by the Lancaster Automobile Club from A. A. A. national headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The statement, which has the okay of the Office of Defense Transportation, points out that vacations are recognized by Government officials as important to the health, welfare and efficiency of the American public during the all-out war effort.

"Since rubber saving is vitally important," the statement says, "motorists should consider use of some other means of transportation, but if going by car offers the most practical and economical mean of transportation its use on a limited vacation trip is not inconsistent with the Federal program."

"Motorists should select objectives reasonably near home. They should drive at moderate speeds. The share-your-car plan should be extended to vacation travel whenever possible."

"The Office of Defense Transportation feels that all personal, recreational, social and pleasure driving should be limited to 1,200 miles a year. Accordingly, in order to make even a short vacation trip, motorists should try to save in their day-to-day driving to build a mileage surplus for vacation use."

"By following these principles, motorists can feel free to plan a highway vacation journey safe in the knowledge they are not running counter to the nation's conservation program in the interest of the war effort."

BETTY DERR WON

In the annual Fort Hunter tennis tournament at Harrisburg, Monday No. 2 seeded, Miss Betty Derr, of this place, rallied in each set to defeat Mrs. Marian Hunter, of New Cumberland 6-4, 6-4.

At Fort Hunter yesterday Miss Betty Derr defeated Mrs. Marian Thayer, Harrisburg, 6-3, 6-1 in the women's quarter final play.

To prevent barn fires caused by spontaneous combustion, farmers should be careful to have hay well cured before storing, remind Penn State agricultural engineers.

GAME OF SOFT BALL ON BURROS AT ETOWN

Drollery and roguishness in their eyes and veritable volts of electricity in their punny little backs and legs. A pack of Burros will come to E'town to take many of the prominent men of E'town for wild rides in a game of soft ball to be played under gigantic flood lights at E'town Park Field Thursday, July 23rd, 8:30 P. M. under the sponsorship of the Lion's Club.

Dignity will be both figuratively and literally unscathed and the confines of the field are sure to boom throughout the night's fun with unstrained laughter as the local riders are dumped unceremoniously in the base-paths, taken on wild, will-nilly jaunts all over the diamond and tussle with their roguish little mounts.

The local riders in this novel roundup of riotous fun will include: picked men from our four local soft ball league teams.

As an added attraction the newly organized Moose Drum and Bugle Corps will be on hand for a half hour performance starting at 7:30 P. M.

Three gate prizes will also be awarded to holders of lucky tickets. Drawings to be made before the game.

Winners must be present to receive prizes.

Tickets on sale now. Secure them from any Boy Scout or Lion. Admission Adults 30 cents, Children 15 cents Tax Inc.

Remember the date, Thursday July 23rd 8:30 P. M. Get your tickets now.

Benefit of local activities in the event of rain game will be played on a later date to be announced.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

The folks who took a chance with Edison and put up the dough—they played a long shot. But like it happens about once in 2 lifetimes, a long shot finished, and they didn't go home in a barrel.

If it had not been for these folks we wouldn't have electric lights today. But now, since we do have them, we all stand by, while our own Govt. slaps down the very folks who took the chance.

She don't look right and fair to see the U. S. pouncing upon its own citizens and taking over the business, now that it is a success. It certainly is nothing for Uncle Samuel to be proud of. Most countries in Europe own their electric business, and telephones, etc. Who wants to be in Europe? If I had money in the electric business I would hire a glee club and a good brass band and tour the country. I'd have the glee club sing "You gotta quit kickin' our dog around." When the public once knows the truth, the voting will do the trick. We are on thin ice—we are circling around too close to Socialism in more places than one.

DEALERS WELL STOCKED FOR HUNTING THIS FALL

Washington—If America's Nimrods can find time to go hunting this fall, then find some way of getting some place to hunt, they won't have to worry about ammunition for their rifles and shotguns, government sources predicted.

Despite War Production Board orders which stopped manufacture of sporting ammunition May 31, these officials, who preferred not to be quoted by name, explained that dealers and most hunters have heavy stocks on hand and would not feel the pinch this season.

During the last war, sales of hunting licences increased, it was recalled. Transportation difficulties under present and future restrictions may have an effect on sales this fall and next, however.

KEEP RANGE SANITARY

Moving the range shelters and other equipment will prevent contamination in any one spot and safeguard the poultry flock health, say Penn State poultry specialists.
