Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Let Wheels Save Work IN THE fast moving pace of things today it seems that everything is on wheels. Many people are even living in houses built on wheels.

The farmer can save himself a lot of hard work by putting wheels on various chores. For instance, why lug silage in a tub when you can make one trip with a cart, easier and quicker? Backaches from shoveling the silage can be eliminated too—build the cart so it can be rolled under the chute to be filled. And instead of making separate trips to cows with grain and supplement, just mix the feed in the cart and do the whole job in one round trip. Many a mile of walking each year can be eliminated in this simple way.

Almost every farm has some spare wheels around that have been taken off worn out equipment. Using these and a little lumber and asbestos cement board, an excellent cart can be built which will give many years of service.

The body is built of rough, scrap lumber; then lined with asbestos board to provide a smooth, tight inner surface which will prevent leakage and can be cleaned easily, while also having the advantage of being impervious to rot and rodents.

Peacetime Power Goes To War Upon Land, Sea and Air Fronts

While much of General Motors' huge war production consists of military products in the making of which it had no previous experience—airplanes, tanks, aerial torpedoes, guns and aircraft cannons, shells and shell cases, amphibious vehicles, etc.—yet the motive power developed by this company in peacetime is rendering great service on land, at sea and in the air in this most mobile of all wars. Among the peacetime items of motive power that General Motors has sent to war are:

A Diesel power unit going into one of the famed M-4 tanks.

GM builds the "Duck," a many-purpose amphibious vehicle.

Besides, there are the Allison aviation engines which, though never produced for peacetime civilian use, were in the experimental and development stages for quite a few years before Pearl Harbor or the war in Europe. These liquid-cooled engines are powering improved versions of U. S. Army fighter planes.

On land—Diesel engines for tanks, tractors and military locomotives.

Truck engines for all kinds of trucks, including those used for field kitchens, ambulances, mobile repair shops and transport vehicles. Automobile engines for tanks and howitzer motor carriages.

At sea—Diesel engines for landing craft and many other naval vessels such as submarines, submarine mother ships, subschasers, destroyer escorts, towboats, mine-layers, mine-sweepers and fleet tenders. Also for naval auxiliary power.

Elizabethtown Youth

licemen P. R. Schappert and P. P. Oreszko, the youth first denied firing the barn on the farm tenanted by his father, but Saturday afternoon, police said, he admitted he did it last January 23.

Police said that Haldean, who has been held at the Rotary Home at Lancaster since the fire Thursday night, told them on the night of January 23, he walked out of the house, went to the barn and tossed a match into the haymow, starting a fire which completely destroyed the barn and an automobile that was stored in it. The flames also damaged the house near the barn.

The Eltroysie farm in which the barn burned at a loss of $15,000 is located on the Elizabethtown-Manheim road, about one and a half miles east of Elizabethtown, while the Gehr farm, where the boy lived with his father, is nearby.

A psychiatric examination will be given Haldean. The boy is being held pending completion of the examination and eventual disposition of the case in Juvenile Court.

Fire Marshall Robert Strahan, of the State police, said he took the boy to St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday when he became ill. Physicians said he is suffering from diabetes, and discharged him after treatment.

It is almost impossible to welcome whole-heartedly that week end guest who doesn't bring along his action book.
