

"IS IT GOOD FRIDAY?"

They call this Good Friday. I wonder why? When in my heart is an aching cry. When I, the scene again review Knowing what Jesus passed through.

Hear the clanking of the sword As they lead away our Lord. Stripped of His earthly gown Upon His head a cruel crown.

As He goes staggering down the street In the terrible dust and heat. Where are His friends? We hear men say Did they all leave Him and go their way?

When He needed them most of all The weight of Cross causing Him to fall. Not one was there to give Him aid. No doubt frightened and afraid.

As they nailed Him to the tree There to die for you and me. From His wounded side there came. Blood and water, what a shame.

That for us He had to die It should cause each heart to cry We will follow thee close, Lord to-day Help us never from Thee to stray.

In these days of lust for power Many are forsaking Him every hour. Thru the World and all its dross Again are nailing Him to the Cross.

Are we guilty, You and I? As "It is finished" We hear Him cry Can He on His followers depend, And His truth and name defend.

(Mrs.) Iona Kemmerly Arndt

JOSEPH W. YODER WILL PRESENT LECTURE ON "ROSANNA OF THE AMISH"

Mr. Joseph W. Yoder of Huntingdon, Pa., will present his lecture on "Rosanna of the Amish" in the East Donegal Twp. High School auditorium in Maytown, Friday evening, April 4, at 7:30 p.m.

"Rosanna of the Amish" written by Mr. Yoder, has received wide acclaim, having had four printings. It is regarded as the only authentic book on the social, religious and stern economic practice of the Amish.

His book, "Amische Leeder," is the Hymn Music of these quaint people, passed from ear to ear for 250 years and never before written. It is the oldest Christian Hymn music in the world. Mr. Yoder is a song leader and will render a few solos during his lecture.

Mr. Yoder is a guest of the Youth Fellowship Organization of the Brethren in Christ Church.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Someone advises that constant brushing of teeth wears them out, which is what a lot of youngsters have been trying to tell their parents for a long time.
