

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

I saw a chap from Donegal Springs that was certainly sore. He told me how he flew off the handle — while cranking the tractor.

He also told me one about his neighbor. One morning while he was blowing his coffee it made his wife sea sick.

William Roadarmel, twenty-nine, East Petersburg, suffered an attack of appendicitis while at Middletown and was conveyed to the Lancaster General Hospital.

I met an old friend yesterday and was amazed to see he is extremely bald. When I asked: "How did you lose your hair?" He answered: "Worry." And when I queried: "What did you worry about?" He explained: "Losing my hair." — How about that?

When our foreman got a raise, he passed out cigars.

When our stenographer got a raise, she passed out candy.

But when the office boy got a raise, he passed out — period.

When a newspaper erringly referred to a poet as "the pot of the evening", the poet, upon seeing the item snorted: "they must have thought it was a recital of chamber music."

But just to show you how mistakes will happen — a weekly paper (and it wasn't ours) was threatened with a lawsuit when it referred to two learned gentlemen as "bibulous old flies" instead of "bibliophiles". Next week the contrite editor prepared an apology in which he intimated that the "learned gentlemen are too fastidious." But the compositor rendered it: "The learned gentlemen are too fastidious." — If our linotype operators ever play a trick like that on us, we're sunk.

A psychiatrist finished his notes and turned to the lady from our locale. "I'll be perfectly frank," he said. "I find nothing the matter — nothing abnormal — and I shall inform your relatives." "Thank you, doctor," the lady replied. "I was sure you'd say that. I only came here to please my family. After all, there's nothing very strange about a fondness for pancakes, is there?" "Pancakes?" repeated the psychiatrist. "Certainly not. I'm fond of them myself." "Are you?" she queried brightly. "Then you must come over to my house. I have trunks full of them."

When a Junior chemistry student was asked to "give the most important fact about nitrates", he said: "They're cheaper than the day rates." — Well, he's right.

And going to the grade school we come upon the pupil who was asked: "Which month has twenty-eight days in it?" And without hesitating, he answered: "They all have."

Now just one more and I'll let the kids alone. A school psychologist was putting a young girl through a series of tests to determine her intellectual fitness. "Now first," said the psychologist, "are you a boy or a girl?" "A boy," said the girl promptly. "Well," said the psychologist, taken by surprise, "that's interesting. And what are you going to be when you grow up?" "A father," the girl answered. "But, darling," interrupted her mother, "you know better than that. Why do you say such things to the doctor?" And in all seriousness, the girl exclaimed: "Because if he's going to ask silly questions, I'm going to give silly answers." — Can you blame her?

"Life," according to our local cynic, "is a protracted disease contacted at birth; an everlasting struggle to keep money coming in and teeth and hair from falling out."

REG'AR FELLERS

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

Well folks, now that this committee of Congress has made a sort of good start on rootin' out the ones in Movieland who won't say if they are, or are not, against the U. S. A. system, they can move over now, and next, to our universities.

The head folks makin' the gallopin' tin-types, they seem pleased with the investigation — they are proceeding to weed out the cheery and left-handed birds who had wormed their way into important spots. The head folks are showing their heart is in the right place — once they know who is the culprit. I give 'em 3 cheers.

And now the universities. The university presidents should call in their faculty members — one by one — and say, buddy look me in the eye, are you teachin' anything over there in your room that gives your boys and girls an idea that they are in for the worst of it, as long as we have our present kind of democracy? And don't let 'em evade the question — pin 'em down — and if you catch one of them, later on, talking up some spasm or ism kind of left-handed nonsense over at a lunch or book review club, call him in again and ask him how-come.

And concluding my essay, college presidents who do not call in their professors, then the Trustees should call in the Presidents.

THEY JUST CAN'T STOP THAT JUNIOR HIGH TEAM

To date nothing in Section 1 of the County Junior High League has been able to stop that Mount Joy aggregation. Those lads, with McCue leading the way scoring 17 points, went on to win their seventh in a row Friday nite. This time it was Manheim Boro that took it on the chin 34 to 21.

Week's Best Recipe

Mincemeat Cream Pie:

1 package prepared vanilla pudding, 2 c milk, 1 T rum, 3-4 c mincemeat, 1 baked 8-inch pie shell or graham cracker crust. Place pudding in saucepan, Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened, about five minutes. Cool, stirring occasionally. Add rum and mix well. Spread mincemeat in bottom of pie shell. Cover with pudding and chill.

About The House

Sparks falling on flammable wooden roofs stand third among the principal causes of home fires — Ribbons sewed to the corners of quilts can be tied to bed posts to anchor the quilt — To prevent table linen from becoming wrinkled in storing, after ironing fold once over and then roll on tube of newspaper — Leather or leatherette seats of furniture will stay clean longer if occasionally waxed.

Carmel Corn

1 c white sugar, 1-2 c white corn syrup, 2 T sorghum, 1-2 c water, 1-2 t vinegar, 2 qts. popped corn. Combine all ingredients except corn. Cook until syrup becomes brittle when tested in cold water. Pour over popped corn, stirring corn while pouring. Turn onto buttered platter.

Looking Ahead

A number of women resolve to start making Christmas gifts at the beginning of the New Year. There is plenty of time to go in for delicate, dainty handwork. Consider applique flowers on organdy and then making the organdy an inset in linen guest towels. Much can be done to beautify bridge table covers as using applique borders around the top of grapes and vines of ivy. Use a light green faille for the card table cover and applique the ivy in a dark green, for a beautiful effect. Use a satin, padded card cover and then quilt it in attractive motifs.

ORCHARD MAY NEED LIME

No orchard fertilizer practice is complete or adequate, says John U. To determine lime requirements, he suggests soil tests. These can be made at the office of the county agricultural agent.
