—BY— A WISE OWL

Don't expect too much from this column this week because it's too near the 15th and all I can concentrate on is my early morning date with a nice big trout. --Oh Boy!

One of our firehouse Casanova's says: "A lady is a woman who makes it easy for a man to be a gentleman."

Early to bed,
And early to rise,
And you'll make enough cash,
To do otherwise.
—Says who?

"You are late again this morning. Don't you have an alarm clock?"--The boss asked our office devil.

"Yes, sir, but it went off while I was asleep." Jimmie answered.

"Humanity seems to be divided into three classes," our laundryman exclaimed, "the wet-washed, the rough dried, and the completely finished."

Heard a young fellow tell a pal his girl friend from E-town has innocence that takes years to acquire.

A committee is a group that keeps minutes and wastes hours.

Life is first half ruined by our parents and second half ruined by our children.

"I call my girl friend Furnace," announced Bob.

"Why?" asked Joe
"She goes out on me if I don't watch her," explained Bob.

A school teacher writes in to buzz me that she has read my stuff for years. But I use too many that's.

That brings me up with a round turn like a country hair cut. That's something to think about.

I have always tried to avoid the repetitions in the sentence, "It is not that that I object to."

The double thatter is as awkward as a left footed dance instructor. It's something like putting both your arms through one coat sleeve.

Then if you get to nudging up the subject you lump into the multiple or triple thatter. And I don't mean Gerty Steinling the details like the that that that is a that.

An Iowa corn grower was sightseeing down around the Welsh Mts. when he met a native and asked: "Do you folks around here have much trouble with insects getting in your corn?"
"We sure do, but we jest fishes them out and drinks it anyhow," said the native.

His father: "Young man you say my daughter has consented to marry you. That makes you the second happiest man in the world."

"Darling, your waist is the smallest I have ever seen."--a Beau Brommel said.
"Of corset is," she agreed.

Our advise column received this question: My husband gave his secretary a mink coat. What's she got that I haven't got??
Our answer was: A mink coat.

"I know a man who could pick any lock anywhere in the world," a Frosh exclaimed.
"I know one he can't pick," a classmate said.
"Yeah Where is that?" asked the Frosh.
"The third lock on the Panama Canal," came the reply.

Celia: "I wouldn't chew gum if I were you. Don't you know gum is made out of horse's hoofs?"
Shelia: "Sure do. That's why I get

Seven Live Stock Poisoning Hazards

Seven livestock poisoning hazards, some of them especially critical during the spring seeding and pasture season, were listed today in a special warning bulletin from the American Foundation for Animal Health.

Valuable livestock may be lost, the organization declared, unless farmers are careful to protect their stock against these dangers:

(1) Seed oats treated with mercury preparations to check rust and other fungus diseases. Mercury poisoning may result if an animal eats too much of this treated grain.

(2) Rat poisons. ANTU, '1080', thallium and even the relatively safe 'red squill' are toxic to farm animals and pets if sufficient amounts are consumed.

(3) Lead poisoning from fresh paint. Lead poisoning from fresh paint of flecks of old paint. Cattle, especially, are subject to this danger.

(4) Chemical weed killers. Now widely used, these should be checked to determine whether they contain substances poisonous to stock. If they do, they should be handled accordingly.

(5) Grasshopper poisons. Arsenic-treated bran is commonly used to control grasshoppers. It should not be sprinkled on pastures. Bags of poison bran should never be left where livestock may get at them.

(6) Hedges sprayed with lead arsenate to combat plant parasites.

(7) Highway surfacing oil. Heavy rains may wash dangerous amounts of oil off the roadway and into pastures and fields. Several cases of cattle poisoning from this cause have been reported.

If a suspected case of poisoning occurs, farmers were urged to call their veterinarian immediately. "Emetics and other treatments may save a poisoned animal's life," the Foundation declared. "A diagnosis may show that the trouble is caused, not by poisoning, but by some infectious disease."

LEGION AUXILIARY CARD PARTY, MAY 5

There were twenty-one members present at the monthly meeting of the W. S. Ebersole Post, American Legion Auxiliary on Tuesday night at the Legion Home when plans were discussed for the public card party on Wednesday, May 5th.

Mrs. Ruth Singer won the project prize.

Peppies were distributed to the members to be sold during the campaign.

The organization decided to order one hundred and fifty anniversary cards, the proceeds from same to be placed in the Legion fund.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN MET

The Mount Joy Sportsmen's Association held its 132nd monthly meeting April 12, with 28 members present. There were seven new members admitted which make a total of 524 members this year.

One hundred trees were planted on Lloyd Myer's farm, also 16 on Aaron Musser's and 340 on Elmer Millers'.

After the meeting Glenn Bickel showed movies of the Louis-Walcott fight.

SELECT SHRUBS WISELY

For complete satisfaction it is necessary to consider space, location and other factors in selecting planting materials for the home.

"I know a man who could pick any lock anywhere in the world," a Frosh exclaimed.
"I know one he can't pick," a classmate said.
"Yeah Where is that?" asked the Frosh.
"The third lock on the Panama Canal," came the reply.

Natural Colored Cloth

Production of fabrics from natural colored cotton in the USSR is to be steadily increased. Twenty-seven cotton textile and woolen mills are to weave cloth from this raw material, which was planted over considerably expanded areas in Soviet Central Asia in 1946. The harvest of raw colored cotton and processing of the fiber increased several times over 1945. Apart from the fact that the color of fabric produced from naturally tinted cotton is faster than those dyed by chemical processes, the cloth is more durable than that made from ordinary cotton.

Cleaning Walls Well

Ordinarily, plastered and papered walls and ceilings should be cleaned with a wall brush or a broom covered with a soft cloth, such as cotton flannel. Light overlapping strokes should be used; heavy strokes rub the dirt in. Cotton batting is good for cleaning places that soil more quickly than the rest, for example, the wall over stoves and fireplace mantel boards. The wall should be rubbed lightly with the cotton, which should be turned as it becomes soiled.

Farm Rubber Use

More than 100 million dollars worth of tractor tires and tubes—an all-time high—will be bought by American farmers this year. In addition, more than 34 per cent of the nation's trucks are used on farms. Among more notable uses of rubber on the farm, aside from tires, are milking machine inflations and tubes, electric brooder blankets and conveyor belts inside and outside barns.

Public Health

vide splints and appliances and transportation of patients wherever necessary.

State Nurses: There are four State nurses in Lancaster County whose duties are to conduct clinics in the hospitals for Venereal disease and Tuberculosis. Also they conduct baby clinics throughout the county teaching prevention and health education. They investigate sources of contamination in contagious disease epidemic and secure personnel and direct State program for physical examinations of school children.

School Nurses: Number 14 full time — 16 part time — Assist in doing physical and dental examinations on at least half of all the school children in Lancaster City and County every year. Also work with teachers and parents to keep the health of the school child at the highest level, and assist parents in arranging for correction of physical defects; inspect schools for unsanitary conditions, thereby providing a healthful environment in the school.

Visiting Nurse Association: Staff of 15 nurses who give professional nursing care in the homes on a visit basis. These nurses serve the citizens of the city and approximately three-fourths of the county giving general bedside nursing care to acutely and chronically ill patients. Also they treat surgical cases upon return from hospitals, care for the mother and new born baby in the homes, giving nursing care and instructions in cases of communicable disease and carry on a program of education and prevention for infants and young children.

CONTROL CORN BORER

Clean plowing is a great help in the control of the European corn borer. Wire attachments on the plow aid in pulling corn stalks and other refuse into the furrow where it can be covered by the turned soil.

The more new cars sold, the more popular the task of keeping the wolf from the garage doors.

Everybody reads newspapers but NOT everybody reads circular advertising in the Bulletin.
