Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Watch Your Roofs IT HAS been estimated that from 25 to 30 per cent of the nation's food supply is lost each year because of inadequate storage facilities. An important factor in preventing this loss of precious food is proper roofing. In winter or summer, the roof must bear the brunt of protecting crops from the elements. To do its job well, it must be in good repair. Farmers who have suffered crop damage because of leaky roofs should make repairs immediately. Defective roofs are likely to become progressively worse. Many minor flaws are liable to develop into serious trouble. Small areas of damage, of course, can be repaired more easily than large ones.

Sometimes an inspection of the roof will indicate that complete re-shingling is advisable. In such cases, care should be taken to see that the new roof is fireproof or fire-resistant material. One of the most practical of the fireproof materials, and one now available, is asbestos cement. Asbestos shingles are made of two durable minerals. They do not deteriorate with age, but instead become harder and tougher. No preservative treatment is ever needed, and there is no possibility of rotting, rusting or burning.

TO Benjamin Hostetter, his heirs and assigns or whoever may be the holder or holders of the mortgage hereinafter mentioned: Take Notice: That on June 29, 1944, Anna S. Eshleman presented a petition to the Court of Common Pleas of Lancaster County in which she set forth that she is the owner of a tract of land in Mount Joy Borough, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, containing 37-1/2 feet on the east side of New Haven Street and extending in depth of that width Eastwardly - 135 feet to a 15 feet wide public alley, and that the said land was encumbered by a mortgage on April 1, 1875 for Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars due April 1, 1876 with legal interest which mortgage remains unsatisfied. The said mortgage was recorded in Office of the Recorder of Deeds in and for Lancaster County in Mortgage Book 25, page 615 more than twenty-one (21) years having elapsed since the payment of the said mortgage became due, and that no payment on the said principal or interest has been made within the last twenty-one (21) years, nor has any demand been made for the same, and that satisfaction thereof is prayed for.

All parties interested in said mortgage are hereby notified to appear in this Court on August 18th, 1944 at 9:30 A. M. to answer this petition and show cause why the said mortgage shall not be satisfied. John H. Pfeningner Sheriff ARNOLD & BRICKER, Atty's. 7:13 4t

Artificial Breeding

(From page 1) as compared with 285, on January 1st. Likewise the total number of cows signed up has increased from 3509 to 5590 in the same period.

2650 cows were bred through this service in the first six months, which includes 1689 Holsteins and 970 Guernseys. Many of the best Dairy Bulls are vicious and for this reason are slaughtered before their true value is found. There has been over 600 reported attacks by such bulls alone in Penna. since 1926 and 225 persons were killed as the results. There is no such thing as a safe Bull.

The barn of the Breeding Cooperative is equipped to handle such Bulls with the greatest degree of safety, by the use of safety equipment and fences, and proper methods of control.

Likewise when a Sire is proven it is possible to increase the number of calves to 1000 or more in a year, while using him only once in a week, by Artificial Breeding. One service produces sufficient Semen to breed 30 to 50 cows.

There is an increasing interest in Artificial Breeding in Penna. as there is four cooperatives in operation and a number being organized by Penna. State College.

Mr. Earl L. Groff of Strasburg is president of the local Breeding Cooperative, B. G. Bushong, Columbia, is the Secretary and Lloyd Nolt, Silver Springs is treasurer. William F. Schaefer, Jr. is Manager, the veterinarian is Dr. R. L. Gutzwiller and David Yoder and Wilbur Dettler are Inseminating Technicians.

Lancaster will speak to the congregation. 7:30 p. m. Evening Vespers on the Church lawn. Tuesday 7:45 p. m., Young Peoples' Society meets in the Church Wednesday 7:30 p. m. Prayer Meeting.

CONFUCIUS SAY EVEN ELEPHANT FORGET MAN WHO NEVER ADVERTISE

Artificially Bred Stock Often Better

Plan to Restore European Herds Postwar Europe's barnyard babies may never get to see their fathers.

Test-tube livestock breeding may, in fact, solve the problem of quickly rebuilding depleted herds and flocks in the war-devastated regions, according to a report issued this week by the American Foundation for Animal Health. This method of livestock breeding which was first developed on a broad scale in Russia, has already been used extensively in this country. To Europe it offers the advantage of avoiding the delays and transportation difficulties which would be involved in shipping breeding animals from this country to the reclaimed battle areas. Instead, male germ cells of various species of farm animals could be collected in this country, flown by fast planes to Europe, and used to fertilize cows, mares, and ewes of the devastated countries.

Experiments by American veterinarians have shown that male germ cells for breeding purposes can be kept active and potent for as long as 130 hours in transit, at a temperature of 40 degrees. In this form enough for breeding thousands of farm animals could be flown to Europe in a single plane. Already Widely Used. This practice of artificial insemination is already widely used in the United States. In many areas, groups of dairy farmers have banded together and formed cooperative organizations acquiring the use of high quality bulls and the services of trained veterinarians, the latter supervising the breeding animals and doing the inseminating. In this way, hundreds of herds in an area are able to utilize a proven sire of a type which would be beyond the financial reach of the average farmer.

Carefully kept records of various artificial breeding associations show that this "test tube" method may be actually more efficient than natural methods, producing a higher percentage of conceptions. Also, it has been shown that some of the test-tube heifers become better milk producers than their mothers.

Just how practical this application may be to postwar Europe's needs is indicated by the fact that a cow in Argentina was recently bred to a bull in Maryland, by the test-tube method.

Cleanliness around the separator is essential.

Deep Tillage Drains Off Swamps and Water Holes "Water holes and temporary ponds on many farms can be drained by deep tillage practices, which includes the heavy application of lime on the surface or in the subsoil," advises C. M. Nissley of Rutgers U. "This makes conditions favorable for deep-rooted crops which help to open up the soil."

The practice would not be applicable to fields where the surface soil is underlaid with three or more feet of clay, however. Because of this, Nissley suggests that a hole three feet deep or deeper be dug in order to find out the character of the soil formation before remedial measures are put into practice. He also suggests that the county agricultural agent be consulted for additional advice on deep tillage practices.
