

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

I see where a fellow out west swapped his wife on a 1937 model automobile. That's pretty tough but then I know of a very wimmin that in my estimation ain't worth even a worn out spare tire.

A fellow from Florin came down town the other day with a lip so large it nearly hung down over his chin. I asked him what the deuce happened and he said that when he got up that morning he put his false teeth in his mouth upside-down and he bit himself.

Its a dern good thing that liars' contest down in Texas is over. A fellow said that one would have tied the "fly on the eight ball" that fell off and broke its back.

I don't know where the weeks go to! Seems like I just struggled through this column yesterday, and here it is time for this weeks.

Course I could fill it with Farm Show stuff and who I saw there and what they were doing, but since some of the fellows make that a good excuse to get out of work and away from the Missus for a day, I guess I won't give them away. After all, it only happens once a year.

They tell me a Manheim man suggested to his wife that they go to Florida for the winter, when she said: "I'm afraid the weather down there would disagree with me." And her hubby exclaimed: "My dear, it wouldn't dare."

There's a fellow in the east end who was always complaining to the lady who laundered his wash that his shorts were missing. She couldn't understand where they were getting to, but last week she found the answer. He lost two pair on the way to her house when he was taking the wash up.

"For goodness sake," scolded the angry wife, after having asked her husband for the fifth Sunday to accompany her to church. "The neighbors will soon be talking about us as they did about our poor departed neighbors. The only time they went out together was when the gas stove exploded."

A Barbara St. hubby thought he had the solution to his financial problem, but it didn't work out. He gave his wife a personal allowance, but she spends it before he can borrow it back, so it's all off.

You're all acquainted with the custom of placing certain phrases on ribbons attached to funeral pieces, such as "At Rest" and "Too Soon." Now someone has suggested a new one, "Not soon enough."

A first grader displayed a shiny new pen knife to his Dad with the explanation: "I found it in the street." Just a bit skeptical, his dad inquired: "Are you sure it was lost?" And the boy hastily answered: "Of course it was lost! I saw the man looking for it!"

Dropped in on some friends this morning and was having a cup of coffee when the four year old daughter came tearfully into the kitchen and complained: "Mommie, you said I'm to dress myself, but how can I button my dress when the button is in the back and I'm in the front?" — A most perplexing problem!

Kids can be awful confusing as Toots Mater can vouch. A little fellow took his Dad's big leather boots in to be repaired and asked: "What do you fix boots with mister?" Toots answered: "Hide." The boy asked: "What?" And Toots replied: "I said hide." The boy asked, somewhat surprised: "What for?" And Toots, getting impatient, said: "Hide. The cow's outside." And the boy said defiantly: "Don't

BEST PAID PLAYER

Last season Bobby Feller, of the Cleveland Indians, was the highest paid ball player of all time. He received $87,000 of which Uncle Sam's slice was $52,000 leaving a measly $35,000 for Bobby.

case if it is. Who's afraid of a cow, anyway?"

Here's a recipe that came out of a very fuddled kitchen. See if you don't think it's different—

How To Make Fat Nudge: 2 butterspoons of taibler, 2 cups s'annulated grugar, 3 coppers of crinn, these or hopp of the tottle, 2 chalks of squakolet, 2 spabel-tunes s'orn keerup, 1 hup of kelled shuts.

Shook the kugar, the chick, the mawkolet and the sorn keerup until the mawkolet chells.

Stoil without burring to 224 de-beeze of greet.

Then dairfully creep a little of the mott hixture into a wawt of cold copper. If little hawft sawls form in the cuttum of the hopp, the dudge is fun. Remove the hann from the peat, bad the utter, let canned until stoel and fladd the avoring. Speat with a boon until gick and thooey nopp in the drutz, empty into a battered pun and squark in mairs.

You may marsh ad-mallows if you have a particularly teet swooth. Serves a gruzzen doan-ups or two bean-age toys.

REG'LAR FELLERS

THE LOW DOWN

HICKORY GROVE

We been told for years that to have the land flow with milk and honey, Uncle Samuel should be the Big Cheese, run everything — turn the lights on and off — say how many acres of potatoes to plant — what size lunch at the school house — what day to eat chicken or not to eat chicken. And now, down on Main Street you will need a fine tooth comb to find a happy soul. It has not worked, this idea of Uncle Samba being the last word from the maternity ward to the mortician. And partner, it has been expensive.

Folks who have been kinda half-way misled by the glib talk, they should scratch their dome and decide if they have maybe been took-in.

This country is not gonna burn down like Rome burned down, right away, anyway, due to riotous living, mismanagement or whatever it is, but we need to dust off our vest — maybe repent — and be saved, maybe. It is time to let business go ahead — with the brakes off. Young and old have got to get over the notion that Samba can smooch their path — and they need never perspire again. The Govt. has no income, except taxes — and we furnish them. Uncle Sam is okay and alright in his place — he just wasn't cut out for business.

Yours with the low down, JIMMY
