He was awakened out of a sound sleep by the shoe factory whistle, where he works. He jumped up, hurried like mad to dress so as not to be late for work, ran downstairs quick and glancing at the clock saw it was 12 o'clock noon. He stopped dead in his tracks, for the whistle that woke him was the Saturday noon quitting time whistle instead of the 7 a.m. starting blow.

I never could understand why they house soldiers in those little tents when they've been on the march all day, so I asked an exserviceman and he explained "tha when a soldier is dog-tired, h sleeps better in a pup tent."---Its quite simple when you thin about it.
