The State At War

Hundreds of wounded Pennsylvania soldiers, now completing periods of convalescence in the great military general hospitals at Valley Forge and Butler, are to be sent back into civilian life and given employment in private industry, according to reports reaching the Pennsylvania Historical Commission.

At Valley Forge General Hospital, the United States Employment Service set up a branch office to handle the many cases to be discharged from that institution. A similar office has been in operation at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital, and more than 200 wounded veterans have been placed in jobs since last March. In the Altoona district, 150 wounded and honorably discharged soldiers currently are seeking suitable employment.

It was revealed that Ensign John C. Bush, Kingston, led the first wave into Sicily; that Pennsylvania fliers spearheaded the dramatic attack on the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania, and that additional hundreds of State soldiers have been thrown into the battle for Sicily. Staff Sergeant F. B. Kozak, Carbonale, a waist gunner on the Phossti-bound Liberators, ran up a high score of three ME-109's destroyed during the daring run.

Back home, the WAVES observed their first anniversary with a gigantic celebration in Philadelphia, featuring a 500-pound cake in the shape of a battleship—Fifty-six Altoonians have been killed in action or died of wounds—Colonel Richard K. Mellon, Pittsburgh, took over the direction of State Selective Service—The Enola railroad marshalling yards handled a record number of cars during July—546,343, or more than at any other time during the past five years—The Sun Shipbuilding Company at Chester launched the 39th ship of the year, and is now averaging better than six a month — Frankford Arsenal, Bridesburg, began a gradual reduction of personnel, replacing highly-skilled ordinance workers in civil industry plants—It was reported that 16,000 workers in the Philadelphia area will have to be re-employed before the end of the year, as wartime special construction work slowed down—Mrs. Dan J. Freidrich, Sharon, has six sons in service — Former Pennsylvania "bootleg" miners are now digging coal in Alaska, to fuel a vital military railroad.

Japanese are said to like spinach so much they use it as a dessert. Local children will tell you that is what is wrong with the Japanese situation.

CARE FOR BERRY PATCH
Old canes should be removed from the raspberry planting, a shallow cultivation given, a cover crop sown, and 200 pounds or more of super phosphate an acre applied, remind Penn State fruit specialists.

They say Mussolini isn't himself and we'd act like we were somebody else if we were in his shoes, to try and fool the Allies.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The biggest field gun in the Army. That's the 240-mm. howitzer. It's twenty-feet of barrel and must be pulled into position by tractors. After it is rolled into place, its own wheels are removed and the Big Bertha is set upon its emplacement ready to fire at its target some twenty miles away.

The cost of these huge guns runs into thousands of dollars but we can assure the Army of obtaining them by our purchases of War Bonds. Ten percent or more of your income is necessary. The easiest way is to join the Payroll Savings Plan at your office or factory. Let's "Top that ten percent."

How The Japs Planned Attack On Alaska

Instead of hunting gold as he was supposed to do, the "ambassador" from Japan drew maps of Alaska and kept his Emperor supplied with detailed information for an attack on the United States. Read this revealing story in the August 22nd issue of

AMERICAN HEROES
BY LEFF

Captain Anthony Hollub manned the top turret guns of his grounded plane to return the fire of the Jap air attack on Clark Field in the Philippines. Exposed to strafing planes, the New Mexico captain ran across the field for more ammunition when it was exhausted. He was ready to sacrifice his life to keep his guns blazing. How much can you invest in Payroll Savings to help heroic fighters like Hollub to keep firing?
