He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clayton L. Nissley.

Joseph S. Henderson
 Joseph S. Henderson, seventy-nine, Maytown, died at 1:05 p.m. Thursday at his home after a year's illness. Born in Maytown, he was a son of the late Jacob and

Eliza Myers Henderson and was a retired cigar maker. He is survived by these children: Claude B. Henderson, Elizabethtown; Joseph C. Henderson, Maytown; and Miss Grace A. Henderson, at home. Three grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Katie Sload, Maytown; Mrs. Elmer Schlegelmilch and Edward Henderson, both of Florin; Jacob Henderson, Harrisburg; and George Henderson, Waymart, Pa. Private funeral services were held from his late home Sunday afternoon with interment in the Maytown Union cemetery.

Clayton A. Spahr
 Clayton A. Spahr, seventy-three, Salunga, died Tuesday at 12:30 a.m. at the home of his son, Roy M. Spahr, Landisville, of a complication of diseases after an illness of four months.

A son of the late Adam W. and Catherine Gerber Spahr, he was a retired farmer and former cattle dealer, and was a member of the Landisville Church of God. Surviving are four children, Mrs. Bertie M. Kitner, Roy M., both of Landisville; Clayton M., Union, N. J.; and Russell M., Salunga; also two sisters, Mrs. Ross Long, Hummelstown; and Mrs. Harry Jones, Union Deposit.

The funeral was held this afternoon in the Landisville Church of God with interment in the Salunga Mennonite cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Shaeffer
 Mrs. Elizabeth H. Shaeffer, ninety-one, widow of Monroe B. Shaeffer, died at 7 a.m. Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar B. Newcomer, Salunga, after an illness of one week. She was a daughter of the late Christian and Elizabeth Hershey Shoemaker and was a member of Kraybill Mennonite Church. For many years the family resided on the present Jos. Breneman farm, one-fourth mile north of town. She is survived by the following children: Harry S., Florin; Christian S., Salunga; Pauline, wife of Oscar Newcomer, with whom she resided; and William S., Kathryn, wife of Samuel Hershey, and Leroy S., all of this place. Seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held from the home of Oscar B. Newcomer, at Salunga, Sunday afternoon with interment in the Mount Joy cemetery.

Boyd R. Bishop, Sr.
 Boyd R. Bishop, Sr., 62, of 14 Hummel Ave., Camp Hill, died Tuesday night in the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg, following an operation.

Mr. Bishop was a resident of this borough for many years. He conducted a shoe store and repair shop on West Main St., and during the last several years had a shoe repair shop on East Main St., which he sold less than a year ago.

He was a member of the Lemoyne Church of Christ and the Sunday School and was an employee of the Department of Property and Supplies at the state capitol.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Irene L. Bishop, of Camp Hill; a daughter, Mrs. John Strickler, of town; three sons, Boyd R. Jr., of Harrisburg; Donald E., of Columbia; Harry T., at home; five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Musselman Funeral Home, 324 Hummel Ave., Lemoyne, with the Rev. William A. Reid, pastor of the Lemoyne Church of Christ, officiating. Interment in the Middletown cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening after 7 p.m.

CALVES ON EXHIBIT
 Most of the 1800 4-H Dairy Club calves being reared on more than 1,000 Pennsylvania farms will be appearing in show rings at five different points in the State where district roundups have been arranged. The first will be at Tunkhannock on August 26 and 27 for the whole Northeast Pennsylvania section, according to Allen L. Baker, State club leader of the Pennsylvania State College.

THIS ONE BACK FIRED
 Coatesville police are searching for tricksters who substituted "loaded dice" in a dice game at a fair held by the Coatesville American Legion on Saturday night, resulting in a loss of $345 for the Legion before someone discovered something was wrong.

HERE ARE A FEW SPEED DEMONSTRATIONS OF TODAY
 Seven B-29 Superfortresses with 160 persons aboard, flew from Tokyo, Japan to Washington, D. C., a distance of 7,000 miles, non-stop in 31 hours and 24 minutes. A Jet fighter flew from Miami, Fla. to Andrews Field, 970 miles in 2 hours and one minute, averaging 480 miles an hour.

There will be no professional foot ball team in the league for Lancaster this Fall. It's franchise was given to Scranton.

WNU Features
 NIAN KENNEDY peered through the muslin curtains, looking anxiously down the street. There wasn't a sign of Lester coming yet, and she didn't know whether she was relieved or sorry.

After all, she was doing something very unorthodox, asking Professor Lester Thompson to call. What would he think? Regularly twice a month for two years, he had asked her to the movies, and those were red letter days highlighting the dullness of these past lonely years—10 of them—of school teaching.

She had merely said, when she had passed him in the hall of their school, that she had a peculiar problem, and could he—would he—that is, did he think he could call around this evening at about 8 o'clock, and give her some advice?

From her window Nan caught sight of Lester walking, with his usual dignified stride, through the gateway, and flew downstairs to intercept him, before her fellow lodgers came out of their rooms to peer at him, and, later, behind their closed doors, conjecture. She nervously convulsed him upstairs.

"Lester," she said determinedly, "do you ever read the personal columns of the paper?"
 "Sometimes. Why, Nan?"
 "Well, I came across an advertisement I thought I would answer. But I wanted your advice, first."

"Advertisement? Are you a long-lost relative? By all means, an-

Lester was a fairly youthful edition of the proverbial absent-minded aloof professor.

He thrust a newspaper under his nose. He took it, rustled it into proper folds and read aloud: "Middle-aged man of means would like to meet respectable lady, 30-40, for companionship and ultimately marriage, if suitable. No triflers."

Lester jumped to his feet. "Nan!" he exclaimed. "Do look out; don't do it; he might be anything. You never know. It might be a racket."

"But, Lester, he might be sincere. It probably isn't a dignified way to get married—"

"I don't know what to say," Lester said, running his fingers through his hair. "Maybe you'd better take the chance."

Nan said nothing. Lester looked up suddenly. "How about Parker? That widower who is always taking you out? I thought you two, well, maybe—"

"Mr. Parker," said Nan firmly, "is a catch. There is also a catch to his proposal. Yes, he's an eligible widower, Lester, but he has four children. He likes me all right, but a wife is a lot less expensive than hiring a housekeeper. I've been too busy earning my own and my family's living for years, and now when I find time to have beaux, there just aren't any. What do I do?"

"That's almost like my predicament," Lester said thoughtfully. "Only I suppose it is different for a man, socially, that is. But I have supported and still do, quite a few elderly relatives. If I didn't and if they didn't live with me, their old age pensions wouldn't be enough—you get the idea?"

She nodded in sympathy. "I'm telling you all this," he said, glaring at her, "so you'll know why I can't propose."

"You," she breathed.
 "Yes, me," he said belligerently. "Why not?" He got to his feet; she got to hers, and, without any further effort, they were in one another's arms. Finally she pushed him back, still breathless, and laughing. "Why, Lester," she said, "that was wonderful!"

"Let's try it again?" said Lester, and did.
 Presently Nan said, "You know, I'll bet you put that ad in the paper yourself!"

"It was a good idea," said Lester, "but not mine."
 "Can we afford to marry?" said Nan.
 "Of course," said Lester, blissfully. "We will, anyway."

Nan didn't protest at the reversal of his arguments; it was wonderful what one kiss would do—one kiss, and one inexpensive ad and a little courage, and a great deal of luck, it was worth everything she had put into it.
