

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

Did you know that during the war that the Germans named their battleships after jokes so the English wouldn't see them?

While it is true we couldn't choose our ancestors, it's very likely they wouldn't have chosen us, either.

"It says here that thousands of bacteria can live on the point of a pin."

"What a strange diet."

Two hearts may beat as one—but the mouths continue to eat separately.

You can lead a horse to water, But you cannot make him drink it; You can tell your wife you never flirt with any girls whatever, But you cannot make her think it.

Sign in Bennetts' restaurant; "If you want to put your ashes and cigarette butts in your cups and saucers, let the waitress know and she'll serve the coffee in the ash tray."—Not bad.

Due to the fact that most of the trout stories we received were so exaggerated, we won't even repeat them.

"How many studies are you carrying?" Mary asked Jim. "I am carrying one and dragging four."

"My wife came from a large family. Did yours?" asked a Newtown man of a nearby resident. And the latter answered: "No, she brought it with her."

Let me buzz you some intricate details. "Men are vainer than women.

High heels, corsets, silk stockings, perfume and beauty patches were all first used by men. Eye shadow, wigs and rouge tints were all first worn by men.

I'm glad to see the girls have discarded those funny wide shoulders they wore last year. It made them look like unrolled window shades.

You know, with garden work booming there is a lot of slacks without coats hiding the rear view, coming into view.

Now, slacks were mighty feisty during the war effort when most of the effort was trying to get into the slacks.

But we won the war. And there are a lot of ladies in town wearing slacks who shouldn't.

"Boog" Neiss got shot between the eyes the other night but he is not seriously injured. It was only with a water pistol.

Jim Jackson says he'll learn to say what he means from now on cause he took the boy, Neil, fishing last week and the lad kept annoying Jim so much that he finally said: "Go up under the bridge and fish." The boy never said a word and Jim left it go at that. Some time after that Jim looked up under the bridge and there was the boy standing in the middle of the stream, shoes and all!

Slacks are soprano trousers in which the hip pockets are full of hip.

They were first worn in factories so the gals wouldn't get their flounces caught in the egg beater. But after a lady weighs 200 pounds that safety idea gets lost in the chignon.

A lady in the vicinity of the upper bank woke up with her hat on last week. She hadn't taken it

HICKORY GROVE

You know, in this fair and young land it is kinda upsetting and not up to tradition or Hoyle to see our people being given anything but the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, by our leading gents in Govt. I got in mind how some of 'em are veering from the welfare of themselves — how they build up problems, then hurry in with their answers on how to fix it.

It is in Agriculture, and foreign affairs, and reclamation, and social fundididdles, day after day, And all these cooked up problems make jobs for thousands and thousands. And thousands and thousands of votes are not to be sneezed at. Take an item like flood control—it was not the whole truth—it was the "front" concealing electric power. Now they come out for steam plants at the foot of the dams—after the dams are in. If Congress keeps on being a sissy and dishes up the dinero, we will be in no different boat, from the way it is over there on the Volga.

Fooled the people — and the creepin in of foreign ideas—is something to put in our pipe and smoke on. By November we will maybe get alerted—and hep.

Yours with the low down,
JIMMY
