WISE OWI

And now before another column rolls around it'll be May Day. I've been seeing a lot of window cards reading "May Hop". Yeah, you may hop if you're able, but who the heck's able?

Lem Swarr told me he had an Jrishman on his road crew, who on these warm days hung his coat or a fence post. Some of the gang painted the head of a mule on it When it came time to guit, the Ir ishman looked at the coat a minute Barnhart 161 121 179 451 and asked: "Which one of you boys wiped your face on my coat? - --- That held 'em.

A certain very big lady from our midst always occupied two seats when she went to a movie or publi e. perfarmance. Recently she went to he the Forum at Harrisburg to a con ert and handed the usher two re served-seat stubs. "Someone with you" he inquired. "No, I'm going to occupy both seats," the lady exclaimed. "I'm sorry, lady, but you can't do that," the usher insisted Quite irritated the lady exclaimed "I'd like to know why I can't do it. I bought the seats and I'm going to use them or know the reason why and if you raise any further objection I'm going to see the manager. 'Well," said the usher in dismay "You can try it if you want to, but you see the seats are on opposite sides of the aisle."----Was her face red?

They tell this one about a family back in the Welsh mountain hill A dreafful explosion had cause the death of a native and a witness to the catastrophe was delegated to break the sad news to the widow He found her, a tall gaunt woman squatting before a shanty eating pigs knuckles. While she ate he explained all the harrowing details of the death. The old lady kept o eating and finally, through a mout full of meat, said: "Well, strange: when I git through picking this pig knuckle, you'll hear some bawlin 'round here what is bawlin." -- - Alright, alright so it wasn A GI on furlough took his ga
